When King Blizzard Ruled

Buses and automobiles, stalled at fantastic angles, choked Michigan Boulevard, above, when Chicago was paralyzed by the winter's most furious blizzard and buried under 14.8 inches of snow. At Buffalo, N. Y., a horse was hauled by the tail from a manhole into which it tumbled during the storm, as shown below. These cities lay in the path of the big blow which covered a 700-mile front consisting of a large section of the midwest, the Great Lakes area, and New England.

Fines Levied In Gas Price Case

To serve as an example and a warning to other Orange county service station owners, fines of $20 on each of two counts were levied today in Anaheim justice court against M. M. Stewart, of Anaheim, for selling gasoline at prices other than those posted on his gasoline pumps.

That explanation was given by Deputy District Attorney Martell Thompson and J. M. Gardner, inspector for the state division of weights and measures, working through the office of D. W. Tubbs, Orange county sealer of weights and measures. Gardner was complaining witness against Stewart, whose station is located at 101 highway and Ball road.

Russell Pleads Guilty In Court

George W. Russell yesterday pleaded guilty to two counts of a criminal charge against him, and a third count, kidnapping, was thereupon dismissed in Superior Judge Franklin G. West's court. Russell, charged jointly with Joe and Lester Gaddis of taking Jack Baker and his car from Santa Ana to a point near Fullerton and robbing him of $3, last November 27, pleaded guilty to driving Baker's car without the owner's consent and to second-degree robbery. He applied for probation and will receive a hearing February 10.

Prominent GOP Leader Called

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Former Sen. Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, keynote speaker at the 1936 Republican convention, died at Walter Reed hospital today. He had been suffering from a lingering illness for two years and had entered the hospital yesterday.

Steiwer resigned from the senate January 31, 1938, and since that time had practiced law here and at Portland, Ore., his home. Mrs. Steiwer, a daughter, Mrs. Ralph T. McElvenny, and a son, Frederick Herbert Steiwer, were at the bedside when he died early today. The family said that although funeral plans had not been completed burial probably would be in Arlington national cemetery.

Tieup Threatens Los Angeles Port

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Another tieup of Los Angeles harbor was threatened today. A 30-day truce in a labor dispute involving cargo checkers expires at midnight, and no agreement has been reached.

The checkers' picket lines shut down the harbor Jan. 2 when employers refused their demands for a straight hourly wage and a greater spread of work among available checkers. Two days later the truce was negotiated by Mayor Fletcher Bowron's office. The Marine Clerks Association, which is the checkers' union, called a meeting for tonight to decide what action to take. It was announced that Harry Bridges, west coast CIO head, will attend.

BORAH BETTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—The condition of Senator William E. Borah, R., Idaho, was considerably improved today, his office reported. Borah is suffering from influenza.

Rainstorm Ends Threat Of Frost

SHOWERS DUE TO CONTINUE

A sweeping rainstorm that brought more than an inch of precipitation to Orange county early this morning washed out ranchers' apprehension of continued frost and eliminated the necessity of smudging. Starting shortly after 2 a. m. today, the rain in the vicinity of Santa Ana reached its height about 8 a. m. and brought .71 of an inch in an hour and a half. Total rain in the city for the past 24 hours was 1.36 inches, bringing the season total to 11.66 as compared with 4.71 inches last year this time.

Storm Continues

At 11:30 a. m. 1.37 inches of rain had fallen at Placentia bringing the season total to 11.34 inches and a steady downpour was adding more rain to the total. According to the official weather bureau forecast Southern California was expected to have cloudy weather with continued showers, particularly in the west and north portions. According to calculations of the county agricultural commissioner's office growers in the county can expect

ASSERTED SELLING OF TEXT BOOKS HIT

That complaint against the asserted practice of Fullerton junior college authorities in charging students for text books, which the state law requires shall be furnished free, it is claimed, reached the ears of the county grand jury yesterday, was indicated by a procession of witnesses that were seen entering and leaving the grand jury room. Among them was William Rainbolt, of Fullerton, who is reported to have protested vainly to Louis Plummer, head of the junior college faculty, and then to District Attorney George Holden. Unofficial reports said that Rainbolt received support for his position from both Holden and County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson. Adkinson was another of the witnesses before the grand jury yesterday.

Quiz Lambert

Appearance also before the grand jury of County Auditor W. T. Lambert recalled rumors that, in addition to the text book question, there was investigation of a report that students had been induced to purchase copies of a text book written by a Fullerton instructor, Lambert, it was said, was questioned as to whether the receipts from such sales had been turned over to the school fund.

What the grand jury may do about the Fullerton matter, also the affairs of former District Attorney W. F. Menton, remained clothed by grand jury secrecy. It was understood that the grand jury received a report on the Menton case yesterday.

Cupid Sets Mark For Romances

A 12-year record for volume of January marriages in Orange county was established by the month just closed, when 366 licenses were issued, according to records of County Clerk Basil J. Smith's license bureau. This is 54 greater than the total for January, 1936, and higher than any January total since 1927, the year in which the three-day marriage law sent impatient couples scampering across the state line to Tia Juana, Yuma, Las Vegas and Reno.

Injuries Fatal To Orange Man

Frank Paul, a former resident of Orange, passed away yesterday in Lindsey from injuries suffered in an automobile accident Wednesday night, according to word received by local relatives. Funeral services are expected to be held at Fairhaven cemetery at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Mr. Paul is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ethel Paul, and one son, Roscoe. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Baker of Santa Ana, relatives of Mr. Paul, are now in Lindsey.

Merriam's Aide Sought

BULLETIN
OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Dist. Atty. Ralph Hoyt today announced the Alameda county grand jury indicted Clarence (Chick) Leddy, pardoned San Jose slayer on a charge of perjury and that Leddy was taken into custody by police. The commutation of Leddy's life sentence to time served by ex-Gov. Frank F. Merriam precipitated the grand jury's investigation of alleged pardon sales and accusations that Mark Lee Megladdery Jr., Merriam's secretary, accepted $500 to influence the commutation.

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Alameda county's grand jury today indicted Clarence (Chick) Leddy, pardoned San Jose slayer on a charge of perjury and that Leddy was taken into custody by police.

FIREMEN TRAPPED BY FALLING WALLS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Rescue crews strove desperately today to reach eight firemen buried in the smoldering ruins of a four story warehouse, gutted by fire of an undetermined origin. Officials had abandoned all hope of finding any of the eight alive. Emergency crews pressed into action, used all available trucks to pull down remaining walls of the structure.

An attempt also was being made to tunnel into the ruins from an adjoining building.

Walls Crumble

The victims were identified by fire officials as Acting Chief Thomas Dugan, Lieutenants John Young, David Levine and Raymond Bauder, and Firemen John Egan, Frank Kerlin, James Diamond and Gregory Dixon. Three others were injured, two seriously. Those injured included William Moore, Warren Ostrander and Claydon Crandall. Moore and Ostrander were in hospitals.

Walls of the burning building began to crumble as 10 firemen were on the roof attempting to prevent the fire from spreading to the city's largest office building, which adjoins the warehouse.

Rescuers Trapped

Five of the firemen—Young, Levine, Egan, Diamond and Moore—were trapped first when the walls fell. They were buried in

Welfare Leader Raps Townsend

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Arthur L. Johnson, secretary of the General Welfare Federation of America, today challenged the "sincerity" of Townsend movement leaders at a house ways and means committee hearing on proposals for broadening the social security act. Johnson characterized "as pure fraud with malice aforethought" an alleged statement by Dr. Francis E. Townsend that his plan was "a wisp of straw that the cow will follow and never reach."

He said he had resigned a $450 a month job with the Townsend movement "because that statement led me to believe they were sincere."

Johnson supported a general welfare pension bill introduced by Rep. Harry Sheppard, D., Calif.

BLAME IRISH TERRORISTS FOR NEW LONDON BOMB OUTRAGES

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Parts of two subway stations in the heart of the west end were wrecked today, shop windows were smashed and several persons were injured by explosions which Scotland Yard attributed to time bombs. The explosions occurred at the phone booths were damaged. Two Leicester Square and Tottenham Court road subway stations, about half a mile apart at about 6 a. m.

SUIT FILED TO TEST LEGAL STATUS OF COUNTY COUNSEL

Precipitated by County Auditor W. T. Lambert's refusal to pay the salary involved, a court test of the legal status of James E. Walker as counsel for the county supervisors was instituted late yesterday by Walker, who petitioned superior court for an alternative writ of mandate against the auditor.

The court was asked to compel payment of Walker's salary demand for the month of January, amounting to $309.12. This sum does not represent the full monthly salary of the office, $325, because new terms of office did not begin until noon of January 2.

Friendly Action
Lambert and Walker arranged the court test as a friendly action, in order to definitely determine the legality of Walker's appointment by the board of supervisors last December 6.

Walker's petition was founded upon Section 4031.22 of the Political Code of California, which authorizes the supervisors to appoint a special assistant to the district attorney, not under the district attorney's jurisdiction, in counties that do not have a charter creating the office of county counsel.

Cites Duties
Walker's complaint recites that he was appointed to advise the supervisors, also all township and district officers. In addition he advises various other county officials, excepting the auditor, treasurer and school superintendent.

District Attorney George F. Holden will represent Auditor Lambert in the mandamus proceedings.

MRS. MOONEY SAYS TOM SEEKS DIVORCE; PLANS COURT FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Rena Mooney said today Tom Mooney wants to divorce her "but I won't let him after all the years I've fought to get him out of prison."

"I've spent the best years of my life for Tom," Mrs. Mooney said. "He can't discard me now. I'll go right into court and fight his efforts to the last ditch."

Mooney, in seclusion in a San Francisco hotel, refused to see reporters.

Branded Lie

Two weeks ago in Los Angeles he branded rumors of an impending separation as "lying statements by my enemies in an attempt to discredit me."

Mrs. Mooney said the only reason she revealed her husband's intention was because "somebody threatened to take me off relief now that Tom was out of prison and could support me."

"Tom hasn't given me a dime," she said. "Through all the years he was in San Quentin I supported myself giving music lessons. And every cent I could spare above bare necessities went for Tom—for the fight to get him out."

On Relief

Mrs. Mooney said she was now on relief—getting $85 a month as copyist for the federal music project.

"But it's still music," she said. "I love my job and my friends. I started giving music lessons when I was 15. I'm 61 now. My dream through the long years Tom

Crack Japanese Submarine Sinks

TOKYO, Feb. 3.—Japan's crack long range submarine I-63, capable of a cruise to the United States and return without refueling, lay at the bottom of the turbulent Bungo channel today, crippled in a collision with a sister submarine.

Thirty hours had passed without news from it, and hope for its crew of about 48 was almost given up.

Navy ships were nosing out from the great Kure navy base at dawn yesterday when the collision occurred in the deep, dangerous strait, between Shikoku and Kyushu islands at the southwestern end of the Japanese island group. The I-63 sank at once.

Police expressed belief that time bombs had been planted during the night in the cloak rooms and

Rome Attack On FDR Hit

ROME, Feb. 3.—(UP)—The United States embassy protested to the foreign office today against a violent campaign in the Italian press against President Roosevelt.

The Rome newspapers have been picturing the President as an "international agitator" who is trying to start a war against the totalitarian nations by joining up with Britain and France.

Today's outstanding attack was by Virginio Gayda, editor of the authoritative newspaper Giornale d'Italia.

"Personal Insults"
The protest was in the form of a note from United States Ambassador William Phillips to Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister. It was delivered to the foreign office this afternoon.

The note said that recent comments by Mr. Roosevelt discussed American foreign policy for nearly half an hour, criticizing particularly attacks which have been made upon administration intentions in Congress and in newspaper editorials.

His repudiation of reports that he had placed the nation's defensive frontier at the Rhine was directed at statements emanating from Congressmen who discussed

SHEPPARD BLASTED BY PENSION LEADER

Harry H. Sheppard, congressman from this district, today was accused of taking unfair advantage of Townsendites in hearings of the rules committee by Olis J. Bouma, representative of the Townsend pension plan, according to a United Press dispatch from Washington to The Register.

Sheppard charged before the committee yesterday that Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the pension movement, dangled a promise of $200 a month before the nation's aged even though Townsend legislation did not mention that figure.

Bouma characterized Sheppard's statement as "an absolute untruth" and said "no authorized Townsend speaker has been permitted to talk $200 a month, and the Townsend Weekly, our publication, has stated that our bill promised no fixed amount—that the '$200' was only a maximum or ceiling."

Bouma described Sheppard's group "a paper organization, because it could not recruit its membership from organized Townsend clubs." He said Sheppard split with Dr. Townsend when the California congressman "tried to form an old age pension organization for political purposes only."

The general welfare organization proposes monthly payments of $60 to all over 60 years of age. The committee will hear more witnesses on proposals to amend the Social Security act, including those made by the Social Security board and President Roosevelt for expansion of the present set-up to cover millions of workers now excluded.

Texas Governor Called Inhuman
AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, whose campaign platform was the "Golden Rule," was denounced by legislators, ministers and newspapers today for having postponed the execution of a negro so that he might suffer 30 more days.

O'Daniel's reprieved Winzell Williams, whose execution previously had been set for today, because he wanted him to "stare death in the face" 30 days more as additional punishment for killing his former employer, an elderly white dairyman.

Rep. J. E. Winfree, chairman of the committee on penal institutions, arose in the house and denounced the governor's statement as "the most heinous, the foulest and the most inhuman to emanate from a man in this state during the last two decades."

Royal Family Awaits New Heir

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Princess Juliana, heir to the throne, is expecting another baby during the middle of August, it was announced today.

If a boy, the baby would become second heir to the throne, in place of Princess Beatrix, who was born Jan. 31, 1938.

He would be the first royal boy in three generations. Queen Wilhelmina succeeded as a girl of 10 years to the throne of her father, King William III, in 1890. She married Prince Henry of Mecklenburg. Their only child was Juliana. Juliana married Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld Jan. 7, 1937.

Radio Strike Threat Averted

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(UP)—A threatened strike by radio stars of the major networks was averted today by the signing of a new two year contract by the American Federation of Radio Artists and the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System.

The agreement was reached last night at a conference of union representatives and of sponsors for commercial network programs. It affected actors, singers and announcers on commercial programs.

U. S. FOREIGN POLICY TOLD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today branded as "a deliberate lie" a report that he had placed America's new defense frontier on the Rhine.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking to more than 100 newspaper reporters who crowded his office, presented a statement of the administration's foreign policy in answer to a flurry of Congressional criticism which has arisen in the last week.

No Entanglements
Here is the United States' policy as stated by Mr. Roosevelt. 1. No entangling alliances. 2. Encouragement of world trade of all nations, including the United States. 3. Sympathy with any and every effort to bring about reduction in armaments. 4. National sympathy with the peaceful maintenance of political, economic and social independence of all nations of the world.

Answers Critics
Mr. Roosevelt discussed American foreign policy for nearly half an hour, criticizing particularly attacks which have been made upon administration intentions in Congress and in newspaper editorials.

His repudiation of reports that he had placed the nation's defensive frontier at the Rhine was directed at statements emanating from Congressmen who discussed

CHAMBERLAIN SEEKS NEW PEACE PARLEY

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has decided to approach Adolf Hitler through diplomatic channels to see whether he is willing to implement the pacific statements he made in his Reichstag speech Monday, it was understood today.

If the proposed diplomatic exchanges revealed a genuine desire by German leaders to open more formal negotiations, it was said in well informed quarters, Chamberlain would be ready to propose to Hitler a joint British-German declaration of the desirability of beginning general European peace talks in which France and Italy would also take part.

Discuss Colonies
It was understood that the cabinet, at a special meeting yesterday, agreed to this program. Any peace talks would naturally include Italy's claims against France to satisfy Benito Mussolini's undefined "aspirations" in the Mediterranean, and this would be a victory for him in that he would have the voices of Chamberlain and Hitler to urge a pacific settlement.

At such a conference also, Hitler would be able for the first time to make his formal claim for return to Germany's colonies.

Stipulation
But there was a most important qualification for any general peace talk: The British government is not willing to discuss Germany's colonial claims except as part of a German settlement which would include an agreement for limitation of armaments if not for actual disarmament.

Further, there will be no let up in the British armament program until there is assurance of a general agreement.

France Cautious
In addition, France would be expected to be most cautious in entering any general conference, as having everything to lose and nothing to gain unless it assures her of lasting peace on honorable terms—and because her leaders would be afraid that the result might be another "Munich conference."

Prison Hunger Strike Near End

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Feb. 3.—(UP)—The hunger strike of San Quentin convicts appeared virtually ended today when all but 133 of the prison's 5266 inmates relented to the lure of a square meal and trooped into the mess hall for breakfast.

A cell by cell checkup disclosed more than 2360 prisoners changed their minds about turning down the prison fare today. Yesterday 2500 refused to eat on grounds the food was "monotonous." They complained against "too much corned beef hash."

The 133 prisoners who chose to stretch their foodless protest to three days have not eaten a full meal at a dining table since Wednesday breakfast.

Realtor Challenges 30 Million Budget; Hits School Expansion

More than 150 realtors from all parts of Southern California last night heard Hayden Jones of Los Angeles, past president of the California Real Estate Association, challenge $30,000,000 in expenditures in the proposed state biennial budget, at an installation of officers of the 12th district of the state association.

"While it is impossible for one man to give careful study to the state budget I am convinced that there is no necessity for the $20,000,000 increase requested for state departments," Jones said. "And I am sure that another $10,000,000 could be pared from the budget by close economy."

Hits School Expense
Speaking of the proposal to turn all welfare and relief work over to the counties and let the state carry 75 per cent of the expense, Jones favored the move, while warning that "continued relief may do away with the incentive to succeed that has brought America and the western world to the high point it has reached."

In speaking of the proposed budget Jones said: "The time has come when the present growth of public school enterprise does not warrant that growth at the ever-increasing expense of the taxpayer."

State Association
J. Mortimer Clark, state real estate commissioner, administered the oath of office to the officers of the realty boards elected for 1939 and spoke on the activity of his office during the last year. Glenn S. Willaman, state secretary, gave a report of the activity of the state association and stressed measures that had been accomplished in the state legislature.

George Parker, president of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, made the address of welcome to the visiting realtors and Ray Goodcell, president of the Santa Ana Realty board, hosts for the occasion, was in charge of the meeting. Roy Peacock, of Laguna Beach, vice president of the state association and head of the 12th district, was master-of-ceremonies. Other speakers who were presented were Senator Harry Westover, and Marie J.

SHIPPING TO ALASKA HALTED BY STRIKE OF MATES, PILOTS

SEATTLE, Feb. 3.—(UP)—A strike of mates and pilots for higher wages and better working conditions today halted all American shipping to Alaska.

Steamship lines paid off sailors, who voted sympathy with the masters, mates and pilots union.

Although they were on strike captains did not leave their ships because they are custodians of the vessels and agents for the owners.

Cite Demands

The union asked $25 more per month for officers, a guarantee of 11 months work every year and individual staterooms.

The Northland Transportation company's S. S. North Coast, which had been posted to sail at 10 a. m., was the first ship affected by the tieup, which went into effect two hours before sailing time.

Face Tieup

The Alaska Steamship Co. and the Alaska Transportation Co. also canceled all sailings. When ships come in from the north they will be unloaded and then tied up.

The Alaska Steamship Co. closed its yard and laid off 300 men. The masters, mates and pilots union voted not to picket. If the tie-up lasts any length of time, mail will probably be sent to Vancouver, B. C., shipped to Juneau on Canadian boats and then carried to other Alaska ports by coast guard cutters.

U. S. BUYS GOLD OF LOYALISTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(UP)—The United States government has purchased approximately $10,000,000 worth of silver from the Spanish Loyalist government, it was revealed today. Purchased last year, the transactions were disclosed by suits of the Spanish Insurgent government seeking to recover the metal.

The department of justice revealed, after the fact had been published in a newspaper, that four suits have been filed against United States government agencies and the steamship line which brought the silver consignments to New York from Barcelona.

Illegal Purchase
The Bank of Spain, in whose name the insurgents sued, claims that the silver was purchased illegally, contending that the Loyalist government did not have the right to sell silver to any outside power while a civil war was in progress because the metal had been mined in actual or potential Nationalist territory.

Justice department officials contend that the transactions were between two sovereign governments—the United States still recognizes only the Loyalist government—and that neither an individual nor a third group could question their legality.

The suits involve four shipments of silver from Barcelona between May 30 and Sept. 30, 1938. It was understood that a fifth shipment was en route here now.

Seek Dismissal
The U. S. district court in New York set March 24 for hearings. The defendants are the Federal Reserve Bank, the United States steamship line, and Sigmund Solomon, chief of the U. S. assay office, who is being sued on two counts. All will be defended by the department of justice, although the federal reserve board has retained an attorney in New York, who will aid the department.

The justice department will ask the court to dismiss the claims on the grounds that the legality of the transactions cannot be questioned. Failing in that, it will offer evidence to establish that the Loyalist government had valid title to the silver at the time it was purchased.

City, County News In Brief

Announcement was made today by B. R. Manker, Smart and Final official, that Miss Eleanor Fochtman, daughter of Mrs. John Fochtman, 412 North Claudia street, Anaheim, had been awarded first prize of $25 in a statewide contest conducted by the Red and White grocery stores. County Residents To Get Jobs As Result Of WPA Adjustments

A large number of Orange county men and women will get jobs as a result of the order received by Herbert C. Legg, Southern California administrator, to add approximately 5000 to the WPA rolls, it was understood today. The number of Orange county residents to get jobs was scheduled to be decided at Los Angeles headquarters this afternoon.

Some 300 men and women have been laid off WPA projects in Orange county in the past few months. The unexpected orders to increase the number of WPA workers came as a result of efforts to adjust federal work relief and place the Southland on a par with other western regions with regard to need and population, it was stated.

On Sewing Projects
The increase in WPA jobs will mean the return to work of 1000 women on sewing projects. A number of Orange county women dropped from payrolls here recently may be rehired, it is reported.

The new orders will increase the WPA monthly payroll in Southern California to $3,330,000. Average wage will be $66 per month.

According to Legg's office, 80 per cent of those who win new jobs will be men in top physical condition.

REBELS BLAST WAY THROUGH LOYALISTS

PERPIGNAN, French-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 3.—(UP)—Spanish Nationalist shock troops, driving tirelessly through Northern Catalonia, were reported to be within five miles of the new main Loyalist defense line in the coastal sector today.

The Nationalists announced the capture of Massanes de La Selva, Sils, Vidreres and Lloret de Mar in the coastal area.

Near Main Line
Thus they had advanced both along the coast and along the Barcelona-Gerona highway in that area. They were but 14 miles south of Gerona, on the highway, and they were approaching the main Loyalist defense line which was reported to be based on San Feliu de Guixoles, on the coast, and to extend northward through the Santa Coloma de Farnes region.

On the Barcelona-Vich-Puigcerda highway the Nationalists had made slight advances after taking Vich.

To the west, they took the important town of Berga, on the Llobregat river, commanding the entire Llobregat valley.

Desperate
At the extreme northwest of Loyalist Catalonia territory, the Loyalist position at the important city of Seo de Urgel, a few miles from the Andorra frontier, the Loyalist position was desperate. New war material reached the Loyalists. But strong Nationalist forces had now started to drive a wedge between Seo de Urgel and Puigcerda, the important railroad terminal on the Spanish side of the frontier. Their success would force the Loyalists to retreat promptly, abandoning Seo de Urgel, or face annihilation.

The Loyalists had suffered heavy blows in the fall of Vich and then of Berga. The fall of Seo de Urgel would mean the loss within a short time of Puigcerda.

WARREN TO GO HOME
Chester A. Warren, vice president and manager of the Bank of America, of 2449 North Park boulevard, who underwent a serious mastoid operation recently is doing fine and probably will be able to leave St. Joseph hospital for home today.

FOUND IN ANOTHER'S CAR
Robert M. Grey, 57, Huntington Beach, assertedly found in another person's parked automobile at First and Broadway at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, was jailed by police on a drunk charge.

Strong Women Faint at 'Lynching'

San Francisco police cars and ambulances dashed to Golden Gate Park where three bodies lay on the grass and another swinging from a tree. The "lynch victim" proved a man of straw with a wax face resembling Adolf Hitler. Three women, seeing it, had fainted.

$11,000 Damage Award Granted

Injuries received by Deputy Sheriff Ezra Stanley in September, 1937, when a car in which he was riding with former Deputy Fred Swayze, crashed with a car driven by Nerland Tobin at Brookhurst road and Lincoln avenue, west of Anaheim, brought a damage award of $11,000 against Tobin in Superior Judge Franklin G. West's court yesterday.

Stanley had sued for $26,000. Attorney O. A. Jacobs, of Head, Wellington and Jacobs, represented him in court. Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy were counsel for Tobin.

BANK MAKES PURCHASE
The First National Bank in Santa Ana became purchaser of $23,000 in tax anticipation warrants of Laguna unified school district, when the county supervisors opened three bids on the issue yesterday. The bank's bid requires 1 1/2 per cent interest payments on the warrants. Other bids ranged up to 2 1/2 per cent. No premiums were offered.

NIECE IS SOLE HEIR
The late Alice E. Dorrance, who died January 28 at Nogales, Arizona, leaving an Orange-county estate valued at "less than $10,000," according to a petition filed today to probate her will, made her niece, Bessie Parker, of Nogales, her sole heir. This was revealed by her will, filed in superior court. The estate consists of real estate and notes.

TELLS OF LOTHARIO
A self-possessed 16-year-old Downey girl who came to police headquarters at 10 p. m. yesterday to report her Buena Park boy friend had started to make love to her against her wishes, asked for transportation home. "When he forced his attention upon me, I just got out and walked," she declared. Capt. and Mrs. R. S. Elliott escorted her to her home by automobile.

TRIO HELD IN CHECK PASSING

Three alleged fictitious check passers who have been wanted here are in custody of other city authorities today, according to report of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today.

Richard P. Hansen, 24, former cook at a local restaurant, was arrested by Los Angeles police yesterday on a similar charge. He assertedly passed a $31.40 check to the E. F. Gray Diamond shop, $15 check to Maroney's and $3 check to the Montgomery Ward store. A warrant, asking that he be held for Santa Ana, was sent to Los Angeles today by Chief Howard.

Arrested in L. B.
A "hold" order also was sent to Los Angeles, to county jail there, asking that Donald Charles Evans, 19, formerly active here, according to allegations, be held there. He was arrested in Long Beach in the asserted act of passing a fictitious check. He assertedly passed a $76 check at El Toro cafe, $25 check at the Joe Koons motorcycle shop, Orange; $25 check at Scottie's Malt shop, and $25 check at Jennie's cafe, here.

Receiving $2.40 to make good two checks passed by Luther Clendenen, 40, former resident of Orange and Santa Ana, Chief Howard asked City Judge J. G. Mitchell today to dismiss a petty theft case against Clendenen. Clendenen passed a $1 check at the Knox and Stout hardware store and $1.40 check at Thompson's market, Orange. Chief Howard declared it would be too expensive to bring Clendenen here for prosecution since the checks were made good. Clendenen now is serving a 60-day term in county jail at Madera, according to Sheriff W. O. Justice of Madera county.

U. S. Opens WPA Job Trade Trial

Charges that WPA jobs were traded for political purposes in New Mexico are being tried by the U. S. District Court in Albuquerque. Among the defendants are Mrs. J. A. Warner (left), wife of Albuquerque postmaster, and Mrs. Anita Tofoya, sister of U. S. Senator Chavez.

URGES PROPAGANDA TO AID 'PATRIOTS'

"What Is a Good Investment?" was the subject of a talk given by E. M. Sundquist last night at Daniger's when El Camino Toastmasters club met for dinner and speech competition. Sundquist won first, presenting a plea for a United States propaganda machine to combat that of other countries of the world, particularly dictator nations which are belittling democracies.

During the table topic discussion, members told of their hobbies, which included such diversified interests as raising and training polo ponies, wood carving, still and motion picture photography, hunting, gardening, gun collecting and stamp collecting. Several brought samples of their hobbies.

Others On Program
Other speakers in the competition included John Colwell, on "Poverty As a Cause of Crime;" Ralph Shellenbarger, "The Advantages of a College Education;" Reine Chew, "Our Overprivileged Children;" Dick MacBird, "Should the U. S. Fortify Guam?" Colwell, as vice president, presided in the absence of President Glenn Woolley. Glen Tidball, past president of El Camino and now member of the Century club, recounted the history of the Toastmasters movement. Arthur Powell was general critic assisted by Joe Daniger, Dr. J. M. Bulpitt, Dudley Morrison, Bill Fernandez, Duane Armstrong and Wynn Gordon.

CITY EMPLOYEES TO MAKE FUND STUDY

Feasibility of starting a death benefit fund for members of the Santa Ana City Employees association will be studied immediately by a committee selected last night at the meeting of the association at city hall.

The committee, named by President Gene Heiss, is composed of William "Bill" Garvin, chairman; Hugh Neighbour, Russell Steinmetz and Dale Griggs. The business meeting was followed by presentation of "Underground Raindrops," a motion picture showing the manufacture of pumping plants and handling of underground water supplies, and the manufacture of electric motors. Between 45 and 50 persons attended the meeting.

FINED IN COURT
Chester L. Curl, jr., Orange; Charles B. Palmer, Midway City, and Mrs. Edna E. Griffin, Santa Ana, were fined $6, $6 and $5, respectively, yesterday by City Judge J. G. Mitchell when they pleaded guilty to speeding charges.

BRIGGS RECOVERING
Frank A. Briggs, proprietor of the California Coffee shop, was reported to be doing nicely today at St. Joseph hospital where he was taken for treatment of a circulatory disorder.

W. N. THACKER, 72, CALLED BY DEATH

Willie N. Thacker, 72, of 1809 West Eighth street, passed away at his home today. He had lived in Santa Ana for the past 14 years. Mr. Thacker is survived by his widow, Mrs. Viola Thacker; four sons, Willard of Orange, and Lee, Paul and Manly, of Santa Ana, and two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Shane and Mrs. Nellie Vosburg of Santa Ana.

DRIVER IS JAILED

After a collision at Third and Bush streets yesterday when a car operated by Alex Walker, 309 North Spadra, Fullerton, was damaged on fender and running board while in collision with a car operated by Jack Riddle, 43, 1831 West Eighth, Riddle was jailed on a drunk driving charge. The complaint against Riddle, accused by a doctor of being "very drunk," was signed by Walker.

Farm Bureau Demands Halt In Misuse Of Franking Privileges

Directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau yesterday approved a resolution asking denial of the franking privilege to elective and appointive officials when the privilege is used to influence state, county or local elections.

The action was the outgrowth of a letter, signed "Take Up the Fanned Literature During the Last General Election by Midwestern members of congress to support franked literature during the last election was presented by the Garden Grove Farm center. It will be referred to the California Farm Bureau federation and to the national organization.

Opposed to Change
Directors decided the county building ordinance is better left as it is instead of being changed to include the fourth supervisorial district. If any change is made the farm bureau will support the exemption of agricultural acreage from the county ordinance as a whole, it was indicated from previous actions of the group. The matter is scheduled to come before the county supervisors next Tuesday.

Garden Grove and Cypress-Magnolia farm centers are to be asked by the county organization to appoint committees to confer on some of the matters involved in agitation for removal of the Pacific Electric track between Santa Ana and Los Angeles. Some farmers in the vicinity of Cypress and Hansen station advocate the removal.

Gardner Honored
Announcement was made that H. H. Gardner, Orange, had been chosen chairman of the citrus department region one, California Farm Bureau federation, which comprises the five southern counties. F. C. Latham, Santa Ana, was named secretary.

Another matter called to the attention of the directors was that aerial photographic maps of oranges in Orange county are available at the agricultural conservation association offices in Santa Ana.

Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg stated the new cost production studies are available on avocados, beets and beans and that he had completed a manuscript for a bulletin on windbreaks. C. J. Mauerhan was seated as director of the citrus department.

LIVES LONGEST
According to the results of a survey made by the Michigan Department of Conservation, the sturgeon is the longest-lived fish in the state.

USED TO BE WEBSTER-HAYNE; NOW IT'S BETTS AND CARLISLE

Webster and Hayne attracted some notice in 1830. Lincoln and Douglas earned a headline or two in 1858. But these were minor affairs. Last night, in Lathrop auditorium, it was Levi C. Carlisle, the Townsend chieftain and Lew Betts, the Tustin economist. Their bone of contention: Is the Townsend Plan a Legalized Form of Stealing and Robbery?

In this fourth noted American debate—the third was, of course, the Carlisle-Holles meeting two weeks ago—tradition repeated itself and nothing much was settled, except the convictions of the respective partisans in the audience, which apparently were even more firm than before.

They Go Around
Townsendites left the hall muttering that Mr. Betts didn't understand the Townsend plan. The Betts following felt that there wasn't any Townsend plan left, after Mr. Betts got through with it.

In street-corner parlance, Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Betts went round and round. In the opinion of the debaters themselves and their followers, personalities were liberally intermixed with the argument.

Voices From Rear
First, Mr. Carlisle accused Mr. Betts of getting personal about Dr. Townsend. Then Mr. Betts pointed out that Mr. Carlisle himself had spent most of his turn in attacking Mr. Betts rather than his argument. Then, later in the debate, voices from the rear of the hall broke in upon Mr. Carlisle and demanded that he quit personalities and get back to the subject.

In his final turn on the platform, Mr. Betts had quite a time making himself heard above the heckling of the Townsend group.

"If you'll listen to me you'll know more about this plan when you leave here than when you came in," Mr. Betts advised them.

Suave and tactful Attorney James B. Tucker, who presided over the debate, was hard put at times to maintain the smooth harmony that he managed at the Carlisle-Holles debate earlier.

Argues Locations
The nearest to open disorder was seen after Betts had argued the point that the Townsend plan would never be voted by northern and eastern sections of the country.

Carlisle poked fun at the argument, calling it nonsense and saying that Betts evidently overlooked the fact that California is part of the United States and the transactions for raising pensions would be paid in California.

The debate opened with Betts declaring he saw no virtue in age, and that the only question to be considered is: "What has a person done?" He apostrophized the achievements of the Apostle Paul in 60 years, and the 969 years of Methuselah during which, the Bible records, he merely lived and died.

The statement of Townsend ad-

U. S. Casualty

vocates that "we, the people past 60, have made the country what it is and therefore are entitled to consideration," was hit by Betts. He said they should be ashamed of what they have made the country, and he compared conditions 40 years ago, when they took the country over from their parents, to the present, when they are turning it over to their children.

Betts refused to recognize Dr. Townsend as a "new Moses" or "inspired of God," until he is shown credentials of leadership. Moses, said the speaker, commanded "Thou shalt not steal." Dr. Townsend has a different plan, he said. He further quoted Solomon's advice on the wisdom of saving and the folly of spending.

Carlisle Challenges
The Townsend organization is seeking to obtain money under false pretenses and deception, he said, quoting Townsend literature which contained conflicting statements, he said.

Carlisle challenged Betts' statement that the Townsend annuitants would be receiving a gift. Carlisle argued that they would be getting paid for a service to the government, of distributing money into the channels of trade. The plan would take control of money and credit from the big bankers and hand it to the federal government for distribution to the people, he said.

Betts, the last speaker, gave his parting shot to Carlisle: "You should be more careful about your challenges. You challenged me two weeks ago, and now look what has happened."

In the United States, $18.15 per capita is spent annually for candy, ice cream and sodas, but only $1.10 is expended for books.

MEEHAN TELLS HOW TO AVERT BLAZES

A new high in fire insurance at a new low in cost was revealed today in a statement released by Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the highway patrol in Orange county, the insurance being against fire in automobiles.

"Every motorist may carry an efficient fire extinguisher in his car or truck at absolutely no cost," the captain stated. "Just take a five-pound or 10-pound sugar or flour sack, fill it with ordinary dry sand, fasten the top with a spring-clip clothespin, place it in the car and be set to combat any blaze which may start. Should a fire break out, pour some sand on the source and the flames will be smothered at once. Many lives would be saved and property loss reduced if motorists would just carry this no-cost fire extinguisher in their vehicles."

Police News

Charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, Ignacio Vasquez, 43, and Clarence Hernandez, 31, both of Placentia, were arrested at 2:45 a. m. today by Placentia officers and booked at county jail.

Theft of Mrs. Penelope Cady's tannish-red Guernsey milk cow, valued at $90, was under investigation of sheriff's officers today. Mrs. Cady, resident of Orange-thorpe, just west of Hansen road, Buena Park, declared the cow bears a brand mark, "PC," on the right hip.

Complaint of Martin Vigil that a neighbor man, 29 years old, was using a slingshot to hurl stones against his house, was under investigation of sheriff's officers today. Vigil said the man disturbed Mrs. Vigil, who is ill, that Vigil went outside of his home and the man threw off a coat and laid aside the slingshot and wanted to fight. Vigil grabbed the coat and slingshot, he said, and ran into his home. "I'll sign a complaint against this man," Vigil told officers.

FDR Outlines U. S. Foreign Policy

foreign policy with the President earlier this week. Several Congressmen said after these conferences that they received the impression that the President was anxious to aid the French rearmament program because he regarded France as the defensive outpost of the United States and the Rhine as our defensive frontier.

Reports Erroneous
The President declared that he did not believe that political implications of the 1940 Presidential campaign should be brought into 1939 discussions of American foreign or defense policy.

Pointing to a stack of newspapers which lay on his desk, he declared that of all the papers, there was not one which did not contain a story or headline which gave an erroneous impression of administration aims and intentions.

America's foreign policy, he said, has not changed. Moreover, he said, the American people are realizing that things they have read and have heard from agitators, certain legislators and various news accounts are pure unadulterated bunk.

Blasts Opponents
He charged that the loudest critics of his foreign policy are appealing to ignorance, prejudice and fears. He said the critics were employing unAmerican tactics.

He said it was significant that his foreign policy foes are receiving the applause of those governments of the world which do not believe in the independence of all nations.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked to clarify the conferences he has had with the Senate and House military affairs committees out of which arose stories that he had extended out defensive frontier to the Rhine in the interest of the preservation of world democracy.

He said the question of secrecy was 100 per cent bunk. He asked newspapermen whether they thought he should divulge information from the United States intelligence services on matters that they believed were true but could not prove immediately.

Mr. Roosevelt began his discussion of foreign policy by saying that it had been covered from time to time in his messages to Congress; that there was nothing new about it. He said that the American people are confronted by one simple fact—that a great many people, some legislators and some newspaper owners, are deliberately putting out deliberate misrepresentations of fact.

He said that he did not believe the foreign policy of the United States should be involved in party or newspaper politics.

As for the newspaper articles, he charged that some of them were guesses dressed up as statements of fact.

Blames "Boob"
He said that while original stories dealing with foreign policy carried qualifying statements as to source of the material, those qualifying statements were dropped when editorial comment was made.

Discussing the Rhine frontier phrase, the President said that some boob got that off. He said he would like to meet that person face to face. He suggested to one newspaperman that if he could find the author of the statement, to bring him to the White House. He added that in his discussion with the Senate military affairs committee there was no reference to the Rhine as a frontier.

As the result of the phrase, he remarked, America was applauded in France, attacked in Germany and Italy and applauded in London. But he said, the whole thing was based on a mistake.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked concerning the sale of planes to France—revelations concerning which brought the foreign affairs controversy to a head.

He said he had informed the Senate committee that the planes would be paid for in cash. He said the sales would not be financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

baggage rooms of both stations. It was understood that Scotland Yard took a most serious view of the explosions in that they confirmed a belief that recent explosions which did severe damage in London and the Midlands were not the work of a few hazy brained extremists of the "Irish Republican Party" but were executed by determined men under a well prepared plan.

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, said in answer to a question in the House of Commons that 33 men had been arrested in Great Britain "so far" in connection with previous bombings. He refused to give details. In addition, tons of explosives had been seized.

ments in the Italian press were personally insulting to President Roosevelt.

While no exception was taken to political comments regarding the United States, the note said that nevertheless the embassy felt it was compelled to call the attention of the foreign office to personal criticism of the President.

Tom Mooney To Seek Divorce was away from me was that some day he would be freed—and we would start life all over again, and be happy together during the last years.

Rumors that all was not well with the Mooneys have been in circulation for years. Mooney and Mrs. Mooney repeatedly denied them.

Lives at Studio
Mrs. Mooney talked from the music studio on Pacific avenue that has been her home ever since Mooney was sent to San Quentin for life in 1917 as co-perpetrator of San Francisco's 1916 Preparedness Day bomb outrage in which 10 were killed and 40 were injured.

Mooney contended he was framed by perjured testimony. After five California governors refused to free him, Governor Culbert Olson, the state's first Democratic chief executive in 42 years, pardoned him last January 7.

The fight for Mooney's freedom attracted worldwide attention.

Tours State
Since his release, Mooney has been touring California "in the interest of labor unity and to fight for the release of Warren Billings."

Billings, convicted with Mooney for the bombing, is serving life in Folsom. Governor Olson cannot pardon Billings without approval of the state supreme court because of a prior conviction.

"Tom," said Mrs. Mooney, "leaned on someone else when he couldn't support himself. Now that he is free he forgets all about that."

NADINE SCHLOSSER MARRIED JAN. 24

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Feb. 3.—Formal announcement of the marriage of Miss Nadine Schlosser to John William Dunn at Las Vegas, Nevada, January 24, was made here today.

For the trip the bride wore a traveling costume of Eleanor blue with wine accessories and a corsage of gardenias. They made a short visit to Boulder Dam and other places of interest in the Nevada state before returning to their home.

The new Mrs. Dunn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Schlosser, of this city. She is a graduate of the Mission school and the Capistrano High school, where she was a four year honor student and life member of the California Scholarship Federation, and she recently completed a business course in Santa Ana.

John W. Dunn came to Capistrano four years ago from Wichita, Kansas, and since that time has been engaged in the ranching business with Clarence R. Brown. The young couple revealed their engagement sometime ago, but the elopement and marriage came as a surprise to their many friends in this community.

International Dinner Held

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—An international dinner for the disciples of Christ was observed in the First Christian church of Fullerton at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday, in accordance with the program plan which encircled the world, starting in New Zealand and ending in Hawaii, Rev. L. I. Chamlee, pastor of Fullerton Christian church, announced.

The dinner in Fullerton was held at the Christian church social hall with Dr. W. H. Wickett presiding. O. S. Lingo was song leader and Mrs. W. H. Wickett pianist.

Following the invitation by Dr. Frank M. Dowling, a violin solo was played by Raymond "Potho" with Mrs. Charles Peckham as accompanist. Short talks were given by Karl Harris on "What the Church Means to Youth," Claude Rogers, "What the Church Means to the Home," H. W. Pierce, "What the Church Means to the Business man," C. C. Chapman, "The Church," John R. Blunt, "The Brotherhood," and Rev. Chamlee, "The Kingdom."

Miss Alma Bode Guest Speaker

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Miss Alma Bode, daughter of the pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, and a teacher in the Orange schools, was guest speaker at the bi-monthly meeting of St. John's Lutheran Ladies' Aid yesterday afternoon at Walker Memorial hall. Miss Bode showed interesting souvenirs brought back from her travels in Europe last summer, and spoke on two countries, Germany and England. She spent a short business meeting and announced that the regular sewing meeting will be held Thursday, February 16.

GEORGE W. CARTER DIES AT HOSPITAL

George W. Carter, 80-year-old retired farmer, who had resided at 718 Cypress avenue here for the last two years, died yesterday at Orange county hospital following an illness that lasted for six weeks.

Mr. Carter, who was born in Shawnee Town, Ill., is survived by one son, George R. Carter, of Taft, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Craft, Santa Ana; six grandchildren, Eugene and Hubert Craft, Santa Ana; six grandchildren, Eugene and Hubert Craft, Fred, Dowsy, Gladys, and Chalmers Carter, all of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel, with the Rev. L. D. Meggers, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, in charge. Burial will be in Westminster Memorial Park.

Missionary Group Hears Talks

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Several talks were given on missions in India when members of the First Christian church missionary society met yesterday with Mrs. Alice Cole presiding. Mrs. R. C. Burkett was program chairman. Miss Mary Costlow spoke on "The Church Takes Root in India," and the pastor, the Rev. Myron C. Cole, told of three missionaries in India, William Carey, Alexander Duff and Miss Amy Carmichael. Mrs. Inez spoke briefly and Mrs. Burkett conducted a quiz from the magazine of the organization, "The World Call."

Mrs. Ethel Purdy, daughter of Mrs. Effie Effofson, was guest soloist singing "Take Up the Cross." Mrs. Purdy also sang at the noon day prayer meeting of the church which was largely attended.

Merriam Aide Sought by Jury

Jury probe into the activities of Mark Lee Megladdery, one of ex-Governor Merriam's private secretaries, spread far afield today in the course of sensational new developments.

Drawn into the inquiry was the name of Francis Cochran, attorney and former member of the secretarial staffs of ex-Governors Merriam and James Rolph jr.

Missing Week
District Attorney Ralph Hoyt and Attorney General Earl Warren said Cochran has been "missing" for a week for questioning in connection with a charge that a $3000 payment had been put up by relatives of a San Quentin convict in an asserted deal to get the convict's sentence commuted.

Hoyt said a secret statewide search had been made for Cochran without uncovering a clue to his whereabouts. According to Hoyt, L. D. Whitehurst, Los Angeles oil operator, also sought for questioning in the same case, reportedly had gone to Mexico City.

The $3000, Hoyt said, had been put up by two brothers of Joseph Salvador, committed to San Quentin in 1934 for killing his wife and another man. He was under sentence of six to 35 years. His sentence was commuted last December to 10 years.

$8000 Fee
The brothers testified, Hoyt reported, that they had talked to Whitehurst about getting Joseph out of San Quentin. They said he made four trips with them to Sacramento and there they met Cochran, Merriam's secretary in charge of parole applications.

Cochran told them, they said, that they must have Attorney Donald MacKay of Los Angeles handle their case. MacKay, it was said, demanded a $3000 fee and showed them he already had the case prepared.

After consulting Visalia attorneys, the Salvador brothers said they borrowed $3000 but drew up an escrow agreement calling for Joseph's release by Feb. 1, 1939.

Hoyt said he talked to MacKay in Oakland Wednesday night and had been told that MacKay had not cashed the $3000 check "because he was trying to make up his mind whether he had earned the money."

MacKay denied, Hoyt said, that he was supposed to have split the money with anyone and said he had done "absolutely nothing" toward getting the commutation.

Other developments in the case included the ouster of George J. Claire as secretary of the state personnel board a day after he testified before the grand jury about telephone calls to red-haired Mrs. Helen De Vine, mysterious woman of the investigation who has declined to state what were the sources of her $38,000 income in the past three years.

M. C. Moore, local fireman, reported to police last night that he found an almost-new fire extinguisher in the 1400-block of Lowell street. The extinguisher had no identification marks and no hose attached. Its capacity is two and one-half gallons. Police are seeking an owner.

SURVEY MADE TO CUT WASTE

Results of a survey made to determine the percentage of split or damaged beans from the harvester were announced today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, who made the survey. Cory will continue the survey during the next harvesting season.

"The survey was made with the idea of reducing this loss to the lowest possible amount," Cory said. "Cracked beans represent a loss to the grower by the difference of the market price of good beans and the price received as damaged beans."

"Damaged beans represent a loss to the grower in cost of hand picking in the warehouse. Damaged beans also represent a loss to the grower in loss of germination when planted."

In the survey the percentage of cracked beans ranged from 12.6 per cent to 1.1 per cent, due to the adjustment of the harvester and speed of the cylinders, Cory said. In pick-up machines, the percentage was 3.7 per cent, while in stationary equipment, the percentage was 2.8 per cent of damaged beans.

According to Cory, this should not be considered as a criticism of the pick-type of machine as some of those in the survey showed a lower percentage of damaged beans than the stationary equipment.

It was found that some lots of beans cracked easier than others, due to dry pods or because the vines were green, Cory said. Constant attention to the separator and cylinders is necessary in order to reduce the loss from damaged beans.

Rt. Rev. Hughes In Hospital

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 3.—The Right Rev. Monsignor William Hughes, pastor of St. Catherine's church in Laguna Beach, is in Maggolia hospital, Long Beach, recovering from a recent severe attack of pneumonia. Physician's reports state that Fr. Hughes is making very satisfactory recovery, although the date of his return to his duties in Laguna Beach cannot yet be stated. During the absence of the pastor, services will be conducted, as usual, by priests assigned by the Diocesan office. Sunday masses are at 8 and 10 o'clock on weekdays at 7:30 a. m.; and on Holy Days, at 7:30 a. m.

STORE ROLLS ALONG
WICKFORD JUNCTION, R. 1 (UP)—The general store "went for a ride" recently, causing anxious shoppers to follow its progress along the street for a half-mile or more. The building, 30 by 40 feet, rolled to its new location along a four-lane highway.

Theater Men "Go Over Top" In Safety

Santa Ana West Coast and Broadway theater employees were the first to sign traffic safety pledges 100 per cent in connection with Police Chief Floyd W. Howard's traffic safety campaign now on. Every motorist or bicyclist who signs one of the cards pledges himself or herself to assist in making the city one of the nation's safest in 1939. Above, Chief Howard, second from left, is shown presenting a safety emblem to George King, city manager of the West Coast and Broadway theaters. Left to right are George B. Vest, West Coast projectionist; Chief Howard, Manager King, Harry C. Arthur, well-known theater owner, of Anaheim, and Eddie Sugden, West Coast theater manager. The picture was taken in front of the Broadway.

AIMS OF CHINA RECOUNTED IN TALK BY CONSUL BEFORE LIONS

"We are confident we will win the war and if democratic nations of the world would assist us by stopping the shipments of scrap-iron to Japan it would be over in three months."

This was the opinion expressed by Tsechang Kent Chang, consul of the Republic of China at Los Angeles yesterday at a meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club at the Masonic Temple.

Prepared For Suffering
"The civil population of China is prepared to undergo any suffering in order to bring about a victorious China and we will continue to fight defeated battles until Japan is worn out," Chang said. Japan may win every battle and still lose the war.

"We are often asked why we do not surrender and accept the peace terms offered by Japan. To Americans we have this answer. China is now at the point where the Americans were in their Revolution when they were forced to retreat at Valley Forge. If your armies had given up then and accepted the terms offered by the British there would have been no United States. If China gives up now there will be no Republic of China."

Cites Aggravation
In refutation of the Japanese charge that they are saving the Chinese people from Communism, Chang maintained that if the Japanese had been interested in stopping Communism in the Orient they would have gone to war with Russia, the home of Communism.

"Ever since 1931 the Japanese have been provoking incidents that they used as excuses for invasion of Chinese territory," Chang declared.

Attorney Charles Swanner was program chairman, and introduced the speaker. Reports of a California-Nevada district meeting at Fresno were made by local delegates to the party. They included President Don Jerome, Secretary John A. Henderson, E. M. Sundquist, Ernest Spencer and Frank R. Harwood.

Girl Reserves To Hold Meeting

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Girl Reserves of Fullerton, Brea-Olinda and Valencia union high schools will meet with high school Girl Reserves of other Orange county schools, and of Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Pomona and San Gabriel Valley at a one-day conference Saturday at the Memorial auditorium in Riverside.

The Riverside event will differ from similar conferences in past years in that it will be open to every Girl Reserve member in districts represented. Ideals of the Girl Reserve organization will form the basis for the program. Mrs. Merwin Murphy of Fullerton and the Fullerton union high school Girl Reserve choir which she directs will provide conference music with Patricia Hadenwig at the piano. Vivian Cadman made cover designs for programs and songbooks in charge of the Fullerton group.

TICKETS FOR PLAY GO ON SALE TODAY

Yielding to the public's demand, reserved seats for "You Can't Take It With You," the Community Player's next offering to playgoers, went on sale today at the Santa Ana Book Store.

Notwithstanding the Santa Ana high school auditorium's large seating capacity, theatergoers were urged to make their reservations soon, for this, the zaniest comedy in years, for the play will be given one night only, February 18, officials said.

Self Expression
There can be no synopsis worthy of this three-ring circus play, but the setting is the living room of the Sycamore family. Self expression reigns supreme! Headed by Grandpa Vanderhof who retired 35 years ago in favor of attending commencement exercises and visiting the zoo, abetted by his daughter, Penelope, the playwright - artist, and their "guest", Mr. De Pinna, who delivered ice one day eight years ago—and just stayed—and spiced with the appearances of Kolenhof, the Russian maître de ballet, the whole cast throws itself into the spirit of "Through the Looking-glass Land."

Surprisingly enough, all these numerous bits of jig-saw puzzle fit together perfectly under the direction of Gladys Simpson Shaffer.

Pan-Hellenics Give Program

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—An interesting program was presented the Pan-Hellenic society of Northern Orange county Tuesday night in Fullerton by K. M. Barger, noted handwriting expert, who came from San Diego to entertain the group.

Barger displayed interesting examples of forgery and concluded his talk by analysis of each Pan-Hellenic member's handwriting.

The meeting took place at the home of Mrs. Bart De Land in Fullerton. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Albert Williams, Ethel Cooley and Mildred Bee. Attending from Anaheim were Mrs. Les Herron, Mrs. H. J. Rainey and Mrs. John Wilson.

TWO POULTRY MEETINGS SET

Two poultry demonstrations which will feature brooding equipment and management are being planned by the farm advisor's office, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

Newlon to Speak

The dates for the demonstrations have been set for Thursday, February 9 and Friday, February 10. W. E. Newlon, extension specialist in poultry husbandry of the University of California, will be present to take part in the demonstrations and discussions.

The first demonstration will be held at the ranch of George Cole, located on Grand avenue, one mile south of Buena Park, corner of La Palma and Grand. This demonstration will start at 1:30 p. m. on February 9.

The second demonstration will be held at the ranch of H. Gimel, 2028 Santa Ana avenue, Costa Mesa, the afternoon of February 10, starting at 1:30 p. m.

All Poultrymen Invited
The advantages of different kinds of brooding equipment, feeding and problems of brooding will be discussed at both demonstrations. All poultrymen are invited to attend one or both of these demonstrations.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Junior Booster Board Favors Removal Of P. E. Railway Tracks

Members of the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Santa Ana today were on record as favoring the removal of the Pacific Electric railway tracks between Santa Ana and Los Angeles provided the railway company turns over the track right-of-way to proper authorities for construction of a boulevard.

This was the announcement of Vic Walker, chairman of the planning committee, who said the action was taken in a specially called meeting of the directors yesterday.

Resolution Approved
A resolution embodying these points were approved and will be forwarded to the Pacific Electric officials.

Included also in the resolution was the stipulation that the Pacific Electric company donate its right-of-way to the state for the construction of the highway and that the company operate a bus service over the highway.

If the plan is approved, the proposed highway will connect with Century boulevard in Los Angeles and will give three major highways leading out of Los Angeles into Santa Ana, it was pointed out.

"Large Territory"
In addition to creating a faster and better form of transportation at less cost the new highway would open up to Santa Ana merchants a large territory in the Garden Grove, Bellflower and Stanton area, the sponsors of the move hold.

At the present, the Pacific Electric right-of-way has an average width of 100 feet although in some places where spur tracks have been laid it is considerably wider. Highway officials estimate that 100-foot right-of-way is sufficient for the construction of a four-lane super highway with ample space on either side of the pavement for shoulders.

Deacon Shem Drowne, of Boston, was the first professional American artist of whom there is any record.

The aspen "quakes" because of its flat, spring-like stems.

The Rome-Berlin accord evidenced in this recent friendly meeting of Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, left, and Adolf Hitler, right, may take more concrete form when the Fascist envoy visits Berlin for the celebration of the Nazi regime's sixth anniversary. He is expected to join with the Fuehrer in presenting German and Italian claims in Europe and the world.

FEDERAL SINGERS TO GIVE CONCERT HERE MONDAY NIGHT

The Santa Ana Federal Madrigal singers, conducted by Dodley Page Harper, will present a concert, sponsored by the Santa Ana Social and Educational committee, of which Ada Williams Wyatt is chairman, Monday evening at the Willard auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. The concert is open to the general public.

The choral group will sing a highly dramatic "Dark Water," program comprised of Negro spirituals, compositions entirely from the pens of Negro composers. After the singing, Prof. William Easter, state director of adult education, will speak on "The Negro's Contribution to American Life."

The program opens with the

From the prolific pen of Nathaniel Dett is the effective "Listen to the Lambs." Dett, after appearing as a concert pianist and holding a number of positions as director of music in colored institutes, was put in charge of music at Hampton institute in Virginia. As a Negro composer, he emphasized the native character of his racial music and has been particularly successful in his settings of spirituals for chorus. His "Juba Dance" for orchestra is considered one of the raciest bits of Negro-like music that has ever been published.

Other Numbers

Further representing the works of Negro composers, all outstanding in their fields of composition, are the concluding numbers: "Go Down Moses," the sparkling "Swing Along," by Will Marion Cook; "Keep on Praying to the Lord," a Booth composition; "Deep River," written by Harry T. Burleigh, and "Chillun, Come on Home," by Noble Cain.

PANTHER WRECKS AUTO
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Dr. Leland Dame, who is district health officer for the state board of health, has discovered a new auto hazard. Driving at dusk along Lake Okechobee, he saw a panther crouched on the highway. He could not avoid hitting the animal, and the impact wrecked the car, injured the doctor and killed the panther.

REGISTER CARRIERS READY FOR PARTY

At 7 p. m. today, some 75 Santa Ana Register carrier boys will be special guests at the State theater screen program through co-operation and arrangements of the theater management and The Register.

The carriers, who will attend free of charge, will see "In Old Mexico," a Hopalong Cassidy film with a background of excitement and hard-riding in Mexico, and a variety program. The program will include showing of the first chapter of a brand new serial, "Red Barry" starring Buster Crabbe. The picture presents Crabbe as an uncanny and athletic detective assigned to stop the ruthless agents of two foreign countries sent here to intercept $2,000,000 worth of bonds with which a third foreign country hoped to purchase fighting planes. Crabbe gets into and out of scores of hair-raising fights and predicaments in this thriller, taken from the newspaper cartoon. "Mutiny on the Boby," comedy; "Village Blacksmith," cartoon, and world news events also screen.

Half Million Dollars Spent On Anaheim Schools

MERCHANTS GIVEN FIGURES AT MEET

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—Mel Gauer, Anaheim superintendent of schools, spoke before a meeting of over 38 members of the Anaheim Merchants and Manufacturers association Thursday morning at the Marigold cafe in Anaheim on the school construction operations in the past two years in Anaheim which involved nearly all the city schools.

Gauer stated the amounts expended on the different Anaheim schools, of which the following are PWA projects:

Fremont school shop and cafeteria costing $40,000; Fremont home economics building costing $28,000; Benjamin Franklin school costing $58,000; Fremont school administration building costing $28,000; George Washington school costing $54,000; La Palma school costing $70,000; Benjamin Franklin auditorium costing $25,000.

Two WPA projects were constructed at Broadway school in Anaheim which cost approximately $9,000 and to which the district added about $3,500.

This brought the total to approximately $570,000 expended on Anaheim school buildings during the past two years. The work was handled by local contractors and materials were bought from local merchants.

The second speaker Merchants and Manufacturers association meeting was George Erving, sales counselor of Los Angeles, who spoke on merchandizing and salesmanship. He told the merchants and manufacturers that he would like to begin a sales clinic in Anaheim and give a series of lectures for the Anaheim merchants and salespeople. The association invited Erving to return in the near future at which time the proposed sales clinic will be further discussed. Everett Cone, president of the association, presided over the meeting.

200 Attend Ebell Club Gathering

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—More than 200 husbands, friends and members of Anaheim Ebell club attended a buffet supper and spent an evening filled with varied entertainment Monday evening for the organization's annual guest night. Ebell officers assisted the guests and members in serving themselves at a huge buffet table, after which they were seated at small tables about the room. Ivy pots and burning white tapers decorated each table.

During the supper hour, "The Roving Cowboys," entertaining vaudeville artists from Long Beach, sang and played hillbilly music, humorous stories, songs and dances.

Mrs. H. B. Pearson, Anaheim Ebell club president, greeted the assemblage from the stage, introducing Mrs. James Sutherland, club curator, who, as a preliminary to the remainder of the program, expressed the pride of the club in Mrs. H. B. Pearson and Mrs. Tex Middleton's enthusiastic work with the drama section.

A comedy, "If the Shoe Pinches" by Babbette Hughes, and directed by Mrs. Middleton was given by the Ebell players. Mrs. Newman Sanford played the leading role of a frivolous divorcee, and other matrons taking part were Mrs. Charles Pearson, Mrs. E. G. Howard and Mrs. Leo Friis.

Concluding the presentation, a skit, "Madame President" was given by the Anaheim union high school drama department with Vance Gooden and Wilma Kerr in featured roles.

At the last meeting, the group were guests of Mrs. Huston Ludlum of Santa Ana with Mrs. John Schick, also of Santa Ana, Mrs. Earl Burdall, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Mrs. Earl Shefflin, Mrs. Ernest McClelland, Mrs. Paul Norman and Mrs. Merwin J. Fickas of Newport Heights and Costa Mesa as guests.

TEN INITIATED
FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Ten boys were initiated into Fullerton chapter of De Moly Thursday evening at a potluck dinner celebrating mother's night. The dinner was held in the Fullerton Masonic temple. After the dinner the Mother's circle, women's Masonic organization, gathered in a separate room for a business meeting.

Joins Firm

LESLIE F. KIMMEL, who has become associated with the law firm of Harvey, Rimel and Harvey, will be in charge of the Laguna Beach office which will be known as the firm of L. F. Kimmel and Harvey, Rimel and Harvey.

LESLIE KIMMEL JOINS LAW FIRM

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 3.—Announcement was made yesterday of the association of Leslie F. Kimmel, well-known in Orange county civic circles, with the law firm of Harvey, Rimel and Harvey. Some weeks ago, the firm of Harvey and Harvey, of Santa Ana and Laguna Beach, was enlarged by the admission to partnership of Jack Rimel; and, with the association of Mr. Kimmel, the firm's name is now "Leslie F. Kimmel, Harvey, Rimel and Harvey."

Kimmel, several years ago, was City Attorney of Laguna Beach, a position now filled by Milburn G. Harvey; is a graduate of the University of Chicago Law School, member of Phi Alpha Delta; ex-president of the Orange County Coast Association, a Legionnaire, holder of the Purple Heart decoration, active in Girl Scout, Humane Society, Community Play-ers, and many other local, county and statewide movements. He is chairman of the local Republican organization, and has been active in several recent campaigns.

The offices of the newly-enlarged law firm will be at 357 Coast boulevard, South, in the Crowell-Wooden building; Kimmel's offices, for several years in the Pettes building, being closed with his association with Messrs. Harvey and Rimel, effectively immediately.

Brea To Purchase Water Softener

BREA, Feb. 3.—Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the city council it was voted to buy an ammoniator which will be used to soften the Brea water. It was tested for several weeks and proved satisfactory.

The city also decided to purchase two gas masks to be used by the Brea fire department.

A request for secretarial aid by Judge Frank Campbell was denied by the council.

Decision on the sewer extension was again postponed until more complete specifications have been presented by Ralph McClean, city engineer.

O. S. Close acted as mayor in the absence of W. D. Shaffer.

Bridge Club To Meet Feb. 9
NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Feb. 3.—The second anniversary of the Memegans Bridge club will be celebrated with a party February 9 with Mrs. Ernest McClelland of Newport Heights as hostess.

At the last meeting, the group were guests of Mrs. Huston Ludlum of Santa Ana with Mrs. John Schick, also of Santa Ana, Mrs. Earl Burdall, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Mrs. Earl Shefflin, Mrs. Ernest McClelland, Mrs. Paul Norman and Mrs. Merwin J. Fickas of Newport Heights and Costa Mesa as guests.

MISS GIYAN JOINS PADUA HILLS GROUP

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—Miss Liduvina Giyan, youthful Mexican lyric soprano who took the leading roles in operettas at the local high school while a student at the institution, was engaged yesterday as the leading soprano at the Padua Hills Theatre.

She was given an audition following the afternoon performance. She will make her home at the dormitory and will be given vocal instruction, also will be given lessons in drama and dance. She was engaged by W. Garner, owner and manager of the playhouse hidden in the Padua Hills near Claremont.

The girl is a protegee of Mrs. Ruth Harlow, head of the music department of the local school, and also has had the help of Mrs. Jessie Hayden, Americanization instructor.

Chess Master At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 3.—Radolph Banner, Los Angeles chess master who has been staying in Laguna Beach for the past several weeks, has given the Chess Club some very interesting evenings at recent meetings.

Banner, a former native of Switzerland, plays simultaneously with as many of the club members as wish to oppose him, taking on as high as six boards at a time. He can, he says, play 20 or even 40 boards at once.

An old resident of the Southland, he says he remembers Laguna when it was a village with few houses, no drug store, and only one paved street. The "coast highway" at that time, he recalls, was just a dirt wagon road.

Out of the three or four dozen games he has played at recent club meetings, Banner has lost but one or two games and drawn one. He plays rapidly, often making the rounds of all the players and getting back to his first opponent before that player has had a chance to think out his next move.

The club is looking forward to an unusually large attendance at its regular semi-weekly meeting Friday.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On War

BUENA PARK, Feb. 3.—Dr. George Bergman of Fullerton told the Kiwanis club of the recent war in Ethiopia and of his experiences while in that country from 1926 to 1938, serving in a government hospital called the Zauditer Memorial. Dr. Milton Counter was program chairman and presented Dr. Bergman.

Reylas Perry, newly elected president presided at the business meeting and announced a division meeting and ladies' night to be held in the Elks club at Anaheim on February 20.

Invited guests were Orval A. Smith of Bellflower; L. E. Coffman of Santa Ana; Frank Wilsey of Buena Park, and A. W. Purdy of Fullerton.

Smith announced intentions of working with the Boy Scouts of Buena Park. He has been assistant scoutmaster of Downey and is himself an Eagle Scout.

Mrs. Bert Wells was dinner chairman. Those assisting her were Mesdames Carl Brenner, C. C. Chapman, M. D. Cogger, Wade Bloise and Miss Betty Wells.

Children Give Minstrel Show
OCEANVIEW, Feb. 3.—A minstrel show was presented this afternoon by William Leedke and his seventh grade pupils of the Oceanview school as their contribution to the series of monthly assembly programs, one of which each class is responsible for during school term. The features and cast include Ray Hunnicutt, Tommie Holz and Mike Case as interlocutor and end men, respectively; Strong man act, original skit by the girls "School Kids" written and worked out by Melba Hubbard, Betty Bruch and Betty Tunstall, Dorothy Turner, Evelyn Ward.

"The Seventh Grade's Version of Valentine Day" and "Comedy in the Zoo" were featured and there was a dialogue between Eva May Mitchell and Edward Mitchell and music by Howard Pamplin.

Kuchel To Send Weekly Reports
FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Thomas Kuchel, 75th district assemblyman, has promised the Fullerton chamber of commerce that he will send weekly reports of the assembly and senate activities and also a complete file of legislative bills from the state capital at Sacramento. They will be available for the public at the chamber office in Fullerton, Secretary Harry May of the Fullerton chamber of commerce announced Tuesday.

Fullerton chamber directors sent letters of congratulation to H. H. Kohlenberger, new Fullerton mayor, and to William Montague, new councilman, giving them assurance of co-operation with the new administration for the best interests of Fullerton.

NEW MEDICAL BUILDING TO OPEN IN CAPISTRANO TODAY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Feb. 3.—Formal opening of one of Orange county's most modern and scientific buildings will be held here Saturday February 4, when Dr. Paul H. Esslinger opens his new and exclusive medical building.

The building itself is of international modern design, plans coming from an architect in South America, patterned after a building in Buenos Aires. The structure is a 23 room building, which forms an emergency hospital with operating rooms, treatment rooms, x-ray and diathermy units, and a complete dental suite with laboratory, which is now occupied by Dr. G. O. Jones. A lease will be let to an eye-ear-nose and throat specialist during the next few months.

The earthquake proof building is made of reinforced concrete, with 6 tons of steel used in the frame work. Ceilings are of acoustical celotex, 78 per cent sound deadening and light switches throughout the building are of the new silent variety.

Glass blocks fill a space of 70 feet in the front part of the hospital, and the present a 64 per cent vacuum as insulation and at the same time allowing a filtration of 92 per cent outside light. An up to date air conditioning and ventilation system makes this one of the most completely equipped buildings in the southland.

Elmer Martin, of Los Angeles, was the principal contractor, with the Capistrano Electric Company in charge of wiring, and plumbing installation by H. M. Girdler.

Dr. Esslinger came to San Juan Capistrano ten years ago, from Chicago, Ill., and since that time has become a well known figure in the medical circles of Orange county, for the past several years he has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

"First Lady" To Be Jaysee Play
FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Presentation of the Fullerton district junior college sophomore class play "First Lady," February 9 and 10, will have several students who starred in former plays in the leading roles. Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield will direct the junior college production.

Part of Irene Hibbard and Lucy Chase Wayne, two women endeavoring to get their husbands into the presidential nomination are taken by Emilio Oas of Anaheim and Dorothy Gabriel of Balboa. Miss Gabriel held the leading role last year in a freshman production "Counselor-at-Law," and Miss Oas carried an important supporting role in the same play.

Male roles of Carter Hibbard, husband of Irene Hibbard, will be taken by Bill Conn of Bellflower and Stephen Wayne, husband of Lucy Chase Wayne, taken by King Joslyn of Balboa. Cann and Joslyn both played important parts in last year's freshman play. Joslyn played the lead in the annual Christmas play at Fullerton district junior college this year.

"First Lady," a political satire, was written by George S. Kaufman and had first run in New York with Jane Cowell, one of the foremost actresses in the United States.

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE

NEGRO HISTORY TO BE REVIEWED HERE

In observing National Negro History week, February 5 to February 12, inclusive, local citizens will be invited to three special adult education programs during the week, it was revealed today by Mrs. Katherine McCarthy, chairman of public relations.

Next Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Willard auditorium, William A. Easter, state director of adult education, of Los Angeles, will speak on "Negroes' Contribution to American Life." Music will be provided by the community singing class of local adult education, the Madrigal singers of the federal music project, who will feature Negro spirituals.

Famous Biographies

On Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. in Franklin school auditorium, famous biographies of Negroes will be presented as well as music by talented Negro singers. On Sunday, February 12, with Negro singers featured in the musical program, starting at 3 p. m., Mrs. Ruby Berkeley Goodwin, Fullerton, will speak on "The Forgotten Men in American History." All three programs are free to the public.

Although Niagara Falls are the most famous in the world, they come eleventh on the list in actual height.

ORANGE COUNTY GARDENS AND HOMES

Orange County Gardening

By MRS. H. CARDOZA SLOAN,
Corona Del Mar

Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange County gardens.

We devote the column this week to answering a few inquiries from gardening readers.

Mrs. H. C. The green and white trailing plant you saw at my garden may be either a mint or a nepeta. I grow both of them in baskets. The nepeta makes the longest strands, sometimes hanging from a high basket to the ground, where it will take root. However, I fancy it is the mint about which you ask, as you are more likely to be familiar with the nepeta.

The mint is mentha rotundifolia variegata. This is a very decorative plant, especially in the spring when the growth is fresh and vigorous. The leaves are beautifully variegated white and green, softly hairy, roughly veined, and crinkled at the edges.

We grow it as a basket plant, but it may also be used in the front of the flower border, its cool, fresh coloring delightful with darker green foliage. It spreads by leafy stolons. And flowers in summer with tall spikes of lavender bloom. I do not recall that mine in baskets has ever flowered.

The scent is delicious, a pineapple fragrance. It is sometimes called the "pineapple mint," which seems to me far more suitable than the name given it botanically, "round leaved," for the leaves are not round.

The nepeta has roundish leaves, cut at the edge in a pretty scallop. There is a green leaved form which grows wild in many parts of the country. In New England we used to call it "Gill-run-over-the-ground." Botanically it is Nepeta hederacea sometimes called Nepeta glehoma. The variegated green and white form is the one more usually cultivated. It makes a very pretty carpeting plant in a shady, fairly moist situation, and is also desirable as a hanging plant. It belongs to the same family as the catnip, and the leaves when crushed give off a faint catnippy scent.

Mrs. K. F. asks us to tell in "words of one syllable" how we grew Japanese morning glories in pots. Well, the way we did it, it was very simple—we just put the seeds in pots and they grew!

We have read one should soak the seed for a few hours in lukewarm water before planting, to hasten germination. Again, we have read all ipomea seeds should be notched, for the same purpose. We didn't do either.

Our seeds came five in a packet (at 25c the packet) and we planted a whole packet in a ten-inch pot, in a straight row across the pot, with two or three foot high wire trellis back of them. The soil was quite a rich mixture—we weren't particular about proportions, just took mellow garden soil, added a very little sifted leafmold, and quite a little pulverized steer manure.

I don't remember how quickly the seeds sprouted (there was nothing scientific about this job, we were just doing it for fun) but it hardly seemed any time until a little plant was breaking through the soil. We really didn't expect many of them to sprout, but they all came up, most of them quickly, some a little slowly. Could one be sure of this, there would be no necessity of putting so many in one pot.

As I have said, we disregarded entirely the admonition to soak or to notch the seeds. A third suggestion we likewise ignored which we advise you, Katie, to heed if you try Japanese morning glories in pots. And that is, to pinch the runners two or three times, thus keeping the vines in a bushier pot shape. We didn't do that, either, with the result that the vines kept growing up above the trellis, waving helplessly about and finally falling into each other's arms and entwining themselves in midair.

Our vines grew rapidly and bloomed freely. And they turned out to be every single plant alike! A soft variegated foliage, pale green and pale lemon yellow, and flowers of a beautiful rose carmine. The flowers were very large, exquisite in form and texture, and lovely in color. But my husband, who had been anticipating a varied assemblage of the striped and blotched blossoms in innumerable colors, such as the Japanese are reported to arise at four A.M. "for to see and for to admire," my husband, I say, lost all interest when he found all our flowers of this uniform shade of solid color.

The only other time I have seen Japanese morning glories in pots was in one of our finer horticultural establishments where they were grown in a hot house, in four-inch pots. They had, here and there, a lovely flower, but the plants themselves were weak and sickly looking, which gave me the idea they were difficult to grow. I think differently now I have tried brought to bloom successfully.

LILY OF JAPAN IS HARDY TYPE

Hardy lilies are among the plants for which a period of dormancy in cool weather is necessary if they are to complete their growth cycle. Because of their late arrival from Japan each year, many gardeners wait until spring to plant them.

But there are hazards in this course against which the beginner should be warned. If lilies are not planted in the fall they must be kept over winter in storage to give them their chill and to check root which would destroy them if kept out of the earth in warm temperatures.

Not all lilies which are offered for sale in the spring, experience proves, have spent the winter in cold storage. Some bulbs are traded in which have been grown during the winter to produce greenhouse flowers, and these will not flower again for another full year. So many novices buying bargain bulbs have discovered.

Again, when cold storage bulbs are planted in the spring, they must still make roots and grow underground a long time before they produce flowers. This delays their flowering season at best, and at the worst they encounter spring weather which is anything but favorable to root production. For it, cool and moist weather is essential. Dry weather retards growth and warm weather forces it prematurely, causing the top to appear before there are roots to sustain it, resulting in a stunted flower or no flower at all.

On the whole, the average of success is higher where hardy lilies are planted in the fall. They begin at once to make roots under the most favorable conditions; in the spring they develop normally and they blossom at their normal season with vigorous flowers. Provided, of course, that they are planted in the proper place.

Drainage is necessary for Japan lilies; they come from a mountainous country, where the soil is gritty and not like our cold, wet clays. They need a place that slopes and soil through which surplus water passes quickly.

In the summer it is better if their roots are shaded, and they have no objection to the company of shrubs. Slightly acid soil is preferred by the Japanese types and oak woods soil is fine for them.

The Japan lilies are stem rooters, which means they make roots not only below the bulbs but along the stem above the bulb, so they should be planted eight to twelve inches deep.

In planning your vegetable garden, make the width between rows for root crops, leaf crops and bush beans and beans, just wide enough for your wheel hoe to cultivate it with one trip.

Radishes are often grown by market gardeners broadcast, or in rows two inches apart. It takes hand weeding, and rich soil to do this, but the crop is huge for the area used.

The best recipe for good health: Grow your own vegetables and eat them.

some myself, and hope to grow them again someday. And, if in pots, I shall surely pinch off the runners next time.

Mrs. J. T. L. Yes, I think you could grow glorioxias. The culture is very much the same as that of the tuberous begonia. When the first little sprout shows, put down in a flat of moist peat, or better yet in a mixture of peat and leafmold, barely covering the tuber. If you have a warm place for them, you can hasten the sprouting by placing the tubers in a bare flat and sprinkling them with water every few days, moving on to the peat as they sprout. Be careful not to keep too wet. If you have no warm place to start them (I have none, there is danger of the tubers rotting if too cold and wet after they are started. When the little plants are about three inches tall, transplant to pots.

Soil should be light. Three-fourths leafmold and one-fourth peat is recommended. I added some pulverized steer manure and a little bonemeal. After the buds begin to show, feed with liquid manure, not too strong or too often.

I experimented with glorioxias last year, growing them cold, in a cloth house, bringing them along a little later than the tuberous begonias. They flowered in mid-summer. Glorioxias started and grew in one of our finer horticultural establishments where they were grown in a hot house, in four-inch pots. They had, here and there, a lovely flower, but the plants themselves were weak and sickly looking, which gave me the idea they were difficult to grow. I think differently now I have tried brought to bloom successfully.

Plant Shower Given Guest

Complimenting Mrs. Susan Rutherford of Balboa, whose garden has grown to include a new lath house, was the plant shower held recently at the home of Mrs. H. E. Stahler, 399 Seville avenue, Balboa. Plants and fern in wide variety to fill the new lath house were arranged in another room and presented to Mrs. Rutherford at the close of the party by Shirley Sue Stahler, small daughter of the home. Mrs. C. M. Deakins and Mrs. V. E. Grace joined Mrs. Stahler in hostess duties.

Pastel candles in crystal holders centered the small tables at which guest played garden guessing games. Corsage bouquets, harmonizing with the color of the candles and placed at the base of the holders were favors for each guest. At the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Deakins read a garden poem revealing the motif of the party to the surprised honoree.

Guests were Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. E. E. Boudinot, Mrs. W. W. Crosier, Mrs. Grace Crosier, Mrs. F. King Joslyn, Mrs. W. A. Kirk, Mrs. S. A. Meyer, Mrs. B. Moeller, Mrs. Earl Morrow, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. H. Cardoza Sloan, Mrs. Lew Wallace, Mrs. A. H. Wilson, Mrs. Winifred Young, Mrs. G. C. Conklin, Mrs. Addie Haugh, Mrs. Evan Jones, Mrs. S. W. Blackbeard and Mrs. H. W. McCullough.

TIME NOT ARRIVED TO DISCARD SOIL

Although we read with interest accounts of plants grown in tanks of water, or beds of sterile sand or cinders flooded at intervals with nutrient solutions, the experienced gardener knows that gardens must always be grown in soil.

A garden is more than a place where plants are grown. It is a decoration of the earth; it beautifies the home surroundings, it recreates the splendor of nature, which civilization has destroyed. To accomplish this with tanks of water would obviously be impossible.

While experiment may seem to raise up doubt as to the need for careful soil preparation, since plants can thrive without any soil at all, there really is no such doubt. The functions of the soil are well understood; and the success of any garden is still dependent upon how well the soil is prepared to perform its functions.

What does soil do? It stores the plant food upon which the plants must draw as they grow. It serves as reservoir of water, which dissolves these plant foods and carries them to the roots and thence to the structure of the plants. It provides an anchor for the roots, enabling the plants to stand upright and resist the attacks of wind and rain.

Two qualities of soil which are important are its texture, or "friability," and its fertility. The latter can be corrected easily by means of the modern commercial plant foods. Texture is chiefly a matter of coarseness of particles. A friable soil is free from clods, but at the same time has particles that are fairly coarse, permitting air to penetrate, excess water to run through quickly, and roots to expand with no resistance. Such a soil is easily spaded and cultivated.

Clay is composed of fine particles, too compact, too retentive of water, and too much inclined to harden and crack as it dries. To coarsen it, pulverized limestone is the best material, added in liberal quantities. Large amounts of sand, or fine cinders may be added with benefit. Lime, like the limestone, causes the clay particles to collect in larger grains, and makes such soil more friable.

Humus is still important in soil. Humus makes the soil spongy and retains water without creating bad drainage. It should be added to soil by any means at one's disposal, through decayed manure, peat moss, as the farmer does, by turning under crops of clover.

Plant breeders are rapidly eliminating the core from the carrot and the zoning from the beet. Long ago the string was bred out of the bean.

Subsistence gardens should grow lots of beans; this crop produces more nourishment per square foot than any other.

NEW YARD IS WELL PLANNED

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin have completed a new grill in the back yard of an equally new home at 2309 North Flower street. The grill is supplied with a number of handy ledges that also form an attractive architectural feature for the out of door fireplace.

An orange tree, just now particularly bright and sparkling and all washed by winter rains, forms a green and gold curtain between the fireplace and a palm thatched arbor which latter will be used, at least a part of the time, as a lath house. A circle of dirt about three feet in diameter has been left in the center of the back yard for a tree of some sort which is to be selected when Mr. and Mrs. Martin have decided on the variety. The rest of the area is paved with red cement.

The Martins want a tree which will furnish shade, but not too much shade, one that is clean and graceful and that will not be too bushy at the base.

The back yard of the new home is not alone in attractiveness. The red brick walls at the north side of the driveway, the aviary on the south side of the house, the small walled off front garden all have been well planned and conform to the architecture selected for the house.

Former residents of Anaheim, the Martins were greatly interested in plantings about their home in that city. They brought a number of their shrubs from their home there to the new home here. Included in these are several birds of paradise plants.

Planting Calendar

FEBRUARY

Vegetables—Seeds of artichoke, asparagus, beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, egg plant, endive, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, mustard, onions, onion sets, parsley, parsnips, peas, peppers, potatoes, radish, rhubarb, salsify, spinach (summer) squash, Swiss chard, tomatoes, turnips.

Flowers—sow seeds in open ground: abronia, acrocinum, African daisy, alysium, amaranthus, anagallis, anchusa, arabis, arctotis, bartsia, brodiaea, calendula, calliopsis, candytuft, centaurea, cheiranthus, clarkia, early flowering cosmos, California poppy, cynoglossum, dahlia, godetia, gypsophila, hennemannia, ice plant, larkspur, letosiphon, linaria, linum, lupines, mignonette, nasturtium, nemophila, nigella, Australian pea vine, phlox, poppies, reclus, scabiosa, schizanthus, sweet peas, venidium, Virginia stocks, wildflower mixture. Sow in seed flats: agathes, ageratum, alonsoa, aquilegia, asters, begonia, bellis perennis, calceola, corydalis, dianthus, delphinium, dianthus, digitalis, gaillardia, geum, hollyhock, impatiens, lobelia, myosotis, pentstemon, petunia, platycodon, salvia, shasta daisy, statice, stocks, thunbergia, verbenas, viola cornuta.

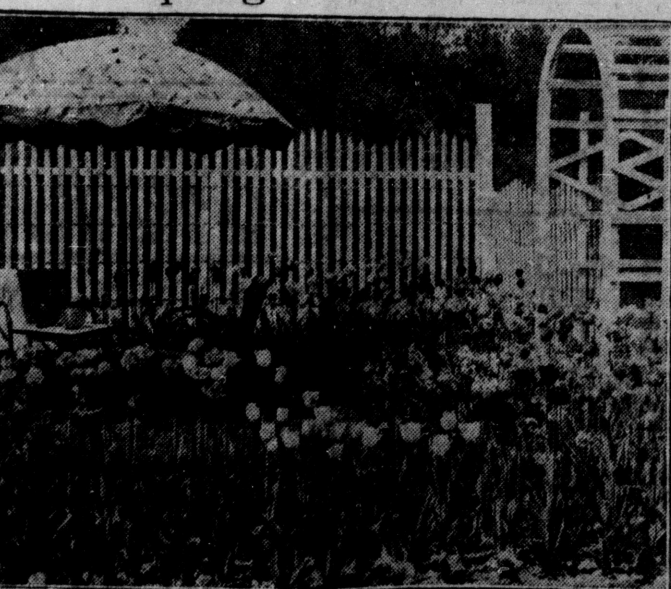

Bulbs of amaryllis, canna, gladiolus, liliums, tigridias, tuberos, tuberos begonia, zephyranthes.

IS GARDEN CLUB HOSTESS

COSTA MESA, Feb. 3.—Costa Mesa Garden club members will be guests Tuesday of Mrs. George Rehme of Tustin avenue. New officers, headed by Mrs. Raymond H. Hill as president, will be in charge of the first time.

A brief program and business meeting will follow the noon covered dish luncheon.

"A Spring Time Garden"

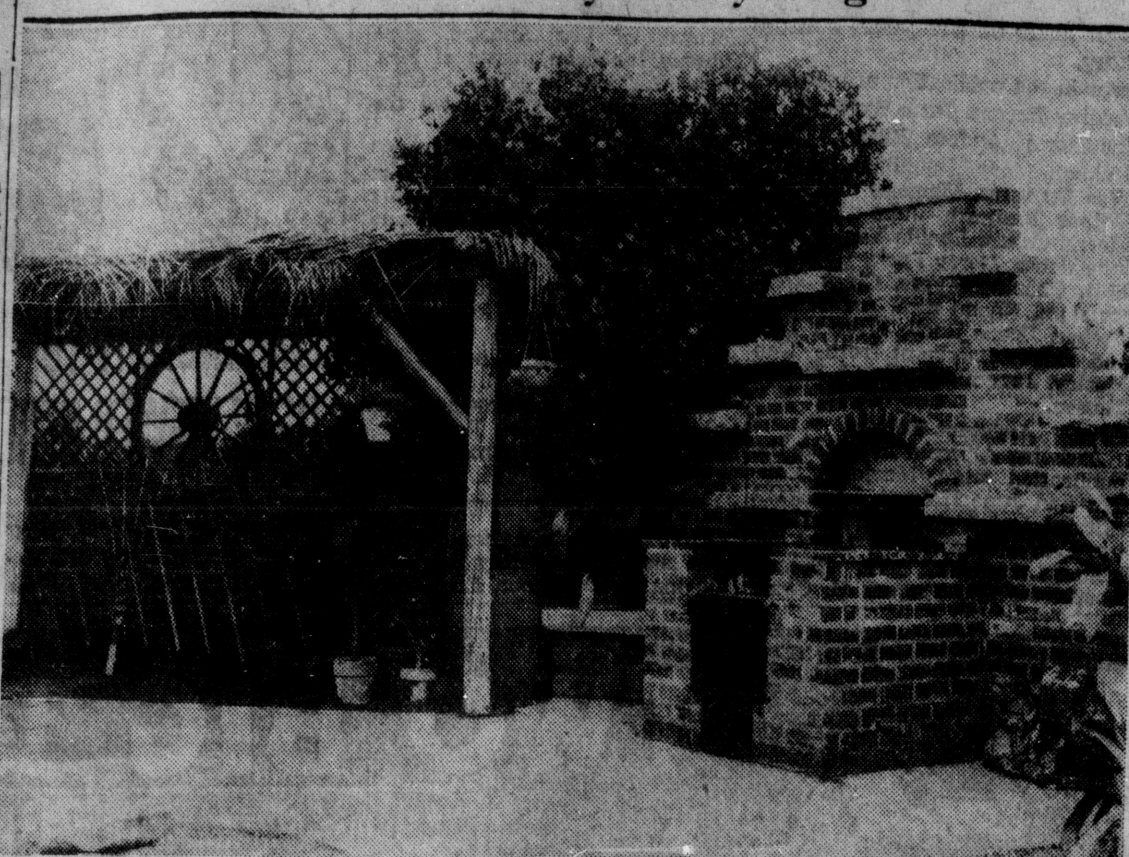

Work earlier in the year has provided this lovely carpet of tulips for this spring garden. A color plan definitely carried out gives better results than a hit or miss planting although with tulips, attention to color grouping is not so much needed to avoid unpleasant combinations, as it is to lend enhanced beauty to the planting.

TULIPS FURNISH LOVELY CARPET

Color scheme planting with tulips is quite possible and striking effects may be obtained by grouping contrasting colors. There is no flower family with which attention to color grouping is less important although contrast grouping makes lovely varieties seem lovelier still.

A mixture which is accurately balanced, containing exactly the same number of bulbs of each color, evenly placed throughout

Grill Has Many Handy Ledges

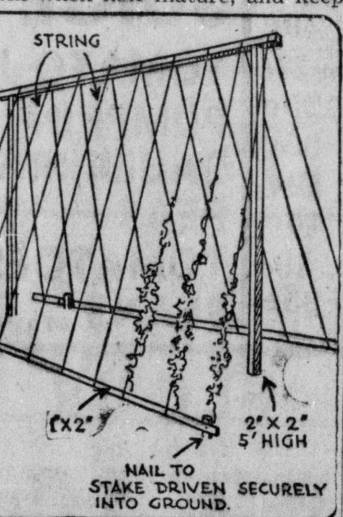

Just completed, the grill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, 2309 North Flower street, is in readiness for cooking out of door meals. The grill is built of brick with stone trimmings and has an oven and all of the most modern features. No lovelier place for summer suppers can be imagined than the brick-walled back yard at the Martin home.

GROW BEANS IN THE AIR

Pole beans are the heaviest yielders of the family, and in the small garden will give more food for the space occupied than any other crop.

They are later in season and more tender than the bush beans. They should not be planted until the weather is settled and the ground warm. Plant six to eight seeds in a hill, and thin out to the four strongest. The hills should be two feet apart.

The secret of quality and abundant yield in pole beans is to pick them when half mature, and keep Poles, with strings for support, will increase yield of beans in small space.

The vines picked clean. The Kentucky Wonder is the favorite variety. It will produce pods ten inches long, if you wish, but these pods will have strings. If they are picked half grown the strings will not bother and the quality will be much better.

The illustration shows a simple way to make a tent of pole beans. The string upon which the vines climb should be fairly heavy, other-wise it may rot and let the vines fall when they are producing well. Copper wire, which does not rust, makes a good support for beans.

Through The Garden Gate

With MARAH ADAMS

Did you notice the clouds Wednesday?

Great billowy masses of white journeying across the bluest sky of the winter. Castles and turrets, vast pillars topping over to form figures of fantastic or of stately beauty.

Soft, fleecy clouds that seemed especially made for a playground for the plump and dimpled cherubs who play along the airways of the sky.

The blue-black of the mountains east of Santa Ana seemed darker by contrast as the snowy clouds drifted overhead and centering the low range stood the twin summits of old Saddleback crowned with unaccustomed white. Soon far the flowers will push their way upward toward the sun.

It is the amazing miracle—the way plants spring into being with but the slightest opportunity. Wherever there is a crack in a pavement tiny seeds germinate, running a ribbon of green in the crevice. Growth is the seedling's watchword—to grow just where it is, whenever, however it can.

The march of the jungle. Silently in the short space of a few months it will obliterate a village. Given a few years, it will wall in a great city, smother it with vines. The jungle may be driven back but it stands ever watching for the opportunity to take its own again.

Within a comparatively short distance are cities that the jungle hid and kept hidden for centuries—the ancient cities of mystery in the jungles of Yucatan.

The north canyon wall at Boulder dam is warmed each day by the sun. Cut straight and sheer by the hand of man but a brief period has passed since the wall was devoid of plant life. Now little bushy plants have taken root in a number of crannies. Far above the swirling water of the Colorado river on its way "to make the desert blossom as the rose," these plants are making a determined effort toward the survival of plant life.

One of the most interesting "plant movements" in the state is being completed. It is the transplanting of the world-famous rose garden of the Rev. George M. A. Schoener at Santa Barbara to the University of Santa Clara campus. The Rev. Mr. Schoener recently was transferred from Santa Barbara to Santa Clara and took with him his 5000 rare rose bushes from all parts of the globe.

The pastor is known as the "Padre of the Roses." He is 75 years old and he personally supervised all of the transplanting operations, watching the ground preparations and pruning. The padre has succeeded, it is said, in producing a jet black rose, crossing two red roses to gain the result. He has seedling roses 40 feet high, roses so small that a cluster looks like a single blossom, roses nine inches in diameter.

The padre also has crossed a rose with a Spitzenberg apple, producing a fruit with a faint rose flavor. His roses are so hardy that he pays little heed to spraying or weeding. The roses have been grown at Santa Barbara for many years.

California wild flowers will be sold across the counters this

There are white Darwins and varieties almost black. A white and black planting, such as White Lady and Tulpe Noire, is pleasing, though one might think otherwise. The violet purple Faust and a bright pink such as Princess Elizabeth, makes a beautiful combination. The pale pink Clara Butt is set off by the pale lavender of Dream. An infinite number of such combinations can be figured out of any good list.

WHAT TO PLANT NOW IS TOLD

The talk given by John Vanduyke Manning at a recent meeting of the Senior Ebell Garden section is concluded with a list of plants which may be set out at the present time with advantageous results.

"The blooming season for azaleas is just beginning," Mr. Manning points out. "The best azalea for this section are the Indicas and the Rutherfordinas. Some of the best of the new varieties are Madam Vandercroosin, Alice W. Muller, Paul Shaume and Albert and Elizabeth. One should watch for suckers and be sure to remove them because they take the whole strength of the plant."

"Other plants to think of just now are the cassias. They make wonderful winter color. They have come to us from Mexico and South America. Some of the best varieties are the Splendida which will bloom at Christmas time, the Tomentosa and the Artemesoides. The Nairobenensis is the one that has the stiffest spikes and is a beautiful yellow color."

"Then, of course, there are the fuchsias. They are always nice and can be used most any place, depending upon the type. There is the low bushy type, the tall and the trailing, or the basket type. The Heaths are also nice if you can get them to grow in this locality. They require the same soil content, an acid one, as azaleas, but they like the sun. All of these plants come from South Africa."

"The hardest variety is the one commonly called Scotch Heather. This plant should be pruned after flowering just enough to cut away the dead flowers and shape the bush. The Sutura grandiflora is also an import from South Africa having lovely bluish-lavender flowers nice for cut bouquets. It likes the sunshine and should be pruned back between blooming seasons."

"The newest trend in growing trees is called espalier, adapted from France and England where space is so crowded. It is trained against a wall and trimmed so that the tree is flat. If one can keep the shrub branches either horizontal or vertical a very interesting pattern can be formed. The evergreen flowering pear is especially nice for this. The locust and magnolia can also be trained in this fashion. The pyramantha is also nice for espalier; the yunnanensis graber is especially good. Formosana splendens is alright but will not be so flat. Bottlebrush is interesting when trained in this manner, also the magnolia. The Stellata is the most showy type."

BITTERSWEET IN A FLOWER SHOP

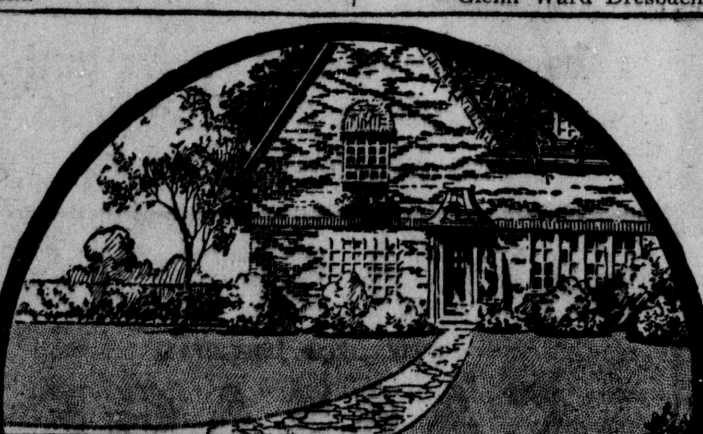

The bittersweet was not to sell in its blue vase upon the shelf. She paused, among the flowers, to tell how she had found it... for herself.

A woodland lane, the first rail fence That she had seen since she was young! And while she watched there, still and tense, These little glowing lanterns swung.

She gathered slowly—such a few And she has placed them here apart... Enough to light the Winter through And warm some memories in the heart! —Glenn Ward Dresbach.

Anyway the whole world is garden-minded right now. Garden catalogs fan the fever. Nurseries are besieged with anxious questioners and buyers. Baby plants are being adopted into new homes and may they all live and grow and flourish—every tiny one of them.

YOU MAY NOT KNOW—

—That Bill Cole, new Saint football coach, will be in town for a few days next week. Mrs. Cole and the kiddies are driving down to prepare for the arrival of the stork. Bill will go back to Oregon until April 1....

—That Khayyam, Urban Plav's "Santa Ana horse," was the first steed Bing Crosby ever owned. The crooner lost him in a claimer. Khayyam is just about the ace of Plav's stable now. Tornillo either has gone back or just doesn't care for the Santa Anita track, and Urge Me hasn't improved as expected. Khayyam, however, has run gamely in all his starts, despite several miserable rides. Rumor hath Plav putting his string in care of a new trainer....

—That Santa Ana jaysee has a new sprinter named Ralph Metcalf, certainly an inspiring name for any runner. The Dons' Metcalf, however, is not colored like the great Marquette speed merchant. He is a nephew of D. K. Hammond, director of the college, and registers from Sutherland, Neb.

—That after to these many years our old sidekick and friendly rival, Paul Wright, has "gone Fullerton." Now sports editor of the Fullerton News-Tribune, Paul reveals in his first column that "although a graduate of Santa Ana jaysee, from now on we'll be pulling for Fullerton." Paul, Paul, why persecute thou me!....

—That Riverside jaysee, like Santa Ana, picked up some promising new track talent at mid-term. Enrolling were Long Beach's Bill Van Leuvan, California state prep champion at 100 yards last year; Conrad Smith, of Coachella, Riverside county shot and discus champ; Warren Chupp, 2:01 half-mile from Riverside hi, and Clarence Mackey, star broad-jumper from Watts. Returning also were Bryant Allen, Hovess Bess and Finley Culpepper, veteran sprinters....

—That Art Nunn of Fullerton jaysee has an outside chance of landing the basketball coaching job at U. C. L. A. There's no question but that Nunn knows the answers on the hardwood....

—That the six-six White twins of Fullerton can now be told apart. Bob had a tooth knocked down his throat in a basketball game the other night; he doesn't look quite as much like Brother Bill now.

GALENTO TO FIGHT BROWN IN DETROIT

DETROIT (UP)—Tony Galento, to retort New Jersey saloon-keeper, and Natie Brown, Washington cocktail lounge proprietor, met in a 10-round main event at Olympia tonight, a bout two-ton Tony hopes will bring him nearer a match with Joe Louis.

Tony claims he'll "moister dat bum" Brown soon after the first going. Brown is sure the fight will go the route and that he will get the decision.

The two have met twice previously. The first time the human beer keg won a decision and the second time he knocked Brown out.

PECAROVICH TO COACH LOYOLA FOOTBALL TEAM

LOS ANGELES. (UP)—The signing of Mike Pecarovich of Gonzaga as head football coach at Loyola university was announced today. He accepted a three-year contract.

Pecarovich succeeds Tom Lieb, who resigned last fall in the face of alumni and undergraduate criticism. William Sargent, who has been coach of Loyola high school, was appointed his assistant.

The Loyola athletic board of control, in making the announcement, said Pecarovich had been released from his Gonzaga university contract. He has been head coach there seven years.

Pecarovich played guard, end and quarterback in his undergraduate days at Gonzaga. He received a bachelor of arts degree there in 1922, a law degree two years later, and another of doctor of jurisprudence from Loyola in 1928.

Dear Diary May Be Destroyed At Santa Anita

SANTA ANITA.—(UP)—Dear Diary, winner of the $10,000-added California Breeders' Stakes in December, broke an ankle in a workout and may be destroyed, it was revealed today.

The filly, owned by Neil S. McCarthy, is a daughter of Tick On. Efforts are being made to save her but a similar accident forced the destruction of Mr. Blaze several weeks ago.

Dear Diary's earnings in 1938 were $14,700.

ADMIT LONG BEACH TO NATIONAL LOOP

Joe Rodgers' new Long Beach team had a franchise in the National Night Ball league today and was assigned an opening game at home, Tuesday May 9, with Huntington Beach.

Long Beach was voted into the circuit at a meeting of managers in Anaheim last night. Brea, through Managers Joe Neuls and Virgil Kiger, announced its withdrawal. Brea found the competition a little too keen in the big-time wheel and stated that it found difficulty in fielding a representative club.

At present, eight teams are in the race. They drew for opening games with the following results: Santa Ana at Orange; Anaheim at San Bernardino; Irvine at Whittier; Huntington Beach at Long Beach. They will play a 14-week schedule, followed by the annual Shaughnessy series.

Ben Gelker was recognized as Anaheim's new manager, although his deal with the Anaheim council has not been finally ratified. Horace Snow represented Santa Ana and stated officially that the Stars would be back in the league.

President Jimmie Heffron was instructed to interview Los Angeles officials with a view to having National league teams admitted to The Examiner's annual Southern California tournament.

COLLEGE PROTESTS SIGNING OF YOUTH

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(UP)

—Angered at losing his star pitcher to a major league baseball club, Ralph Young, athletic director at Michigan State university, today asked Commissioner K. M. Landis for a ruling on the practice of "luring youngsters from college diamonds before they finish their education."

Young cited the case of Glen Rankin, 19-year-old hurler, who in his junior year quit college and signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians.

"What can college baseball expect from major leagues in the future if this sort of thing continues?" Young asked. Baseball Coach John Kobs, who joined the protest, suggested a ruling to prevent big league scouts from signing players until they finish school. Young answered a statement that Rankin left school because he was behind in his studies by exhibiting the pitcher's report card showing a "C" average last term.

Yanks Are 'In' But Joe Won't Admit It

By LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Joe McCarthy qualified for a blue ribbon in managerial modesty today when he refused to come right out and pick his New York Yankees to win the 1939 American league pennant.

The refusal, however, can be attributed to genial Joe's retiring nature rather than his true feelings, for in the next breath he said that the Yanks would be stronger.

And if the team that outstripped the league by 9½ games and bludgeoned the Chicago Cubs four straight in the world series comes up with a stronger lineup this year, who is going to stand in their way of a fourth consecutive pennant and world championship?

McCarthy, here to receive the outstanding achievement award of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' association Sunday night, named Boston's Red Sox as No. 1 challenger "with Detroit and Cleveland right behind them."

McCarthy expects the Yanks to be stronger because the youngsters like Joe DiMaggio, Tom Henrich and Joe Gordon are bound to improve with more experience.

"DiMaggio should be a much better player if he goes through the full training season," he said. "Don't forget he hasn't started the season with us yet. A burned foot kept him out his freshman year, he had to have his tonsils taken out in 1937, and he was a holdout last year. Gordon and Henrich will be surer of themselves and should do even better than a year ago."

McCarthy was not in the least worried about Lou Gehrig's coming up with a good season. "Lou had what some people call 'a bad season' last year," he said, "but it was only a 'bad season' for Gehrig. Plenty of first basemen would like to have a few 'bad seasons' like that. He drove in more than 100 runs, didn't he?"

He was not overly disturbed about Pitcher "Spud" Chandler fracturing his right foot, because he figured the Yanks had enough pitching talent to hold out until the injury heals.

"I'm expecting Oral Hildebrand to be a consistent winner," he said. "He pitched better than 500 ball for the Browns last year, and he's going to be working in a bigger park in front of a better team this year. If Gomez, Ruffing and Pearson go as well as they did last year, I can't see a lot to worry about."

A horseman mellow with the years,
Or he grows hard and wise—
But Hawkeye dwells in stratospheres,
And sees with many eyes!

"Influenced by none, but influencing all," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf, "impartial and unalterably right," he concluded modestly.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most undeniably so, as attested by one and all. Yesterday was merely another of those rare exceptions which but prove the rule when his astute plays, Airacuda and Brand Manitou, failed to score.

The astute play for today: $2 straight on Top Man in the third; $2 straight on Smart Crack in the sixth.

The financial standing:
Original bankroll $250.00
Bets won 24

Phoenix Tourney Opens With Pro-Amateur

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(UP)—The amateurs had their day with the professional golfers today in pro-amateur best ball matches preparatory to the $3000 Phoenix Open tournament which starts tomorrow.

Fifty-two pro-amateur teams were entered. Fred Corcoran, manager of the Professional Golfers' association, tournament bureau, announced a new PGA ruling would be put in effect for the meet to prohibit practice by the contestants before teeing off in the matches.

Don Cagers Move To Grove For Long Beach Game

Forced out of town because of schedule conflicts at Andrews gymnasium, Santa Ana jaysee goes to Garden Grove tonight to play the undefeated Long Beach Y. M. C. A. quintet at 7:30. It will be a final tuneup for the Dons, who meet Pomona Monday in an Eastern conference game postponed from this week.

Coach Bill Cook will start Hall and Deardon, forwards; Schildmeyer, center, and Heinisch and Tway, guards. Larry Monroy, regular guard, has been on the shelf all week with poison oak and may not be ready for the Pomona contest.

CASTELL SIGNS TO COACH AT ARIZONA

TUCSON, Ariz.—(UP)—Miles W. Castell, assistant coach at Michigan State college, today accepted an offer of the University of Arizona to become head football coach. He wired that he was resigning immediately from his present position.

The new coach will arrive in Tucson before March 1 to open spring training drills.

Lou Zarza, former player at Michigan State and coach at Washington high school of East Chicago, Ind., was named Castell's assistant.

Tonight's Games
Riverside at Santa Ana; Redlands at Pomona; Chaffey at San Bernardino.

Definitely removed as a titular contender but still eying second or third place, Santa Ana's Saints start down the home stretch tonight in Citrus Belt league basketball.

The high school quintet has four more conference games, three at home. The Saints open the second half schedule at 8 o'clock against Riverside's Bears; then meet Pomona, San Bernardino and Chaffey. Pomona is the only "away" game.

Coach Joe Kogler thinks his club has a chance to sweep the remaining schedule, even the finale with Chaffey's undefeated Tigers. Riverside drubbed Santa Ana, 39-33, on the first swing around the circuit. The Bears hit the mesh with amazing accuracy in the first half, leading 14-4 in the first period and 20-14 at the half. Santa Ana had the better of the second half, 23-19, but couldn't make up the lost ground.

With Gene O'Campo a mid-year graduate, Coach Kogler will start Bob Frias at forward tonight. Frias teams with Cap'n Dick O'Neill. Dick Brown, third in C.B.L. scoring, opens at center, with Maurice Young and Bill Hull guarding. Riverside probably will sit tight with a team that has broken even in four starts: Miller and Bushman, forwards; Johnson, center and Graham and Moyer, guards.

Sophomore cagers play the usual 7 o'clock curtain-raiser.

Bob Latimer of Chaffey is the league's No. 1 point-maker, followed by Riverside's Johnson and Santa Ana's Brown. The leaders:

FOX, BETTINA FIGHT FOR 'N. YORK TITLE'

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Tiger Jack Fox and Mellio Bettina fight tonight for the New York brand of the light heavyweight championship of the world, and if you believe what you hear, this one is going to combine the best features of the melodrama "Tribby" and rush hour in a Chicago slaughter house.

The odds favor Fox, a Negro of rather uncertain age who has not lost a bout in his last 17 fights and who won nine of them by knockouts, moreover, the odds on Fox are heavily influenced by the manner in which he emerged from a fight that will never appear in the record books. It seems that Tiger Jack went on an expedition to Harlem where, in the course of the evening, he encountered a dusky belle. They disagreed on some topic of current events—the issue of a British mandate for Iraq, no doubt—and she led with a razor. Tiger Jack's peerless footwork saved his life, and a few days later he returned to circulation, his wounds patched with twine and chewing gum, and announced he was ready to fight.

So tonight it's for the light heavyweight championship of the world—a world encircled by the borders of New York state. Elsewhere the champion is John Henry Lewis who put his name on a piece of paper not long ago and later learned, to his eternal sorrow, he had sentenced himself to fight Joe Louis.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK. It was sure to come. It always has. "It" meaning the proclamation by many, that Joseph Louis Barrow, heavyweight champion of all the world and undoubtedly the greatest piece of fighting machinery ever to come out of a Ford plant, is the greatest fighter the professional prize ring ever has known.

It was said of John L. Sullivan. It was repeated when James J. Corbett was in his prime, many insisted—and still do—that the "all time" honor belongs to Jack Dempsey.... and now they pass the floral wreath to Joe Louis.

Five years from now (give or take a year) they will be saying the same of Joe Dokes (whoever he may be) who will succeed Louis as heavyweight champion.

They always have. If we are to be guided by the past, they always will.

"Bob Fitzsimmons is the only champion I'd hesitate over when it comes to picking Louis the best of all time," said Kid McPartland. "A great ring general like Fitz who could roll his little freckled head under a lead, shift and drive a left to the heart that would paralyze his opponent, is someone to think about. He might bring Louis down, but I wouldn't bet my money on it. Not after remembering how Peter Maher went a dozen rounds with him a few years before Fitz won the title from Jim Corbett."

JEFFRIES DEFENDED MOST ON SIZE

"Corbett couldn't have hit hard enough to halt Louis, and if Fitzsimmons was able to hit Corbett I can see Louis do the same thing. Jim Jeffries' main stock in trade was his size and his ability to stand up under a punch, but he didn't have any more concrete in his chin than Max Baer."

"Jack Johnson would have been too busy picking off punches—his style wouldn't make much of a hit with present-day fight fans—and he wouldn't pick all of Joe's off. A half dozen fighters went 20 rounds with Johnson, but I doubt if any one of them could have stood up under Louis' smashes."

"I agree with you on Johnson," nodded Al Weill, well-known fight manager, "both as to how he would have gone with Louis and with the fight fans today. He was too much on the defensive style. Did you ever see anything more beautiful than the way Louis shifted his attack from the head to the body against Lewis?"

WOULD PICK JOE OVER SULLIVAN

"There was the tip-off right there," said McPartland, "that there's a lot more to Louis than his fine body and tremendous punch. I never saw Sullivan in action at his best. Jim Reagan and some who did, still insist that John L. was the greatest of them all. However, I sure wish William Muldoon was still alive to see the Louis we saw in his last two fights."

"I don't think Muldoon would have given Louis the worst of it against Sullivan," was the opinion of Arthur Donovan, foremost of present-day referees, "not from what I have heard my dad say of Sullivan. Dad, never more than a middleweight, got up off the floor after being dropped by Sullivan in the first round and then went on to outbox him in the remaining three rounds of their four-round contest."

But, ask the Boys from Missouri, whom did Joe Louis ever fight? They are of course speaking relatively. They refuse to admit that the Schmellings, the John Henry Lewises, the Bob Pastors and others of their ilk compare in any way to the competition former champions like John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney had to contend with.

The doubting Thomases prefer to wait until the present titleholder has written finis to his career before giving their stamp of approval or their negative shake on Joseph Louis Barrow.

Congress Asked For Nat'l Baseball Day

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. James A. Shanley, D. Conn., who thinks his three-year-old son is a potential Ty Cobb, asked congress today to create a National Baseball day.

Baseball, he contended, has saved the United States from the "excess prevalent among nations abroad" and deserves a place of honor on the calendar.

Shanley has introduced a bill in the house that would authorize President Roosevelt to proclaim June 12, 1939, a baseball holiday and to order flags displayed on public buildings "and other suitable exercises." This year is the 100th anniversary of the first game of baseball.

Support for Shanley's bill was expected from such congressional and government fans as Vice President John N. Garner, Postmaster General James A. Farley, and the President himself.

Shanley introduced his bill with a short speech, but in an extension of his remarks—to appear in the Congressional Record—he lauded the game that was first played in 1839 and now has reached the point where the New York Yankees win the world series just about every year.

"Baseball," he said, "best exhibits the American ideal of true sportsmanship, has contributed most to the development of the American temperament and has been the nation's safety valve."

"For a hundred years, it has been America's pastime and passion. For a solid century it has brought despair to Madville—Joy to Hiddletown. "Let all America rejoice and thank God this year for a game that for 100 years has built Americanism."

MARE GOOD IN SLOP: ESPOSA PROBABLY OUT

By TOM GWYNNE
(Register Track Correspondent)

Marica, one of the hardest-hitting mares the turf has seen in the last few years, is expected to rule an odds-on choice tomorrow at Santa Anita in the $10,000-added Santa Margarita Handicap—the season's classic for fillies and mares at a mile-an-a-sixteenth.

Despite her high weight of 127 pounds, Marica's position as favorite will be more solidly entrenched than ever because of the anticipated absence of her arch-rival, Esposa, who, it was reported yesterday, will pass up the race. Her trials since her slight shoulder injury three weeks ago have not indicated that she's up to a staff race at this distance.

Mud or dry, the 6-year-old Marica, the pride of Howard Oots, her trainer, and the joy of Tom Taggart, the French Lick Springs sportsman, will haul the fast mail. Her trials have been good and she should have no excuses.

Marica has achieved fame on the turf despite the handicap of a bad ankle, beating some pretty fair performers with weight up. Her ankle is a long way from her heart.

Bobby Dotter, a sensational apprentice here two winters ago, and who has guided Marica to virtually all of her major triumphs, will be in the stirrup irons tomorrow.

Patty Cake or the once brilliant Fair Knightness may provide the sternest opposition, but if Marica runs her race, she'll be rough to handle.

Other nominees from which the starting field will be drawn include Sweet Nancy, if it comes up mud, Primulus, Lanceover, Carvola, Parscourt, Real Clear, Flying Lee, Sumatra 3rd, First Kiss, Two Bob, Wild Turkey, Genie Palatine and Decuria.

No drastic changes are contemplated by the new racing board, it was learned today. The board met informally yesterday with Carleton Burke, deposed chairman, asking for advice, and planning to consult him often in the administration.

The consensus seems to be that Gov. Olson used good judgment in his appointments and that both Claude Parker, new chairman, and Edward Young, will measure up to the mark set by the past board. Henry Russell, third and holdover member, has the advantage not

News behind the news

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Mr. Roosevelt's health program has been caught in a legislative draft. Congressional doctors laid it quietly on their committee tables, opened both the windows and the door, and tip-toed out without saying a word. The chill imposed upon it will undoubtedly give it a cold which will incapacitate it for this session of congress—and possibly permanently. At any rate that is the current plan. Privately the doctors hope it will develop nothing less trivial than permanent double pneumonia.

Not that the legislators would mind spending the $850,000,000 (ultimate annual cost) if they had it. Not that they lack sympathy and a desire to aid anyone who is ill. They merely are skeptical about adding federal contributions to a budget too weak to stand the burdens already imposed on it; reluctant to create a vast new federal responsibility for illness, including maternity problems. Particularly they know that while the federal government, with its vast powers, can inflate the money to pay for health agencies and hospitals by some hocus-pocus or other, the states, lacking the power to create money, cannot in many cases make the necessary contribution to support the program.

The day may come when the federal government will add to its newly assumed duties by caring for all the sick including those with sore thumbs—but not this session and probably not next.

The reluctant legislators do not expect to incur White House disfavor for taking the realistic viewpoint. They noted the program was submitted for "study." Nowhere, either in the President's message or in the report of his interdepartmental committee, was a recommendation for an appropriation.

Also the report started out by saying:

"...The general level of health in the United States is higher than at any other time in its history..." And it might have added "or in the history of any other nation in history."

The Democratic federal government is doing possibly the best publicity job of its career in keeping Republican District Attorney Dewey from getting all the glory out of the scandals which keep bobbing up in New York, where it appears from New Deal publicity—Dewey just happens to live.

The Roosevelt medal for timing, if there ever is one, will unquestionably go to Attorney General Murphy this year. He scooped Dewey (who had been prosecuting the case before the grand jury for nine months by 24 hours in the original announcement on the Manton case. Murphy got into the public prints Saturday announcing he had the

County Turkey Growers To Hear Dr. Ethel McNeil

A meeting for Orange county turkey growers is planned for next Thursday evening. It will be held at the Orange county farm bureau office, 353 South Main street, Orange, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Ethel McNeil, who spent most of 1938 working on the obscure disease which has been causing mortality as high as 80 per cent in turkey poults, will be present to discuss the control of this disease. Dr. McNeil is a research worker in the University of California, veterinary division.

Newton To Speak
W. E. Newton, extension specialist in poultry husbandry of the agricultural extension service, also will be present to discuss feeding and general management practices for profitable turkey production.

This program should be of considerable help to local turkey growers and all are invited to attend, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

PUBLIC INVITED TO EYE BILLS

Legislative bills vitally affecting taxation, and Governor Culbert L. Olson's budget, will be discussed by Orange county's state legislators at a meeting next Tuesday in the Santa Ana junior college building, Tenth and Main streets, promptly at 7:30 p. m., with the public invited free of charge and given an opportunity to ask questions of the speakers.

Talbert to Preside
The meeting is being held by the Property Owners association, "Orange County Tax Council," with President Tom Talbert presiding, according to announcement of Secretary G. A. Raymer.

Senator Harry C. Westover of Santa Ana will devote a half-hour to Governor Olson's budget and senate bills affecting taxation while Assemblyman Clyde Watson of Orange, and Thomas Kuchel of Anaheim, will discuss assembly bills vital to the taxpayer's welfare, Raymer stated.

Urged to Attend
"Please invite your friends to be at this meeting," Raymer advised, "as every taxpayer in Orange county should be interested in the program. Questions from the floor should provoke constructive discussion which would be helpful in preventing higher taxes. This meeting will be the only public one in the county during recess of the legislature, to give an entire cross-section of taxpayers interests."

40 JURORS TO SERVE EARLY

The names of 178 Orange county men and women were selected by the three judges of superior court today for trial jury service in the court during the ensuing year.

At the same time, 40 of the group were drawn for service during the first quarter, the others being reserved for later quarterly panels. Those drawn today were not notified of the exact time to report for duty.

SGT. SAM D. TEEL AWARDED HIGHEST MARKSMAN'S HONORS

For distinguished marksmanship, Sergeant Sam D. Teel, local guardsman from Company L, 185th infantry, California National Guard, and head of the company's training section of small arms, has been awarded highest honors by the secretary of war, Washington, D. C., it was revealed today.

The secretary of war directed that two army rifle badges be issued to Sergeant Teel because of his winning a place as principal on the California National Guard Rifle team which competed in both the 1937 and 1938 national rifle team matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, First Lieutenant Leonard E. Echols, commanding Company L, declared.

Also Issues Badge
The secretary of war also directed that a Distinguished Marksman badge be issued Sergeant Teel for his skill in 1938. His credits for the resignation are as follows: Bronze medal, National Individual rifle match, 1937, and bronze medal, National Individual rifle match, 1938. The national matches, established by act of congress, makes regular service men, National guardsmen and civilians eligible for competition at Camp Perry, largest rifle and pistol range in the United States.

Outclasses Field
Sergeant Teel won a place on the California National Guard team in 1937 and 1938 and is eligible for 1939 competition. "His team completely outclassed all of a field of 72 combat squads except the United States infantry," First Lieut. Echols stated, "and even defeated this powerful team by winning the trophy and first place medals in the infantry match. The team has other outstanding wins 'under its belt'."

SCOUT COURT OF HONOR SET FOR TOMORROW IN FULLERTON

Kenneth E. Morrison, chairman of the Orange county council Court of Honor committee, announced today that plans have been completed for the all county Court of Honor to be held at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Fullerton union high school.

Morrison promised "the most entertaining and inspirational Court of Honor ever to be held in Orange county," with the public invited to attend free of charge.

With the large number of scouts to receive honors that evening, Morrison expects the auditorium to be filled to its 1500 capacity.

Anniversary Affair
This Court of Honor is to be a Boy Scout anniversary week demonstration. Throughout the 48 states beginning next Wednesday, February 8, scouts and scouters will celebrate the termination of the 28th year of scouting.

The outstanding awards to be made tomorrow evening will be the 17 Eagle awards, the highest rank a scout can achieve. These awards are made annually at the annual court. An effort is made to build the court of awards around these boys who have reached the highest rank in their Scout education.

Indians Take Part
The entertainment for the evening has been taken care of by district five committee which includes Kenneth Kessler, chairman, assisted by H. M. Bergen, Dr. Samuel Cortez, Dr. Glenn Curtis, Harold Peabody, Harry Williams, John Dougherty, and R. M. Seamans newly elected district commissioner. Kessler reports that the stage has been set for the Indian motif and a group of Indians from the Sherman institute will be well prepared in their part of the program. Bert Haven, Stanton; E. N. Hodges, San Juan Capistrano; Bertha E. Lytle, Henry H. Tartsch and Marjorie Peabody, of La Habra; Bertha Trickey, Tustin; Esther Smith and Emily M. McGavren, of Balboa; Mollie Fenelon, Newport Beach; William E. Homme, Brea; Lena B. Armfield, Los Alamitos; Nellie J. Moore and Leonard W. Ogle, Midway City.

Sergeant Sam D. Teel, above, local guardsman from Company L, 185th infantry, today had received word that the secretary of war paid him highest honors for his outstanding rifle shooting in 1937 and 1938 at Camp Perry as a member of the California National Guard team. Teel, holding his honors, won national individual rifle match medals in 1937 and 1938, national rifle team match, in 1937.

WALNUT GROUP MEETS FEB. 10

Many Orange county walnut growers will join other Southern California growers for their 21st annual institute to be held at Chino high school February 10 beginning at 9:30 a. m. The program will be of unusual interest and importance this season, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg said today. Both cultural and economic topics are scheduled for discussion.

Batchelor to Preside
Dr. L. D. Batchelor, director of the citrus experiment station, will preside at the morning session, and J. A. Smiley, West Orange walnut grower and chairman of the farm bureau department, will preside in the afternoon.

The program is as follows: 9:30 a. m., "Walnut Husky Fly and Red Spider Control," Dr. A. M. Boyce, citrus experiment station; "Farm Management Methods for Walnut Growers," C. C. Anderson, director, California Walnut Growers, association; "Economic Trends in the Walnut Industry," John B. Schneider, marketing specialist, college of agriculture; 12:20 p. m., lunch; 1:30 p. m., "Grower-Consumer Sales Campaigns," R. W. Doe, vice president, Safeway stores, inc., Oakland; "The Current Walnut Marketing Situation," Carlyle Thorpe, general manager, California Walnut Growers association.

All Growers Invited
All growers are invited to attend, regardless of marketing affiliation, says Rufus Porter, Fullerton, chairman of the local walnut department of the farm bureau. These institutes are conducted for the improvement of the industry and the farm income. They are conducted jointly by the farm bureau and the agricultural extension service.

ROWLAND, GUTHRIE GET NEW HONORS

Appointment of Vic Rowland as news editor and Franklin Guthrie as a night editor of The Stanford Daily at Stanford University was announced in Palo Alto.

Both Rowland and Guthrie, who were graduated from Santa Ana Junior college last June, were promoted from copyreaders positions. Over 60 appointments and promotions were made.

Start On Monday
The new appointees, who start work in their new positions next Monday, will retain their posts for the remainder of the academic year.

Rowland is a past editor of El Don, Santa Ana jaycee paper, and of the Willard Junior high school Echo, while Guthrie has served as a past sports editor of each of the same publications. Rowland became a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, at Stanford last

"This stuff smells phony"—that's the verdict of Representative Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., Main state legislator, who would make it illegal to add tomatoes to clam chowder. He blames infiltration of foreign ideas, charges "a Red plot to destroy cherished traditions."

Father Of 31 Jailed for Theft

LONDON, (UP)—When William Andrews, 69, was charged at the Kidderminster police court with stealing, through finding a purse, astonishment was caused by the revelation that he was the father of 31 children.

"This is the first time we have had a father of 31 children here," said the chairman of the bench. "I'm very sorry, sir," replied Andrews.

"Well, you are not charged with that," said the chairman. Andrews was fined $12.50.

STATE 5TH IN MILK RETURNS

The farm product supplying the greatest farm income in the United States is milk, with a value of more than one and a half billion dollars in 1937, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in a message received here today.

Cows Here Efficient
A report of the cash farm income from milk shows that California ranked fifth in 1937, being exceeded by Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania and Minnesota. But California cows must have been far more efficient than in most other states because 13 states had more cows on farms on January 1, 1938, than did California. That this is true is shown by the fact that the average production of the cows in California exceeded that of any other state.

The latest records showing milk production by counties are for 1936, when Los Angeles county led the United States. Merced county ranked seventh and Stanislaus county ranked 11th. This means that three of the 12 leading counties in the United States in farm income from milk are located in California.

Switzerland Leads
In average milk consumption, Switzerland leads with an average of 232 quarts. The United States is second with an average consumption of 153 quarts, which is only about one quart in every two and a half days. Great Britain and France average only 92 quarts yearly per person.

The consumption of butter per capita differs from the milk consumption record. New Zealand leads with 38 pounds, Canada is second with 31 pounds, Australia third with 29 pounds, and the United States seventh with only 17 pounds of butter consumed per person during the year.

Switzerland leads in per capita consumption of cheese, with an average of 19 pounds per person. The United States is 10th with only five pounds per person. Wisconsin leads the states in cheese production, with over 357 million pounds per year. California ranks seventh in cheese output.

Both luncheon and afternoon business and program meeting of Women's Missionary society of United Presbyterian church, were made doubly interesting Wednesday, by the presence of Mrs. A. J. Randles and Mrs. Harriet S. Boobyer, board members of the General Women's Missionary society of United Presbyterians of America, at Pittsburgh, Penna.

For the mid-day luncheon at which the two guests were formally introduced, women met in the church social rooms to enjoy the hospitality of Mesdames W. H. Stevenson, A. J. Lasby and John D. Rinard. Table decorations combined the valentine motif with that of February's patriotic birthday dates.

When the society convened at 1 o'clock, Mrs. J. T. Raitt led the devotional service. Mrs. Cora Torrance conducted the business meeting at which election of officers resulted in her return to the presidency with Mrs. E. C. Lukens, vice president; Mrs. D. P. McBurney, secretary; Miss Minnie Cowan, treasurer; Mrs. Stewart Kennedy, literature secretary; Mrs. E. H. Prince, temperance; and Mrs. A. E. Kelly, thank offering.

Mrs. O. S. Johnston as program chairman, presented Mrs. Boobyer, who talked on duties of the general board, describing each of the fifteen members and telling the individual responsibilities of each. Her own position is that of secretary of temperance and reform.

Mrs. Randles devoted her talk to describing their extensive travels, telling among other interesting things, of a visit to the Adairs, missionaries in the Sudan of Southern Africa, supported by the local society. Both women were warmly commended by Mrs. Torrance for the interesting messages they brought.

Evening of Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Terrell of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gill of La Habra Heights were joined Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, in enjoyment of the hospitality of the Earl Lepper home, 928 Louise street.

Place cards were in harmony with the marigolds shining from the table centerpiece at the dinner hour. Later the group played bridge with Mrs. Terrell and Mr. Mitchell making the two prize-winning scores.

Bachelorettes Elect

Bachelorettes elected officers and made initiation plans Tuesday evening when they met in the home of Miss Anna Towle, 1015 East Chestnut street. Miss Evelyn Groover was chosen president to succeed Miss Gladys Johnson. Others named were Miss Towle, secretary, and Miss Helen Crowther, treasurer.

Although initiation plans were discussed, no definite date was set for the rites. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS

Malcolm Richards left Tuesday for San Francisco after a three weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Richards, 816 French street.

Shower Of Bridal Gifts Is Dinner Party Sequel

Those Christmas Day newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dutton, who are now pleasantly established in Silverado Canyon, inspired a little family dinner party Wednesday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gutzman, 2073 South Broadway.

Sharing guest honors with them, were the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Michel of Rochester, N. Y., who are spending some time in the Southland, with Anaheim as their headquarters. At the conclusion of the dinner hour, the men of the group, including Eugene and Dennis Gutzman, sons of the home, left to attend a picture show, leaving the field clear for feminine plans.

Party Hostesses
For Mrs. George Krock and Mrs. Guy Koons were conspiring hostesses who wished to compliment the new Mrs. Dutton with a bridal shower. Marshalling their party guests, more than a score in number, they entered the Gutzman home by the back door, surprising the bride very completely. Guests were from Fullerton and Orange as well as from this city, and included with Mrs. Michel from New York, another easterner, Mrs. Fred Niethammer of Detroit, Mich., here as a guest in the Jacob Bayha home, 1043 West Eighth street.

All entered with zest into playing bunks, in which winners were Mrs. William Schimming, Mrs. R. F. Paulsen, Mrs. Jacob Bayha and Mrs. Emil Heinze Jr. Award of prizes introduced the shower phase of the evening when Mrs. Dutton was presented with gifts.

They were varied in nature, and included a handsome Canton linen banquet cloth, which several of the guests joined to present her. Mrs. Krock and Mrs. Koons had planned a pretty arrangement of snowdrops and greenery for the small tables at which refreshments were served to conclude the merry evening. Mrs. Gutzman assisted them at this interval as did the Misses Phyllis and Justine Krock, and others from the guest group. Mrs. Dutton, the party honoree, was Miss Dorothy Gutzman prior to her Christmas day wedding in Monrovia.

Place cards were in harmony with the marigolds shining from the table centerpiece at the dinner hour. Later the group played bridge with Mrs. Terrell and Mr. Mitchell making the two prize-winning scores.

Valentine Party
Mrs. W. L. Harbert observed a valentine motif in decorative details of a party at which she was hostess yesterday afternoon in her home, 1908 South Main street. Eight friends who assemble for frequent bridge sessions were guests at the affair.

Dessert was served at tables centered with red carnations and white stocks. During the bridge play which followed, high score was held by Mrs. Charles McDonnell.

ANNOUNCEMENTS
Ebbl Antique section members are entertaining lively anticipations of their field trip scheduled for Wednesday. For they are to visit Mission San Juan Capistrano, where promptness in arrival at the Mission gates at 10 o'clock that morning, is stressed. At that hour they will be met by Mrs. E. Coulter, Bowers Museum curator, with whom they will visit all points of historic interest in the Mission grounds, including old adobe buildings in which furnishings are in the manner of the originals, and are absolutely authentic. Following the tour, members will lunch together at the little Spanish cafe of the Mission Village. Those who have not yet arranged for transportation may telephone Mrs. Emil Wagner, 1754.

Phi Sigma fraternity will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock with Marvin Hinton, 816 North Ross street.

Ebbl Bridge section will meet Friday at 1 p. m. for dessert and card play in the clubhouse. Members unable to attend are asked to notify the secretary, Mrs. Williams Armstrong.

ORANGE PERSONALS
Miss Anna Granger, 312 North Glassell street, is recovering from injuries she received when she fell in her home last week.

The birthday of Frances Willard will be observed Tuesday by the Orange W.C.T.U. with a program and an all day meeting in the home of Mrs. Julia Goss who is 103 years of age and who has been a member of the organization for many years. Miss Elsie Goss will be hostess. Yaxettes for the Mexican mission are to be made during the day.

Club Will Meet In Long Beach

MIDWAY CITY, Feb. 3.—"Brittany Inn" in Long Beach will be the meeting place for Midway City Toastmistress club for the February club luncheon on Monday at one o'clock. Mrs. Harry Kingsbury will be Toastmistress of the day with speakers including Mrs. O. A. Mosher, Mrs. George Garrett, Mrs. Ray Finley, Mrs. S. A. Miller and Mrs. Lloyd Hough. Mesdames Robert Lowry, N. A. Nelson, Fred Foley, Lloyd Wright and Robert Hazard will act as critics. The table topics will be in charge of Mrs. R. R. Sues.

Pretty Wedding Occurs In Garden Grove

Santa Ana junior college friends of Richard W. Tritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Tritt of Orange, will be warmly interested in his recent marriage to a charming Garden Grove girl, Miss Betty Wentz, and their plans to establish a home in Santa Cruz after a month's honeymoon at Big Bear.

It was Saturday evening, January 28, that the young couple exchanged wedding vows at rites conducted in the Garden Grove home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wentz. The Rev. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of Garden Grove M. E. church, conducted the service amid a setting of flower and greenery arranged by Mrs. Lloyd A. Gowdy of this city and Mrs. Lee Tournant.

Spreading her dining table with lace, Mrs. Kurtz gave it a gay valentine effect with pretty red and white decorative details including the scarlet tapers that flanked a cluster of white hollyhocks. Climaxing the serving of a dessert course, was presentation of a graceful pottery vase to the birthday celebrant from the club members. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Kurtz won an additional gift by scoring high in a valentine game introduced by the hosts.

Gab and Stith members signed a cheerful greeting card to be sent one of their number, Mrs. William Plummer, now confined to her home by illness. They will meet again on Thursday, March 2, in the home of Mrs. William Kintz, 407 Wakeham street. Mrs. Phillip Perry was a special club guest yesterday.

Wisconsin Visitors
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pritchard, 2118 Greenleaf street, are entertaining as houseguests, Mr. Pritchard's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Frazier of Fon du Lac, Wis., who came two weeks ago for a several weeks' stay.

The visitors were joined by Mrs. Pritchard and her daughter, Miss Virginia Pritchard yesterday in a trip to San Jacinto. Miss Pritchard, a student at Occidental college, is home for a few days' stay. The Fraziers expect to take trips to many other Southland points.

THE MIXING BOWL
By ANN MEREDITH

Divinity Fudge

Boil to the hard ball stage:
2 cups white sugar
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup boiling water.
Beat until stiff:

2 egg whites.
Add to finished fudge:
3/4 cup chopped walnuts
3/4 cup sliced candied cherries, and
1 teaspoon vanilla.

The "hard ball" stage means a syrup boiled until it makes a crisp hard ball when dropped into cold water.

Slowly pour hot syrup into beaten egg whites, whipping constantly until smooth. Continue whipping until almost cold, add nuts, cherries and vanilla and spread an inch deep in a buttered pan. Cut in squares when cold.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fruit Dumplings With Cream

1 quart canned berries, put through a sieve

Add to sieved fruit, the juice of 1 lemon and a trifle more sugar.

Rice Dumplings

1 cup washed rice boiled in 1 pint skimmed milk until all moisture has absorbed, leaving rice soft.

To partly cold rice add:

2 tablespoons butter
Pinch of salt
1 tablespoon sugar

2 egg yolks beaten with 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

2 egg whites, beaten stiff.

Mix in order listed, folding the whipped whites into mixture last.

Have the berry juice hot and thickened very slightly with corn starch. Drop spoonfuls of dumpling batter into hot liquid and bake in a 400 degree oven about 20 minutes. Serve with thin cream and the berry sauce.

For an emergency, use this quickly whipped up batter, baking as directed for Rice Dumplings.

Sift 1 cup flour with 2 scant teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 3 tablespoons sugar. Whip 1 egg light and combine with 6 tablespoons milk and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Drop by small spoonfuls in hot liquid and bake.

Peanut Salad

1 quart finely shaved or chopped cabbage

2 cups rolled cracker crumbs

1 1/2 cup peanuts, put through grinder

Salt to taste.

Dressing

3 egg yolks beaten with 1/2 cup water and 1/2 cup lemon juice.

—Contributed.

Cook dressing over hot water, whipping constantly until thick. Cool and mix with salad. Arrange on lettuce and sprinkle with paprika.

Anniversary Pair Feted At Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parker, who were the bridegroom and bride at rites 48 years ago, inspired an anniversary celebration of charming detail early this week when Mr. and Mrs. Perry Grout were hosts.

The honored couple, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bell were dinner guests with the Grouts at a downtown cafe early in the evening. Returning to Mr. and Mrs. Grout's home on Fairhaven avenue, they found a group of 20 friends assembled for an observance which came as a pleasant surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

The hosts had arranged a charming setting for their hospitality. Especially effective were the white sweet peas and snowdrops which gave a bridal touch to the prettily-appointed dining room table. Angelfood topped with whipped cream was served at the close of an evening of games. Assisting were the Grouts' granddaughter, Miss Shirley Wade and Miss Fern Hill. Winning prizes in rook were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Braden and Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

The group joined in presenting Mrs. Parker with a pin signifying that she is a past president of Sarah A. Rounds tent Daughters of Union Veterans. Mr. Parker's gift from the party was a tie. He and his bride of 48 years are prominent members of Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans groups of this city. They were married in Eaton, Fayette county, Iowa, where they have a host of friends.

Party Hostesses Honor Easter Bride-Elect

Complimentary to Miss Bernadine Helberg, who at Eastertide will be the charming bride of George Huntoon, was a gay affair of Wednesday night when Mrs. William Knight and Miss Marjory Button joined as party hostesses in the Knight home, 1709 Spurgeon street.

Since a valentine theme was uppermost in all party details, it seemed highly appropriate to introduce hearts as the evening's diversion. Mrs. Earl Tissue and Miss Ruth Dunlap received first and consolation prizes. For the refreshment hour which followed immediately, guests were grouped around the dining table where red and white sweet peas decorated the valentine motif quite effectively. After the dessert course was served, the two score young people lingered at the table to watch Miss Helberg's enjoyment of the varied gifts contained in the packages placed before her.

Party Hostess Observes Valentine Motif

Suggesting the approach of St. Valentine's day were the attractive red and white appointments which Miss Florence Turner had arranged in her home, 706 Spurgeon street last night for a bridge club event.

Heart-shaped boxes of candy rewarded Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. Frank Lewis for their first and second high scores in bridge. Refreshments were served at a trio of small tables spread with valentine covers.

Sharing the evening with members was a guest, Miss Lorene Thurlow.

Out-of-State Guests Attend Club Event

Presence of a little group of out-of-state guests added to the enjoyment of a meeting of Worth-while club yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Ebersole, 118 West Nineteenth street.

The trio included Mrs. W. A. Jordan of Boston, Mass., who is spending the winter here; Mrs. Sally Lackey of Richmond, Ky., who is a houseguest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. George McKinney, 119 West Nineteenth street, and Mrs. Stella Drennen of Cottage Grove, Ore., houseguest of the Ebersoles.

Current events were presented during an informal program interval. Although this club group usually omits refreshments from its regular meetings, Mr. Ebersole surprised the guests and his wife as well by serving ice cream and cake.

Plans were made to hold a covered-dish luncheon February 16 at noon in the home of Mrs. C. F. Millen, 510 West Santa Clara avenue.

Dinner and Bridge

Members of a local bridge club went to Anaheim recently for dinner at the Marigold cafe, then continuing to the Cypress home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White for an evening of cards.

Winning prizes were Mrs. Leonard Ewbank, R. C. Terrell, Earl Lepper and Wilbur Gill.

Trinity Guild Affair Fetes Pastor's Wife

Not until she had received a corsage bouquet of camellias and listened to group singing of "Happy Birthday to You" did Mrs. William H. Schmook, wife of the pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, realize that she was honoree at a party Wednesday afternoon in the church assembly hall.

The occasion was a monthly meeting of Trinity Lutheran Guild. Special party features took place at the close of a business session during which various interesting reports were given. Climaxing event of the birthday celebration was presentation of an assortment of prettily-wrapped packages to Mrs. Schmook, who was surprised indeed.

Plum pudding, cake, cookies and coffee were served by a hostess committee.

More than a score of women of the congregation joined in planning the party. The Rev. Mr. Schmook was present to enjoy the compliment paid his wife. Another special guest was Mrs. Herman Shafer of Finleyson, Minn., a former school friend of Mrs. Schmook. Mr. and Mrs. Shafer are spending the winter in the Southland.

Birthday Affair

Mrs. Mable Brown's birthday anniversary was given a pleasant celebration early this week when her daughter, Mrs. James F. B. Richards was hostess in her home, 721 South Birch street. Eight close friends of the honoree were welcomed for an informal afternoon. Mrs. Richard served ice cream, cake and tea, using many flowers in decorating.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards are expected to return this weekend after a few days' trip to Bakersfield.

Eighty-five per cent of the shoplifters detected in England are women, most of whom are of middle age.

Bridal Theme Prevails At Pretty Shower

Members of a family group were assembled last night for a party on bridal theme, with Miss Carnelle Swain as inspiration for a pleasant hospitality in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Thomas E. Davis, 708 West Second street. Miss Swain and William Kennedy will exchange vows February 17.

The hostess' young son, Master Monte Davis, aided in receiving the 14 guests bidden to the affair. Mrs. J. T. Wool and Miss Blanche Cartmill provided the hollyhocks, jonquils and violets, which formed such charming bouquets throughout the home. On the buffet was a miniature bridal party composed of a smiling bride and bridegroom with attendants in bouffant frocks.

Early in the evening the honoree was presented with an assortment of packages. Announced as a miscellaneous shower, the affair yielded a number of personal gifts for Miss Swain.

Places at linen-spread tables were marked alternately with nut-cups topped with bride or bridegroom countenances. Bride salad and sandwiches were served with cakes.

Neighborhood Party

Mrs. L. V. Brown's home, 2217 Orange avenue, was scene of an informal affair early this week when she and Mrs. Howard McHenry were co-hostesses to members of a neighborhood group.

Three tables of cards were in play during the evening, which brought prizes for Mrs. Leonard Musick and Mrs. Spencer. Belle of Portugal roses centered the tables late in the evening when refreshments were served.

Hawaiian Music

Russell Thompson's studio resounded with Hawaiian music last night when he presented a group of 15 students in recital. Parents and friends of the young people were guests at the varied program.

A special feature was entertainment provided by Mr. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill, who played trio selections.

SATURDAY

Jimmie Fidler in hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—I received a sizzling phone call this morning from a very indignant clubwoman. She, it seems, is spokeswoman for 499 other club ladies, all of whom are just as indignant as she is. The reason for their ire is this: Maureen O'Sullivan, whose April engagement with the stork has been publicized to the ends of the earth, is currently, in spite of that engagement, gallivanting before the cameras for a new Tarzan picture. The ladies think it's darned poor taste. They're also disgusted by Hollywood's habit of making publicity capital of all expected nuptials months before they happen. Personally, I wouldn't be surprised to learn that a few million other women, having been trained to regard the birth of a baby as something sacred, private and peculiarly personal, share these convictions. I pride myself on being unconventional (it would be impossible to live in this town otherwise) but I must confess a shock when an actress who has announced months in advance that she's going to have a baby blithely continues work before the cameras. Incidentally, I'm flabbergasted when a star glibly remarks, as did one the other day, that she's "not going to have a baby after all" and that it's just as well because she's "getting more publicity by not having one."

It's really too bad all our stars and press agents couldn't have listened in on that phone call this morning. They would have gleaned two ideas: (1) that expectant mothers should stay out of the limelight; (2) that babies should be dressed in swaddling clothes rather than in printer's ink.

CUFF NOTES: Don't be too surprised if M-G-M decides to shelve that half-finished Hedy Lamarr-Spencer Tracy picture permanently instead of temporarily—something seems to be wrong but none of the insiders are telling. . . . It will be the Three Kellys from now on—Seven-year-old Karolee and five-year-old Jack Jr., are joining big-sister Nancy in pictures. . . . Add "Red Ryder" to your list of comic strip heroes being transferred to the screen—first picture in the series will be started as soon as casting is complete. . . . That Kane Richmond baby ought to be a luck-child—she weighed seven pounds and eleven ounces. . . . Blue pencil those untrums of a rift 'twixt the John Carradines—he's living in his Hollywood studio in the effort to sculpt enough busts for a promised one-man art exhibit. . . . Since that final round with his wife, Chester Morris is doing a hide-out— even the studio doesn't know his address. . . . The Doug Corrigan picture, "The Flying Irishman" will be released—you guessed it—on St. Patrick's day. . . . Looks like a comeback for flame-tressed Peggy Shannon—already set for a leading role at R-K-O, she's testing for the Belle Watling part in "Gone With the Wind". . . . That Joan Fontaine-Conrad Nagel romance is sub-zero—her current heart is John Howard. . . . It's time out by doctor's orders for Jack Holt—the flu bugs have got him. . . . Draw a line through reports that Andrea Leeds has replaced Charlie McCarthy on Edgall Bergen's knee—'tain't so. . . . It will be a South American honeymoon for Clark Gable and Carole Lombard—but soon. . . .

You hear a great deal about Hollywood's passion for authenticity in detail and little about its skill in creating illusions. I saw a perfect demonstration of that skill today on the "Rose of Washington Square" set. Tyrone Power, Al Jolson and Alice Faye were at the piano, singing "Jada," "Japanese Sandman" and other hit songs popular at the close of the war. Accompanying them was a chorus of young men dressed in what appeared to be the style of that period. But it was only an optical illusion. Their suits, shirts and shoes were as modern as aunchloss—only their high detachable collars and huge-knotted neckties were authentic. By learning that the audience is satisfied with that illusion, Twentieth Century saves about $25,000 in costuming bills.

BOOS AND BOUQUETS: Best picture of the week is "Gunga Din," which has a plus quantity everything—except an adequate story, which you'll never miss. . . . A laurel wreath to Cary Grant for a swell comedy performance in the same picture—and a special bouquet to Vic McLaglen for paying admission fees for 100 members of the Boys' club he sponsors. . . . best tempting title of the month: "Heaven With a Barbed Wire Fence"—readying for production at Twentieth Century-Fox. . . . A chiding boo to Master Mickey Rooney for forgetting that little boys should not make pests of themselves in night clubs. . . .

Mrs. Fayette Blower of Balboa was among the guests at the shower given recently at the home of Mrs. Elbert Blower in Santa Ana. Mrs. Wayne Garlock of Los Angeles, a former Santa Ana resident, was honoree.

Mother's Standby in Treating CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR RELIEVING discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. Its poultice-rub action relieves local congestion and helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.
FOR COUGHING and irritated throat due to colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, bathes the throat with comforting medication. Also massage on throat and chest.
FOR HEAD-COLDS "sniffles" and misery, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages.

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

CHURCH GROUP TO MEET ON SATURDAY

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Decorated with mural paintings of Mother Goose characters, the basement of the First Presbyterian church will offer an inviting setting for a party to be staged by the High School department of the First Presbyterian church at 7 p. m. Saturday. Games are to be in harmony with the Mother Goose theme. Ruth Niquette will direct a skit and Harold Stanley will lead the singing with Emily Joost as the accompanist. Songs, too, will be in keeping with the chosen theme.

During the evening the secret brothers and sisters of department members are to be revealed and the one who has done the most for his secret friend, will receive an award.

Refreshments carrying out the Mother Goose idea are to be served with Gwen Leininger as chairman of a committee in charge. Julia Ann Brandon is in charge of decorations and Bob McAulay will direct the cleanup. All members of the department are invited to share the event.

Mothers of Boy Scouts Meet

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Members of the Mothers' auxiliary of Troop 53, Boy Scouts of America, planned a benefit card party for March 17 when they met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Lester Hayes, 340 South Olive street, for a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. Hayes will be hostess at the card party, also. Her assistants will be Mesdames Burt Hodson, Amanda Seaton and C. A. Kirk. Proceeds will go to the troop.

Mrs. Daisy Proffitt read "The Fifth Boy" by Dr. Frank Crane as part of the program. Present were Mesdames Myrna Bailey, Alfred Grant, Joseph Scherman, Mary Stewart, Myrtle Kinsley, Daisy Proffitt, C. A. Kirk, H. Pritchard, Bernice Moore, Louise Shores, Burt Hodson, Lester Hayes, F. W. Schmidt and daughter Marjorie, Amanda Seaton and Mary Green.

ENTOMOLOGIST IN ROTARY CLUB TALK

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Roy Campbell of Pomona, government entomologist, was speaker at the Rotary club yesterday giving interesting facts concerning insects and their effect on mankind both from a beneficial and from an injurious standpoint. Campbell is connected with the United States station at Alhambra.

Campbell stated that insects are forms of animal life having six legs with their skeletons on the outside of their bodies and their muscles inside giving them greater muscular power than man who is fashioned in an opposite manner. Insects have not changed their forms since pre-historic ages, said Campbell.

Beneficial insects the speaker names as bees and silkworms, the latter so domesticated that they would not exist without man. Birthdays of M. M. Fishback and J. R. Bryant were observed. Frank Collins presided and E. E. Campbell acted as program chairman introducing his brother. A letter was read from Stanley Hunting who is ill at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital in Los Angeles, and who expects to return home next week. Ladies' night was announced for February 16.

Origin of Game Told At Meeting

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—The origin of basketball was told members of the 20-30 club Wednesday night by H. E. Chambers, basketball coach at the Orange Union high school, when the group met at the Sunshine Broiler with Don Parsons presiding and Joe Wilson Jr. serving as program chairman.

Two members of the school's basketball team, Arthur Hobson Jr. and Gilbert Liermann, were guests thanking the club in behalf of the team for a recent trip to Los Angeles where the U. S. C. California game was attended. Chambers stated that basketball is the only game that is a pure development of age-old ones. At first nine players were used on a side because there were 18 members in the class the game was invented for, but later this number was reduced to five on each side. Dr. James Naismith invented the game about 1891, said the speaker.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Mrs. J. R. Ropley Janssen (Mavis Campbell) and baby daughter, Mavis Louise, of Los Angeles, will spend the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Campbell.

Members of the Wesleyan service guild are to be entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Florence Nixon. A business session will be held at 7:30 p. m.

Last Rites Held For H. Loptien

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Funeral services for Henry H. Loptien, 89, who passed away Tuesday noon at his home on North Batavia street, were held yesterday afternoon, beginning with a prayer service at the Gilgolly funeral home. Rites at St. John's Lutheran church were conducted by the Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor, who spoke in German, and the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahl, assistant pastor, who spoke in English. German hymns were sung by the congregation, and the children's chorus of St. John's Christian day school sang "Nearer, My God to Thee," accompanied by Theodore H. Hopmann.

Palbearers were John Bosch, L. F. Bohling, Fred Struck, Ed Dierker, C. O. Heim and Fred Eckhoff. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery beside his wife, Mrs. Christine Loptien, who passed away in March, 1938.

Yo Ma Fo Class Holds Meeting

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Members of the Yo Ma Fo class of the Christian church gathered at the Y. M. C. A. this week for a merry evening spent playing old fashioned singing games. Hosts for the affair were the Rev. and Mrs. Myron Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dunlop.

Guests were attired in prints, slacks and overalls, games were under the direction of Mr. Cole with Mrs. Cole at the piano. Refreshments of doughnuts and coffee were served to Messrs. and Mesdames Hart Wayne, Curtis Dotson, Harry Daniels, Jerry Shryock, T. J. Seavy, Harding Ford, Sheldon Swenson, Harold Long, Mrs. Stephen Getchell, Miss Hazel Carr, J. D. Hayes, Charles Caldwell, the hosts and several guests.

A short business meeting was conducted by Hart Wayne, the president. It was decided to hold monthly meetings at the Y.M.C.A. on the third Monday of each month under the leadership of Myron Cole. The next regular social meeting is to be a progressive dinner with Mrs. Harry Daniels as chairman.

Wilson Services Held Thursday

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Last rites for William Wilson, 82, who passed away Monday evening at his home, 192 South Cypress street, were conducted at the Gilgolly funeral chapel yesterday morning by the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the Methodist church, where Mr. Wilson was a member. Harold Gorton sang "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross," accompanied by Mrs. Florence Donegan. Palbearers were J. F. Lewis, W. F. Easley, S. B. Edwards, L. L. Williams, J. H. Noble and C. C. Gullledge. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Entertains At Dinner Party

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Mrs. S. A. Goodwin entertained with a dinner at her home on West Palm-yrta avenue Wednesday, honoring several relatives who are spending some time in Southern California.

Present were Mrs. S. G. Mayar of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Cora Flinn of Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. Mabel Erritt of Lake City, Iowa; Mrs. Mary J. Ripley and Mrs. E. C. Frevert of Orange.

Eagles are trained to hunt game in Turkistan. Numbered among their kills are foxes, gazelles, goats, hares and wolves.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED AT PARLEY

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Walter Kletke named committees to serve for the coming 12 months at the first meeting of the year Wednesday of members of the Ladies Aid of the Immanuel Lutheran church.

Mrs. Herman Struck and Mrs. Anna Grieser will serve on the kitchen committee. Mrs. Louise Dittmer, Mrs. Martha Steeve and Mrs. Caroline Webbeking on the quilting committee. Those in charge of quilt blocking will be Mrs. Jacob Danner and Mrs. Oscar Klammer.

Mrs. J. F. Mueller, Miss Mary Bergemann, Mrs. Frederick Auer, and Mrs. Charles Mack will be in charge of missionary sewing. The friendship committee, to welcome visitors and call on newcomers, will include Mrs. Herman Struck, Mrs. Gustav Struck, Mrs. Andrew Meyer, Mrs. Jacob Danner and Mrs. J. F. Mueller.

Mrs. Herman Harms, Mrs. E. T. Pingel, Mrs. Martin Danner and Mrs. Victor Webbeking are members of the fancywork committee; Mrs. Lillian Hinrichs, Mrs. A. G. Edwards, Mrs. Albert Struck, Mrs. Louise Beam, and Miss Laura Webbeking, flower committee; Mrs. A. G. Webbeking and Mrs. Oscar Klammer, pianists.

Members decided to serve the Walther league spring rally dinner in April, with Mrs. Clara Loescher, Mrs. Herman Struck, Mrs. H. C. Schnackenberg, Mrs. Anna Grieser, Mrs. William Ruff, Mrs. William Braker and Mrs. A. G. Edwards on the kitchen committee. In the dining room will be Mrs. Martin Danner, Mrs. Herman Harms, Mrs. Victor Webbeking, Mrs. E. T. Pingel and Mrs. Julius Kusel.

The visiting committee for February will be Mrs. Louis Koth and Mrs. William Klug. The refreshment committee for the Sewing Circle meeting February 15, will be Mrs. Martin Danner, Mrs. John Funk and Mrs. Ray Bruce.

Hartmans Hosts To Girl Scouts

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hartman were hosts recently to members of Girl Scout Troop No. 2, when an early supper was served and an evening of games and work enjoyed. Girls in the troop are working on projects which will entitle them to merit badges. Miss Melba Estes is leader of the troop and Miss Barbara Wilbur is president. Officers present were Doris Franzen, secretary; Doris Brubaker, treasurer; Roberta Parks and Betty Smith, patrol leaders.

Other girls who shared the pleasant occasion were Margaret Carpenter, Dorothy Hartman, Betty Hartman, Barbara Ehlen, Rosina Roy and Barbara Smith.

"WHAT Wonderful Flavor" say Southern California housewives of

CUDAHY'S PURITAN TENDER HAM

"It's just like discovering a new kind of meat! When I first tasted Cudahy's Puritan Tender Ham it seemed too good to be true. Real ham flavor, yes, but tender, juicy, sweet. And so easy to prepare—baked, panfried or broiled. My ham dinners are a sensational success! I get the credit—but it really belongs to Cudahy's Puritan Tender Ham. Try a slice, tonight and see."

Surprise Party On Birthday

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 3.—An evening party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adamson, "A" St., Oceanview, complimented the host's brother, Clyde Adamson, who was observing a birthday anniversary. The party was a surprise and there were gifts for the honoree.

Games of Chinese Checkers and Monopoly and other games were played and prize awards for the evening went to Menford Borgeson and to the hostess, Mrs. Richard Adamson.

Punch, cake, cookies and jello were served the party toward the close of the evening. Present were Clyde Adamson, Oliver Adamson, the Misses Helen and Lois Adamson, Westminster; Miss Margaret Burry, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Ida Wright, Miss Irene Borgeson, Menford Borgeson, Miss June Lewis, Delbert Heffey, Costa Mesa; the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adamson and their young daughter, Carol Ann Adamson.

Anaheim Builds New Dog Pound

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—Construction of a new pound for homeless dogs has just been started in Anaheim. The previous dog pound was demolished by a truck on Christmas eve.

The new pound will be a concrete building with four runways, separate pens for sick dogs, heat and light and will be located about a mile north of downtown Anaheim. Fred Robinson of Anaheim will be poundmaster.

The former pound was located east of Anaheim on the Santa Ana river bank. Since its destruction in December, impounded dogs have been kept in Santa Ana.

Rev. Phillips To Speak Sunday

TUSTIN, Feb. 3.—The Rev. Charles L. Phillips, of Chosen, Korea, will be the speaker Sunday evening at the last of the meetings of the School of World Friendship at the First Presbyterian church of Tustin. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips went to Pyongyang, Chosen, in 1910, and are active in evangelistic work, Bible conference work and teaching. Mrs. Phillips has Bible classes for the country women and for the Japanese. The motion pictures following the message will be pictures taken

In Chosen showing city and village life and missionary work. Rev. Phillips will conduct a question period in regard to missions, the Japanese attitude and the shrine question. The evening service has tripled in attendance during the School of World Friendship and the Rev. Mr. Duncan is planning to announce a new course of study which will be equally attractive and helpful to follow the mission study. One feature which has contributed to the large attendance is the "get-acquainted" period from 6 to 6:30 p. m., at which time sandwiches, hot chocolate and coffee are served to all free of charge.

Bride-To-Be Is Shower Honoree

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—Miss Margaret M. Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Barry, who will become the bride of Oliver Adamson at a wedding in the Colonial chapel in Santa Ana, March 25, was the honoree at a red and white kitchen shower recently.

The hostesses were Misses Dorothy Criley, a student at the San Mateo junior college, and Charlotte Griffin and the shower was held at the home of Miss Criley's sister, Mrs. Ray Tower. The girls, all former high school friends, hemmed and embroidered tea towels. Games were played. Dainty refreshments were served.

Attending were Misses Helen Adamson, Janet St. Cyair, Viola Hanson, Marjorie Preston, Margaret Jones, Jean Tarbox, Lydia Elliott, Lura Rae Lockett, and Mmes. Walter Griffin, Tower, Hugh Criley and Barry, the honoree and hostesses.

ORANGE COUNTY POULTRY NEWS

"Where Night Never Arrives—"

Night never comes to the brooder house pictured above. It is electrically lighted 24 hours a day. Better chicks are the result, according to all hatcherymen who run such brooders. The chicks eat and drink much more and attain hardy growth faster in the lighted house according to reports from all over Southern California.

The mortality due to suffocation is reduced also because crowding is eliminated. This is a new poultry use of light which has been used for years in laying houses to prolong daylight and produce eggs when prices are highest. The size of the different pens for the baby chicks vary in capacity from 50 to 200 chicks. The use of Vitamin-content feeds corrects any use of sunlight so the chicks are in very good living quarters which are kept strictly clean.

TIMELY HINTS FOR BREEDERS

Joe Hildreth, the popular feed dealer on West Fifth street in Santa Ana, who has watched the baby chick growing for years, offers the following timely suggestions to the baby chick people of this area. As the chick season is starting these many good ideas are worth while knowing a few weeks before brooding.

Do not order more chicks than you have room for. Allow one square foot of floor space for each two chicks. Measure it. Have special room for cockerels. Crowding is the cause of much grief in brooding chicks every year. It frequently starts chicks to picking each other. It is one of the principal causes of colds, over-heating, chilling, uneven development, subnormal growth, and lifelong weakness. It assures heavy losses in case of the outbreak of disease, and often spoils the flock.

Need Room
Remember that a chick increases its weight about twelve times in the first six weeks. Far stronger pullets will develop from chicks that have plenty of room.

If your hover has a 500-chick capacity, it will be better to brood 300 with it. This is especially true since it is a common practice to brood "sexed" chicks where no additional room will be provided by taking out the cockerels.

A square foot* of space for each two chicks is not too much. A room 15 by 20 feet can handle 600 chicks. Plenty of feed hoppers and plenty of water fountains allow timid chicks to grow and prosper. Too few, frequently cause their death.

Group Chicks
The proper way to brood 5000 chicks is to carry them in separate groups not exceeding 600* to a group (300 to a group is vastly better) and to brood these 600 in a room whose floor space comprises 100 square feet. If you can't arrange to segregate...

AROUND THE YARDS with "Chick"

The Orana Poultry Market on South Main street is making arrangements for the enlargement of their plant so as to take care of their retail and wholesale trade.

Mrs. R. L. Baker of Buena Park has some of the nice colored reds that one likes to see when looking around for this kind of stock. Mr. Baker is busy with Mr. Lary Wright in the turkey business, as they have one of the large turkey flocks in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Peak who have a large turkey ranch near Buena Park have just bought a 40 acre ranch down by Hemet so as to move their large turkey flock there next year. They will still keep the retail place in Buena Park. The new ranch is three and one-half miles northwest of Hemet.

One of the most interesting hatchery men to visit with is Mr. Mang of the Mang Hatchery on N. Euclid avenue near Anaheim. Mr. and Mrs. Mang have just returned from Apple valley up near Victorville. While there they bought some fine turkey toms for their large turkey flock of the C. C. Lewis breeding flock. These toms weigh 28 to 34½ pounds and are the "Baby Beef Type." Mr. Mang told me that Mr. Lewis had 1200 turkey hens and had sold all his pullets out till June 25th. One order placed lately was for 2000 pullets for next spring or the spring of 1940. Mr. Lang has some of the most interesting results on crossing poultry to get a larger and quicker fryer and broiler. This will be written up in more detail later.

Last Saturday the writer had the pleasure of going to Hemet with Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Hayes, the new assistant Farm Bureau secretary, to attend the southern counties poultry meeting. Five of the six counties had delegates at the meeting. Three people from Orange county attended, Mr. Irving T. Hagen of near Hansen, Frank Jones of east 17th Street and Orange county.

As it flows along the Atlantic coast of the United States, the speed of the Gulf Stream is about five miles an hour.

There are upward of 250,000 house trailers for motor cars in use throughout the United States. In addition to her close to an egg-a-day record, the Bishop hen was of excellent standard quality and weighed 6.7 lbs. as a pullet giving her ample reserve capacity to turn out such a tremendous quantity of eggs. Her mother's official record was 303 eggs and her sire's dam 312 eggs.

Where possible, it is still better to divide chicks into groups not exceeding 100 each, and allow each chick one-half square foot of floor space. In this plan we step aside from the best recommendation we might offer, at intervals, because we don't want to ask more than you can or will do.

poultry chairman, and the writer. This meeting was very much interested in the new laws and the old laws that are coming up this year before the California General Assembly in regard to poultry. It shows that the Farm Bureau in the Poultry Department is on the job protecting the poultrymen of southern California and Orange county. All poultrymen should get behind this organization. It will be worth all the poultrymen's time to attend the next poultry meet which will be told about in these notes soon.

Tulare turkey raisers shipped more than 25,000 dressed turkeys to market for the Christmas trade.

A government hearing which started January 23 is now in progress and is considering evidence for establishing standards of identity for eggs, liquid whole eggs, liquid mixed eggs, frozen whole eggs, dried whole eggs, egg yolk, frozen egg yolk, and dried egg yolk. The hearings are being held in Washington, D. C. by the Department of Agriculture.

A study of egg income from 4475 turkey hens in Riverside county showed a net return of $3.90 per hen last year.

Unique Prayers Meeting Held

TUSTIN, Feb. 3.—For the past eight months, the First Presbyterian church of Tustin has conducted a unique prayer meeting each Tuesday evening. It is made up of college age young people and young married folks. They assemble for a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p. m., followed by a "sing" led by Kemuel Anderson, with Margaret Swan at the piano.

The Rev. C. A. Duncan, pastor of the church, leads the group in a half hour Bible study and the meeting closes with a circle of prayer or often a sharing of Christian experiences. An opportunity is also given for questions and discussion.

Charles Mueller is president of the group, Jack Gould vice president, Miss Marian Carson, secretary, and Miss Elaine McReynolds, treasurer. The following young people are members: Mr. and Mrs. Kemuel Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ebel, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lange, Mr. and Mrs. Dorothy Heil, Cora Thompson, Lauris Adams, Bill Bacon, Lloyd Ebel, Gene McCarter, Jack Gould, Merle Grist, Floyd Gorton, Lowell Dart, Elaine McReynolds, Gertrude Polard, Marian Carson, Lucille Lowder, Marian Custer, Dorothy Hoss, Charles Mueller, Bob Smith, Florence Nelson and the Rev. and Mrs. Calvin A. Duncan.

OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotson of "B" street, who have been at Coalinga for some months have moved their furniture there as Mr. Dotson expects his employment with the oil company to be permanently there. Miss Irma Dotson who has stayed at the family home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Piper since the family left, will remain with friends in Huntington Beach until the close of high school, while Mr. and Mrs. Piper have gone to Los Angeles where they will resume their studies at the Bible school of the Four Square denomination.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rowe were recent visitors in Los Angeles. A number from here were in Huntington Beach to hear a program of the Mason Bell Ringers who were appearing at a church in that city.

Mrs. Grace Bowie Rites Are Held

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Funeral services were held at the Church of the Nazarene in Brea at 10 a. m. Thursday for Mrs. Grace B. Bowie, 58, who died unexpectedly from a heart ailment. McAulay and Suters, Fullerton morticians, were in charge of funeral arrangements. Interment followed the services at Loma Vista cemetery.

The Rev. Cecil Ewell, pastor of Brea Church of the Nazarene, and three former pastors officiated. Mrs. Bowie was well known in northern Orange county and had resided in Brea over 20 years.

Family Banquet Held At Park

LIBERTY PARK, Feb. 3.—Complimenting two members of the party, Mills Cowling whose birthday anniversary was Sunday and his son-in-law, Bill Gardner of Oceanview who was celebrating Wednesday, a family group motored to Irvine park for a banquet in the park grounds and pleasant picnic party.

Included in the anniversary celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Mills Cowling, Verle, Ross and Lloyd Cowling, Mrs. Sarah Hodgins, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Borson and sons, Harvey and Larry Borson of Liberty Park; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gardner and daughters, Ann and Carolyn Gardner of Oceanview; Miss Helen Watts of Huntington Beach; Miss Elenore Graham of Wintersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers, cousins of the Cowlings and their daughter, Mrs. Lowry, who the day before the party arrived from her home in Windsor, Ontario, Canada, to visit her parents in Long Beach.

DAUGHTER HONORED

BUENA PARK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Carl Brenner of 838 Fullerton avenue entertained recently at her family home in honor of her daughter, Mrs. E. G. Drew of Los Angeles on the occasion of Mrs. Drew's birthday. Cards were enjoyed in the evening after the family who for the past year have four - course birthday dinner. Guests of the Brenners were Mrs. E. G. Drew, Mrs. Webster and Gates Webster, all of Los Angeles, and Miss Marie Brenner of Buena Park.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menard attended installation of the Woman's Benefit Association in Long Beach Saturday evening where Mrs. Menard remained as an overnight and Sunday guest of a friend, Mrs. Lamb of Glendora at the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Page are the proud grandparents of a grandson whose birth occurred the past week in Los Angeles. The mother of the babe is the former Annie Page.

A cousin of the Frank Johnsons of Cannery street, Mrs. Bessie Coats of Ladora, Iowa, and her daughter, Mrs. Deal of Long Beach, visited in the Johnson home. An old Kansas friend, Levi Stephens, who is wintering in Long Beach with his two daughters, was also a guest in the Johnson home.

Richard Ferguson, Earl Conrad, Miss Joanna Lewis and Miss Marion Neil formed a party to Big Pines, Sunday, where they attended the skiing contests. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Menard attended a dinner Sunday evening at the Concordia club in Anaheim. Lee Bowles, a nephew of Charles Thomas, and Mrs. Bowles were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as they were returning from a trip to Colorado to their home at Chowchilla.

The 135 pupils of Hoover school were given the tubercular test. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glover and family who for the past year have occupied the Dr. Winner residence on Eighteenth street, have moved to Long Beach, their former home. Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hall spent Sunday at Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano.

LAUNDRY IS SOLD TO ANAHEIM FIRM

Frederick Larsen, owner of the Valencia laundry at Anaheim, purchased and took over the management of the Fullerton Sanitary laundry Wednesday. The laundry formerly belonged to A. W. Cleaver.

The Fullerton plant will continue in operation without interruption, Larsen announced. New equipment has been installed in the pressing department including the latest developments in machines for this work, it was announced.

Larsen, a veteran laundry operator, has had the Valencia laundry at Anaheim for the past seven years and with the addition of the Fullerton laundry to his holdings will offer service throughout Orange county and adjacent territory. Routes now go into all Orange county cities and Whittier, Norwalk, Pico and Montebello.

The same policies of service which have marked the work of the Fullerton Sanitary laundry under its former ownership will be continued, it was said.

Thomas and Robert Larsen, sons of the new owner, will be associated with him in operation of the business.

Holding a special meeting yesterday, members of the Association of American Engineers, Santa Ana junior college society, participated in nomination of officers for the second semester. Ted Rischard was elected president of the group by a unanimous ballot. Final election for other officers will be held Wednesday.

Nominated for the post of vice president were Warren Hall and Thompson McNeal; Ralph Dawson, Kenneth TeGrotenhuts, and John Henderson will vie for the recording-secretary position; Harold Richards, Tom Engelman and Jesse Wolfe will compete for the face for business secretary; Harold Tucker, Meyers McCror, Hall, and McNeal were nominated for treasurer; and Bill Twiss, Robert Horseman and Noble Bissop run for publicity secretary.

Plans for a field trip to some nearby engineering project were again discussed by the group. Members set Feb. 15 as a tentative date for such an expedition.

Retiring office-holders are Kelt Tantlinger, president; Rischard, vice president; McNeal, recording secretary; Ted Bernstein, business secretary; Hall, treasurer, and Tucker, publicity secretary.

Murphy and Ida Baker; entertainment, Billye Atkinson, Pearl Backes and Ida Wood; auditing, Margaret Dean, Phoebe Mortimer and Alvina Ober. Thirty-two members were in attendance for the session.

Six Sons Act As Pall-Bearers

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 3.—With six sons as pall-bearers, funeral rites were held in Coronado today for Mrs. Mary Carroll, who died early Wednesday morning in the San Diego suburb from a heart attack. Dr. Vincent P. Carroll, of education, served with his five sons, the Laguna Beach board of Long Beach; Dr. Kevin Carroll, brothers, Christopher and Edward of Kirkville, Mo.; John, of Montebello, and Owen, of Los Angeles. Three daughters also survive: Sister Mary Albert, of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. J. Bennett of Monrovia, and Miss Innes Carroll of Coronado.

Mrs. Carroll, 77, was the widow of Mr. J. P. Carroll, who passed away in 1919. A frequent visitor to Laguna Beach, she leaves a large circle of acquaintances who regret her passing.

COUNTY SCOUTS TO MEET AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—More than 500 Boy Scouts from all over the county, including three Anaheim troops will meet at Valencia union high school, Placentia, on February 11 for an all-county Scout pow-wow.

Awards will be given for each event in a series including first aid, knot tying, signalling, fire by friction, fire by flint and steel. Under the supervision of Coach Dick Ryan of Anaheim, and Stewart N. White of Orange, an afternoon of field meets will be held.

Various troops will play challenge basketball games. Troop No. 71 and No. 72 of Anaheim, led by Robert Harvey and John McKim, will meet. Father James Nevin is leader of the third Anaheim troop, No. 73.

Chairman of various arrangement committees are Earl Denny, Placentia; Charles B. Reed, Placentia; Joe Severns, La Habra; Harold Peabody, La Habra; C. A. Kirk, Orange, and Dr. Samuel Cortez, R. M. Seamons and Earl Williams, all members of the Anaheim district executive committee.

World and particularly in Europe where he has made many trips in recent years. He told his experiences and observations of conditions behind the scenes in Europe. E. B. Bolander, Fullerton Rotaryman, was program chairman.

Many Make Trip
To Mountains

WINTERSBURG, Feb. 3.—Boys of the High school age class of Wintersburg Methodist Episcopal Sunday school of which E. Ray Moore is teacher will accompany Mr. Moore, motoring Saturday to Los Angeles Playground for a day of snow sports.

Included in the class are Donald Harding, Jack Wood, Scott Hoepfner, Bob Bergner, Laddie Letson, Bobbie Heil, Verne Groves, Jimmie Stinson.

Several other parties from this section have enjoyed the snow this week. Among these Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bradbury spent two days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Peterson at the Peterson's Rim of the World cabin; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letson and family were at Forest Home for a day's outing. Mr. Letson taking a number of interesting snow scenes with his motion picture camera.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Slater and Verne Breeding of this place and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stehley of Anaheim were at the Jordan cabin at Falls Vale for two days and were joined there for a day by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bartlett and Miss Bonnelyn Fox of Huntington Beach.

To carve, cut very thin slices across the grain of the meat until the knife touches the bones. Carve several slices, then draw the point of the knife along the edge of the bone to separate the slices from the ribs.

Rolled Rib Roasts

Place the roast cut side up on the platter. Steady the meat by inserting the fork just below the slice that is to be next taken. Cut each of the cords which holds the roast as you reach it in carving. They keep the roast in shape while you are carving it. Loosen the cord after cutting it and let it fall on the platter, taking care that it does not touch the tablecloth.

To Carve a Whole Ham

The center slices of ham are the most desirable and should be served first. The problem is to get the largest number of attractive center slices.

Make the first incision at the large end with the knife just below the aitch or hip joint, and cut down to the bone. Cut parallel slices of even width, until the center section of the ham has been cut. Then run the knife along the bone, releasing the half slices. Steady the ham, while carving, with the fork. For more servings, turn the ham over and carve the other side in like manner.

"YOU WON'T MIND CARVING IF YOU ABIDE BY REGULATIONS"

BY EMILY CONKLIN

A roast, cooked to perfection and garnished artistically, is so appetizing in appearance that it deserves to be brought to the table before it is carved. That, however, brings up the question, which is a bone of contention in some households, "Who is going to carve the roast?"

Perhaps the real question is, "How should it be carved?" It is usually lack of skill in going about this important task which makes it troublesome. You've noticed, perhaps, that a man who carves well is really pleased to assume this responsibility. It is only when he does not know quite how to go about it that he is apt to rebel.

Economy in Correct Carving
But no matter who does the carving, or where it is done, in kitchen or dining room, it is important that it be done skillfully. Meat can be served to better advantage when it is cut in neat, attractive slices. There is economy, too, in knowing how to get the greatest number of delicious servings from a piece of meat.

While practice brings facility in carving as in other tasks, you will succeed best if you understand the underlying principles. It is necessary to know the position of the bones and the direction in which the fibers of the meat run in order to carve properly.

Carve Across the Grain
One of the basic rules of carving is to cut any piece of meat across the grain, in so far as this is possible. This cuts the long fibers and makes the meat more tender.

Another important rule is to keep the same angle of the knife after the first incision is made. This is the way to obtain neat, even slices.

A good carving set is necessary to good carving. The knife should be kept sharp and it must be of good quality if it is to take and keep a keen edge. An 8 or 9 inch carver is recommended for roasts, with fork and steel in proportion. Here are the directions for carving the various familiar cuts so that they are most attractively served and the remnants are left in good condition for another dinner.

Standing Rib Roast of Beef
To carve standing rib roast of beef, have the roast placed on the platter with the ends of the ribs to the left of the carver. The rib ends may be decorated by paper frills, and in that case the carver steadies the roast by grasping the upper rib with his left hand. Otherwise he holds it steady by thrusting the fork into

"SOME UNSEEN FORCE . . ."

Science and invention during the past few decades, have accomplished seemingly miraculous achievements. Men speak into microphones in Los Angeles or San Francisco, New York or London, and their voices leap into space to the four corners of the earth. Giant Clipper ships of the air span the vast Pacific, and within a few months trans-Atlantic passenger service will be inaugurated. A pneumonia patient is rushed to a hospital, burning up with fever, fighting for breath—and a serum injection restores his temperature to normal within a few hours, catapults him back on the road to recovery. And man, with his inquiring mind—with his restless urge to conquest of the unknown—marches on to new accomplishments.

It is an inspiring saga—this modern-day story of scientific achievement. Yet men of science and invention know no vanity. There is too much they have failed to learn—too much to baffle them; too much that is yet unknown. Said Radio Engineer Patrick Chapman of the ill-fated flying boat, Cavalier, what caused the great ship to crash into the Atlantic midway between New York and Bermuda: "It seemed to be some strange unseen force. Just before I sent out the SOS, I saw a dirty patch ahead and I started getting static. It was not normal static, such as you get on your radio. It was a terrific rush; an outburst of static that created quite a charge in the plane."

Some day, perhaps, that strange unseen force will be tamed. But the scientists who learn about it still will be modest—baffled by other things they have failed to comprehend. To any man suddenly imbued with his own importance, his own night, his own power, we suggest a few hours with a scientist. We suggest that he contemplate some of the unseen forces at work about him.

AIMING AT THE "LITTLE FELLOW"

It is reported that there is a growing belief among Congressmen that the revenue received from the income tax must be increased. It also is reported that Treasury officials are extremely dubious as to the possibility of raising any substantial additional amount of revenue by "soaking the rich" further. Big individual incomes already are subject to surtaxes ranging up to 80 per cent, and the point of diminishing return has been reached.

Therefore, it is argued additional income tax must be raised by increasing the levies on persons in the lower and middle tax brackets—and by dropping those brackets so as to reach income levels which are now exempt from direct taxation.

If this comes to pass—and it is obvious, if we continue to spend two dollars for every dollar we take in, that tax revenue must be upped—those citizens who have taken small interest in government fiscal policy, on the theory that the rich must pay the bills, will be due for the rudest sort of an awakening. The fact of the matter is that today the rich could pay but a small part of the taxes required even if their total incomes were confiscated. The great bulk must be paid by ordinary citizens, through indirect, hidden taxes which constitute a part of the cost of everything we buy and use. But relatively few of us seem to realize that—and it is that blindness to fact which has created our almost criminal indifference toward the tax and debt policies of our government.

Reducing income tax exemptions and increasing levies in the middle and lower brackets would bring home hard to almost every citizen the tremendous, personal interest he has in the financial conflict of government. It would show him once and for all that economical, efficient government means more dollars in his pocket—and that wasteful, inefficient government means fewer dollars in his pocket.

We're nearing the cross-roads in fiscal policy now. Either the cost of government will be cut—or taxes will continue to rise. And if the latter happens only the "little fellow" is left to pay the bill—the "big fellow" is being bled white now.

TVA—AND RECOVERY (New York Times)

Without ruling directly on the constitutionality of the TVA law, the Supreme Court has held that the fourteen private companies which challenged the Government's power program had "no right to be free of competition" and no "standing to maintain the suit."

So much for the legal aspects of the question, but once more it is necessary to guard ourselves against confusing the mere legality of a law or policy with its wisdom. The policies of the TVA could be constitutional beyond the possibility of dispute, and still be merely unfair and gravely damaging to the economic welfare of the country. The Supreme Court decision does not mean, therefore, that the question of TVA policy should be allowed to rest where it is. It is of the first importance that it be re-examined.

Our major economic problems have still not been solved. On the contrary, the greatest problem of all, our 10,000,000 unemployed, remains precisely where it was five years ago. The causes contributing to this unemployment are numerous, and we need have no doubt regarding some of the more important. We know that proportionately the heaviest unemployment since the present Administration took office has been in the capital-goods industry. We know that one of the greatest potential contributors to the capital-goods industry is the utilities industry. We know that TVA has not only undermined the private utilities in its neighborhood by subsidized competition but that the Administration has refused to give any definite assurances against the extension of this practice to other territory. We know that the inevitable effect of this policy has been to prevent the

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

WHAT IS LEGALIZED STEALING?

Inasmuch as I have used the expression of "legalized stealing" it might be well to define what is meant. Especially is this true since I believe it is legalized stealing that is destroying the morale of the people, lowering their standard of living and causing millions of people to be out of work. If it continues, our condition will grow worse, instead of better.

Briefly, legalized stealing is when someone consumes something which he himself does not produce or trade for on a free market, or have given to him voluntarily by someone who has produced it or freely exchanged for it, and this consumer has not paid to the government what it cost the government to protect him in the right to consume this property in peace and comfort.

So, anytime any one gets any profit, or reward in the form of wages or salaries, that is more than other people are willing to continuously perform the same service for, under the above interpretation, he would be legally stealing.

Just so any man who consumes something, even if he has produced it or traded for it on a free competitive basis, if he does not pay to the government his proportionate share of what it costs the government to protect him in this consumption in peace and comfort, he is legally stealing.

So any law that protects any group, or any individual, that gives any individual more than others are willing to perform the same service for, is legally stealing. A government employee who is receiving more than others are receiving for like service is legally stealing, or an employee who is protected by intimidation of collective bargaining or by laws and is receiving more than others are willing to perform the same service for, is legally stealing.

It should be the aim of real Democracy and the Philosophy of Christianity to bring about a condition so that everyone receives equal rewards per unit for equal production of the same kind.

ROOSEVELT AND WAR

The supreme egoism and conceit of Roosevelt has been exemplified by the late revelations of the secret arrangements that the President of the United States has made to have our most modern airplanes furnished to the foreign countries to whom he wishes them furnished.

A few years ago, he wanted a neutrality law passed to keep us out of war. At that time, he thought it would be to the advantage of the people he wished to favor. It did not work out that way so he secretly agrees to do something the United States has not done in the past; namely, show partiality to certain nations.

As all students of history know, this can only lead to war. But Roosevelt so believes in his omnipotent wisdom that he does not even think it necessary to take the people into his confidence regarding his secret arrangements of the most dangerous kind.

His very nature is not that of a true Democrat who believes in limiting the power of any individual, but his very nature is that of a Stalin, a Hitler and a Mussolini. America faces a very serious crisis with this kind of leadership when the rest of the world is in such turmoil.

ESTIMATING OUR OWN VALUE

So many of us in attempting to estimate what we should receive for the work we do, invariably think of the accomplishments we have performed, the good decisions we have made which had created quite a lot of wealth. When we think of this, we are inclined to believe that we are not properly rewarded.

Where most of us make the mistake, however, is that we forget to subtract or deduct from this production the many errors in decisions, the many mistakes that we have made that has greatly reduced what would have been produced if decisions were made by others that were more productive than ours would have been.

Therefore, when one is figuring as to what his compensation should be, it is always well to remember that these errors that have retarded production must be deducted from the total production before an accurate estimate can be made of the true value of enterpriser or the worker.

HOOVER'S PEACE SPEECH

Hoover certainly pointed out some very timely causes of war and seemed to realize that economic pressures always have resulted in war.

It is strange, however, that a man who held the position Hoover held cannot see that the high tariff law passed under his administration over the protest of a thousand economists, was one of the things that helped bring on the dangers of war we are now facing.

It is all right for a man to criticize others, but his criticisms will be more effective if he confesses his own errors. We do not hear Mr. Hoover making any confession of his errors, when he was in office, that were very germane to the subjects he is now discussing. Consistency thou art a jewel.

Utilities from making long-term plans on any but the most restricted scale. We know that private investors would consider it foolhardy to risk their money for new construction under such circumstances. We know that their refusal to do so has paralyzed private utility expansion and helped to perpetuate our huge unemployment.

This chain of causation is economic, not legal. The courts do not pass upon the wisdom of governmental policies. The Federal District Court in Chattanooga in its decision a year ago put the matter bluntly when it declared, "If the operation of the TVA is legal, the complainants have no legal rights not to be subjected to such competition even if it curtail or destroy their business." It may not be the concern of the courts if such competition destroys business, but it is certainly the concern of the Administration, of Congress, of business men everywhere, and of the 10,000,000 men and women who still cannot find work. It is particularly their concern if the business of the private utilities is being destroyed in some sections and threatened in the rest, not because this Government competition is more efficient, but because, by the absence of candid bookkeeping or an honest yardstick, the Government is selling power below cost—in other words, because it is selling part of the public an essential service at less than its actual cost and letting the rest of the public foot the bill. Unless private industry is protected from this sort of competition, the stagnation in the capital-goods industries, and the great pool of unemployment caused by it, must continue.

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Most Americans today are groping for some safe and reasonable decent way to keep out of any war that may break in Europe but finding only reasons why it couldn't be done. It isn't that this nation has any illusions about the nobility of Britain and France, whose many perfidies in many parts of the world have been freely discussed, or that Americans owe a duty to prevent Italy from stealing country stolen by France and administered by her with the peculiar French gift for corruption in government-plus the French selfishness. And certainly nobody regards England as the mother country of the United States or feels any affection for the unlovable English people or obligation to help them defend their holdings and their lives.

The grievances and the fears which chill the heart are our own, and the whole nation would welcome any sign that Hitler and Germany, the aggressors, were willing to call it off, reduce armament, let us alone and live in peace. Should war come this country cannot permit Germany or Italy to lick Canada and then impose the sort of peace which the Kaiser's Germany intended to inflict had he won the great war and which the allies instead imposed on Germany and Austria. Germany and Italy would be dangerous neighbors in Bermuda and the West Indies, and with Britain and France out of the way and, perhaps, even turned against us in resentment, the United States would be a set-up. It is one thing to read that the German press ridicules our apprehension and scoffs at the nervousness of a people protected by wide oceans. That does sound reassuring, but it doesn't explain away the probabilities of the future beyond a European war, nor is there comfort in the Fuehrer's well-earned reputation for revising his plans and revoking his promises. He seems to have a mission to hurt, defeat and humiliate the nations that humiliated Germany 20 years ago for the joy of revenge and a plan to take them one by one, if possible.

There is something very mysterious about the Russian phase of this for, always, up to a year or less ago, it was Russia and the Bolsheviks whom Hitler hated, but lately there have been queer signs. Russia under Stalin has imitated Hitlerism, and Hitler himself, step by step, has been forced to adopt for the German people the very form of government which he promised to save them from. Private property enjoys only a nominal existence in Germany, and the capitalist who thinks he owns his plant is merely managing it for the state. Let him try to exercise some of the rights of ownership and he soon learns. They now have little compromise, and there have been hints in the news that a compromise is being considered, but, regardless of that possibility, France, Britain and, in a referred position on the list, this country, the contemptible democracies are the subjects of his hatred.

There are many in this country who minimize the danger and prefer to suspect that President Roosevelt has created a war scare to blur embarrassments on the home political and economic front. That is a painful accusation and one which gives aid and comfort to Hitler, but it deserves a hearing and cannot be dismissed as un-American or unpatriotic. If persons of that mind have information or arguments to dissolve the threats which others think they see in the state of things and the portents, they may save the country from a terrible folly, and one man's reputation or place in history is not worth a war.

Meanwhile, be it observed, the President is making the decisions which commit the country to the job of bottle-holder in the democratic corner, should war come, and almost certainly to active help should things go badly in that corner. The people of the country read and hear about armaments and see the leaders choosing up sides and have not been consulted and have no way of expressing themselves. War they certainly do not want, but nobody has been able to get the floor for them. Perhaps the American people, if consulted, would say that if Britain and France must fight such a war that is just their hard luck, and, after all, only another war in the long series of wars between jostling European countries, and decide to take their chances on the future, even though Hitler and Mussolini, with that one under the belts, might be much tougher then. For God's sake don't anybody blow a bugle now!

Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Research Has Discovered What Foods Disagree With Most People

Immunologic surveys of diet and health indicate that certain foods are much more likely to disagree with healthy people than are others. The vegetables of the cabbage family are among the leaders in this list. Garlic, onions and chocolate are closely associated.

When 1000 healthy persons were questioned as to the foods which disagreed with them, the vast majority stated that cabbage was responsible. Both cooked cabbage and raw cabbage have been blamed. Some of the people said that the cabbage responsible was overcooked.

From a scientific point of view it has been found that the strong flavor of hot cabbage, cauliflower, and turnips is probably due to the setting free of sulphur compounds by the ferments. Long cooking of vegetables in the cabbage family tends to develop disagreeable flavors and odors, including also the development of an increased acidity.

When the vegetables are cooked from the first in cold or tepid water, the plant enzymes that are present will decompose the sulphur compounds.

If the vegetables are placed in boiling water in an uncovered kettle and cooked for the shortest possible time to produce tenderness, these effects do not occur.

Investigators in the Division of Food and Nutrition of Ohio State University tested the effects of cauliflower and cabbages on 20 different people and found that 95 per cent were affected by the various methods of preparing cabbage and cauliflower.

Vegetables cooked for an hour and a half were the worst offenders in causing digestive disturbances and thereafter in order came raw cauliflower, cabbage cooked 45 minutes, raw and coarsely shredded cabbage, next cauliflower cooked for 45 minutes, next shredded cabbage. Only 5 per cent of people were affected by vegetables cooked only until they became tender.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Martin Dies and Democratic House leaders are playing a cagy game of hide and seek around his un-American committee.

The floppy-haired Texan wants $150,000 appropriated to continue his committee, but Democratic chiefs are distinctly sour on the idea. They are convinced Dies has grandiose political ambitions and is more interested in smearing New Dealers to advance himself than in exposing Nazi and Communist activities.

Dies, however, has an ace up his sleeve in a secret promise from Republicans that they will vote as a bloc for his committee. This gives him a powerful club to hold over the heads of the Democratic leaders, and they have been rattling their brains for a way to out-manuever him.

They know they can't shelve him completely. So they have been working on a plan to give him a new lease of life—but only for a short time, preferably for the duration of this congressional session. Their argument is that this would give the committee time to offer remedial legislation to the House before adjournment.

But that is exactly what Dies does not want.

He doesn't want to run a show in competition with the rest of Congress. He wants to resume hearings next summer when he will have the whole stage to himself. So he is working furiously behind the scenes to stall appropriations for his committee until near the end of the session, when he will jam his proposal through in the closing rush.

Wallis and Edward

State Department officials read with alarm a news story from Hollywood the other day stating that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are coming to the movie capital in March.

Reason for the alarm was that the Department is already up to its neck in preparations for the King and Queen of England, together with a swarm of lesser royalty and nobility.

The news dispatch said that a French nobleman, Count Ambrose Du Bek, social secretary to the Duke and Duchess, was moving about in Hollywood incognito, under the name "Mr. Luck," making arrangements for the royal visit.

State Department hopes "Mr. Luck" is an impostor, but they don't quite dare inquire.

Spanish Lives

Terrific as the Spanish death toll was before and after the fall of Barcelona, it would have been greater had it not been for the presence of American ambulance units, doctors and nurses. Almost no one knows it, but the one man responsible for their presence is Ernest Cuneo, an unobtrusive New Deal adviser who forced the State Department to issue American passports for Spain.

Originally Secretary Hull's young men took a flat stand that they would permit no American doctors, nurses or even medical supplies to reach Spain. This, of course, was chiefly a blow against the Loyalists, since Mussolini and Hitler were looking out for Franco's needs.

But the career boys reckoned without Cuneo. Acting entirely on his own, he drew up an injunction against Cordell Hull to be served unless he issued passports to doctors and nurses. He also threatened to seek indictment of transportation companies if they refused to ship medical supplies.

method available is used to sell it. It is sold F.O.B. Los Angeles, private sales and auction. By efficient organization and advertising, our selling agency has increased its sales from 3000 cars, forty-five years ago to 75,000 cars today; with the possibility of almost 50 per cent more this year. The Exchange is forty-five years old and handles over 75 per cent of the fruit of California.

Sunkist oranges demand a premium wherever they are. We growers of the Exchange own our shock mills; we have a service department, laboratories, research department, supply company, by-products plants, traffic department, all of which are continually guarding our interest. We also have our own Sunkist building to which those who through lack of information refer to as the monument to our folly, and which I consider a very clever business transaction on the part of our directors for this reason. The lease had expired on the quarters which the Exchange was renting and the owners were increasing the rent so our directors took advantage of the opportunity to borrow Federal funds to erect a building that would ultimately be owned by us growers. This loan is to be repaid in 20 years and the payments are exactly what we would be paying for rent. Do you think that was good business?

To secure the keenest and most brilliant minds for the operation of our organization costs us 50c an acre. All salaries including advertising and dealer's service cost 4c per packed box. Things which cannot be done by a single grower can be done at small cost when growers get together. The Exchange was born in chaos and reared in adversity, it prevailed in the past and it will prevail in the future.

So now we investigate the auction. A few growers feel the auction is the cause of lower returns. The auction operated in Los Angeles is owned by the Exchange; it has 200 buyers of record. These 200 buyers are potential salesmen, for 70 per cent of them have wholesale markets and 30 per cent are wholesale truckers. They supply

The injunction was never served. Cuneo convinced Hull that any refusal to restrict the countries for which passports are valid was contrary to the Bill of Rights. So Mr. Hull executed one of the quickest right-about-faces in recent State Department history.

Cuneo kept in the background, said nothing about his efforts. But his long legal brain probably was responsible for many lives being saved before and after Barcelona.

On Pennsylvania Avenue

The names of 36 prominent persons are yet unrevealed as smugglers in the customs clean-up which started with the George Burns-Jack Benny case. . . . Diplomats sent back to Europe in considerable detail the Walter Winchell revelation on Lindbergh's air survey following his talk with Ambassador Joe Kennedy. . . . Harry Hopkins isn't advertising it, but one reason why he went through his Senate confirmation with such flying colors was his brain trust. They were Max Gardner, astute ex-Governor of North Carolina; Jesse Jones, RFC chairman; and Congressman Lindsay Warren of North Carolina. Warren and Gardner were picked because of their influence with North Carolina's Senator Bailey, chairman of the committee and personal enemy of Hopkins'. This brain trust went over all the Committee's possible questions in advance, worked out all the probable answers.

Senatorial Gratitude

F. D. Roosevelt nearly split the Democratic Party last summer in an attempt to oust certain Senators who had opposed him. But the Senate vote on WPA appropriations the other day showed that while Roosevelt was attempting to purge the Senate, some of his associates were admitting new Senatorial enemies.

Latest of these is Scott Lucas, who was elected Senator from Illinois last year with the secret help of Secretary Wallace.

It was Wallace who wrote a letter to Governor Horner of Illinois okaying Lucas, then a Congressman, as Administration candidate for the Senate. Horner at that time was looking round for a "down-state" candidate. Most New Dealers favored Kent Keller, hard-working, tried and trusted Congressman from southern Illinois. But Wallace swung Horner to Lucas.

Even before he was nominated, however, New Dealers got an indication that Lucas was not an Old Dealer. This occurred during the Reorganization Bill fight, when word was sent Representative Lucas to be on hand to vote in this "bitter test of Roosevelt strength."

Lucas replied that he was paired in favor of the bill. But when the vote came, the White House discovered that he wasn't. Nevertheless the Administration gave 100 per cent support to Lucas in the election. He would have been defeated had it not been for the elly-Nash Democratic machine in Chicago, which jumped into the breach when the vote was running heavily against Lucas in Southern Illinois.

Later Kelly and Nash got their reward. Because of heavy unemployment in Chicago the two Democratic bosses were vitally interested in WPA funds, wanted no cut in the appropriation.

But in the final test on slash-WPA funds, Senator Lucas, the man they elected, voted against them.

ply fruit to between four and five thousand retail stores. Safeway buys on this auction for 575 stores, Three Star Produce buys for 70 fruit stands. This auction handles 90 per cent of the lemons, 75 per cent of the oranges and 30 per cent of the grapefruit sold in this area. Fifty-six of our employees handled this enormous volume of business. This market is located between Seventh and Eighth on Alameda street, Los Angeles. As an exchange grower and in fairness to yourself you don't you go and see this auction?

A fruit auction is not a distress sale. Competitive bidding has a tendency to raise prices to the highest level. Auction companies ordinarily charge 2 per cent commission but as they have a contract with the Exchange they charge us 1 1/2 per cent commission and guarantee us our money, on an eastern auction where twenty-five or thirty commodities are being sold, it concentrates the entire buying power of the auction on a single commodity at one time. The Federal Trade Commission says, "auction eliminated duplication, adjusts prices more nearly to supply and demand, and buyers can buy with assurance."

Mr. Sherrod answering your statement regarding the auction market setting the prices on our fruit, may I refer you to page 589, lines 14, 15, 16 and 17 in the Federal Trade Commissions Report. "As the merchandise of a particular receiver is being sold he occupies a seat at the auction stand and has the privilege of withdrawing the goods if the price offered is not satisfactory, which in effect, establishes a starting or minimum price."

Regarding your suggestion Mr. Sherrod, about using diesel trucks, evidently you haven't a very clear picture of the transportation problem. First we have inadequate roads, refrigeration of fruit is to be considered, tax on trucks in some states is unreasonably high, the weather is not like California, and then if fruit isn't sold on delivery what about diverting? Then there is the insufficient back haul. Independent truck companies have tried to

NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 3.—Newport Circle of the Woman's Aid of Christ Church by the Sea will meet February 8 at the home of Mrs. Frank Ellsworth. Plans will be made for a donation party as a March ways and means project.

Mrs. William A. Knapp and young son are doing nicely at St. Joseph hospital where the child was born January 25.

Standard Bearers of Christ Church By the Sea will be guests February 7 of Norma Kelsey at the family home, 110 East Bay avenue, Balboa.

Gilman Brookings, trumpeter; of Newport Beach was one of the group participating in the festival of sacred music Sunday evening at the Santa Ana First Presbyterian church.

"Partnership With God", will be the topic of the midweek service at Christ Church. By the Sea as announced by the Rev. William R. Hessel. A number of young people from the church are also planning to attend the annual Epworth League convention February 3, 4 and 5 at the First Methodist Episcopal church of Fullerton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Moore of 1221 West Central avenue had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Moore's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hosper of Pasadena.

HOLD EVERYTHING!

"Annie, bring me the bicarbonate, quick! It's that gas on my stomach again."

FRANCES WILLARD

In Safety Drive

Sponsored by the Santa Ana police department, the city safety contest is proving a huge success at Willard, it was disclosed today by Mrs. Margaret Hamill, attendance clerk, who has given out 2500 cards to Willard students. "The purpose of this contest is to impress on the mind of the driver that he must learn to safely manipulate his vehicle, and keep his mind on the business at hand," Lieutenant B. A. Hershey, of the Santa Ana police department, declared.

Team Announced

The all-star volleyball team made up of outstanding varsity members, has recently been announced by Miss Willys Anderson, girls' athletic instructor. Janet Coffing, Patricia Paul, Marilyn Bear, Marjorie Garnett, Kathleen Adams, Dorothy Brush, Helen Carpenter, Joy Harris, Verjean McCarthy, Lena Noche, Beatrice Lopez, Barbara McFadden, and Maxine Hill make up the team.

"There are no age requirements for the All-Star team," Miss Anderson remarked. "Any girl who we see is outstanding in all sports is eligible, seventh and eighth graders included, providing they turn out after school," she concluded.

New Awards Made

New kind of volleyball awards are being given out to the varsity members in the shape of shields as before, but there is a decided change in make, according to Miss Willys Anderson, girls' athletic instructor. Formerly the girls have had to order the shields two weeks early, but this year, due to Miss Anderson and Miss Alice Lamb, eighth grade athletic director, the shields may be obtained at the time they are purchased.

Sea Fan Members

Members of the Sea Fan club, accompanied by Lowell Schmid, sponsor, and Mrs. Frances Nall, in a trip to Laguna Beach, gathered several interesting specimens of common sea life for the aquarium in the Willard library, where crabs, sea hares, sea urchins, anemone, fish, snails and a peculiar flat worm are now exhibited. The Sea Fans have also made an exhibit of preserved specimens, which will be given to the science department for further use when they have finished with them. Maxine Hillyard, Janet McFadden, Adele Lewis, Frances Nall, Bernadine Curran, Harold Yost and Ed Scott, were the members who made the trip.

Watson Named Editor

Ancle Watson, popular ninth grader, who assisted Bonnie Lewis, "Echo" art editor last semester, has recently been appointed to fill her place by Mrs. Vera Allen, journalism director. Marion Zaket, former personal editor, is acting as news editor, the staff position held by Beth Thorndike who will act as feature editor this semester. Barbara Senn is taking the place of Jean Hunter as assistant news editor. Rosemary Randall, who served last semester as club editor, is now combining the duties of personal and faculty editors, the latter position being left vacant by Doris Luke. Mary Henderson, in addition to her regular position as home room editor, is also serving as club editor.

Racey Is President

Max Racey will take over the office of president of the commissioners for the remainder of the year, presiding over six fellow commissioners and the student body as a whole. Mrs. Grace Lund and Miss Mary Jane Steel, student government advisers, announced today. Janet McFadden will continue as girls' safety captain, with Don Wilson replacing David Hearle as boys' safety captain.

School scholarship and popular vote were the deciding factors in the determining of the other student government members; the list of commissioners including Janet Coffing, Dona Jean Buck, David Hearle, and Ben Schlegel. The safeties who are maintaining order under Janet are Jean Hunter, Ruth Kadowaki, Bonnie Lewis, Peggy Paul, Maxine Hillyard, Dona Tedrow, Ruth Hutchinson, Mettie Mae Barnes, Mary Alice Ecklund, Ramona Lara, Nellie Madrigal and Betty Platt. Boy safeties, under the supervision of Don, in-

"Echo" Staff Fete

Members of the "Echo" staff and their guests had a gala anniversary party at the home of Laird Iiams, 1612 N. Broadway, Monday night when dancing and games featured the evening's entertainment.

Music was furnished by Miss Frances Iiams' turntable and Laird's radio. David Johnson, Bonnie Lewis, Beverly Harris, Doris Luke and Laird composed the committee in charge of the party, while Mrs. Vera Allen acted as chaperone. Guests included Jean Mosher, Louise Kenyon, Janet McFadden, Janet Coffing, Margaret Lockett, Marjorie Adams, Jim Butler, Raymond Winters, Ben Schlegel, Jack Lieberman, Kenneth Lloyd, Francis Thornburgh, Max Racey, Harold Yost, and Arthur Chase.

Typists Win

Lupe Bracamontes and Marjorie Boardman, advanced typing students, have recently been awarded silver pins and Nellie Madrigal and Evelyn Burges, bronze pins for their outstanding work in typing. Mrs. Louise Wright and Mrs. Vivian Meeks, typing instructors, made known today.

Advanced students who have received large certificates are: Rosemary Anderson, Glen Chapman, Ferle Morrison and Rosa Rios. Small certificates have been awarded to Verjeane McCarthy, Neawana Seargeant, Ignacio Castro, Sid Geck, David Johnson, Juanita Ojeda, Gabriele Scheerlinck, Marion Francis, Maryjean Galbraith, Jacqueline Gehrig and Betty Jean Sheeley. Beginning students receiving large certificates include Elenore Baessler, Arlene Bradley, Barbara Brown, Beth Bryan, Jean Francis, Jean Heinley, Winston Hill and Dwight Schroeder.

Homeroom Changes Effective Two new courses, including the H-8 journalism class, instructed by Mrs. Vera Allen, and a class in remedial reading for the seventh grade, taught by Miss Ruth Fitz, several home-room changes and a new faculty member are among the changes slated for this semester, according to Lyle B. Mitchell, Willard principal. Miss Fanny Steel, who was formerly in charge of home-room 207; Mrs. Veda Mashmeyer, who has been conducting home-room 210; Mrs. Verra Allen, of home-room 212, and Mrs. M. L. Scott, home-room 109, are being relieved of home-rooms this semester. Their duties have been taken over by Mrs. Grace Lund, Miss Mary Schott, Miss Alberta Green and E. D. Froeschle.

End First Round

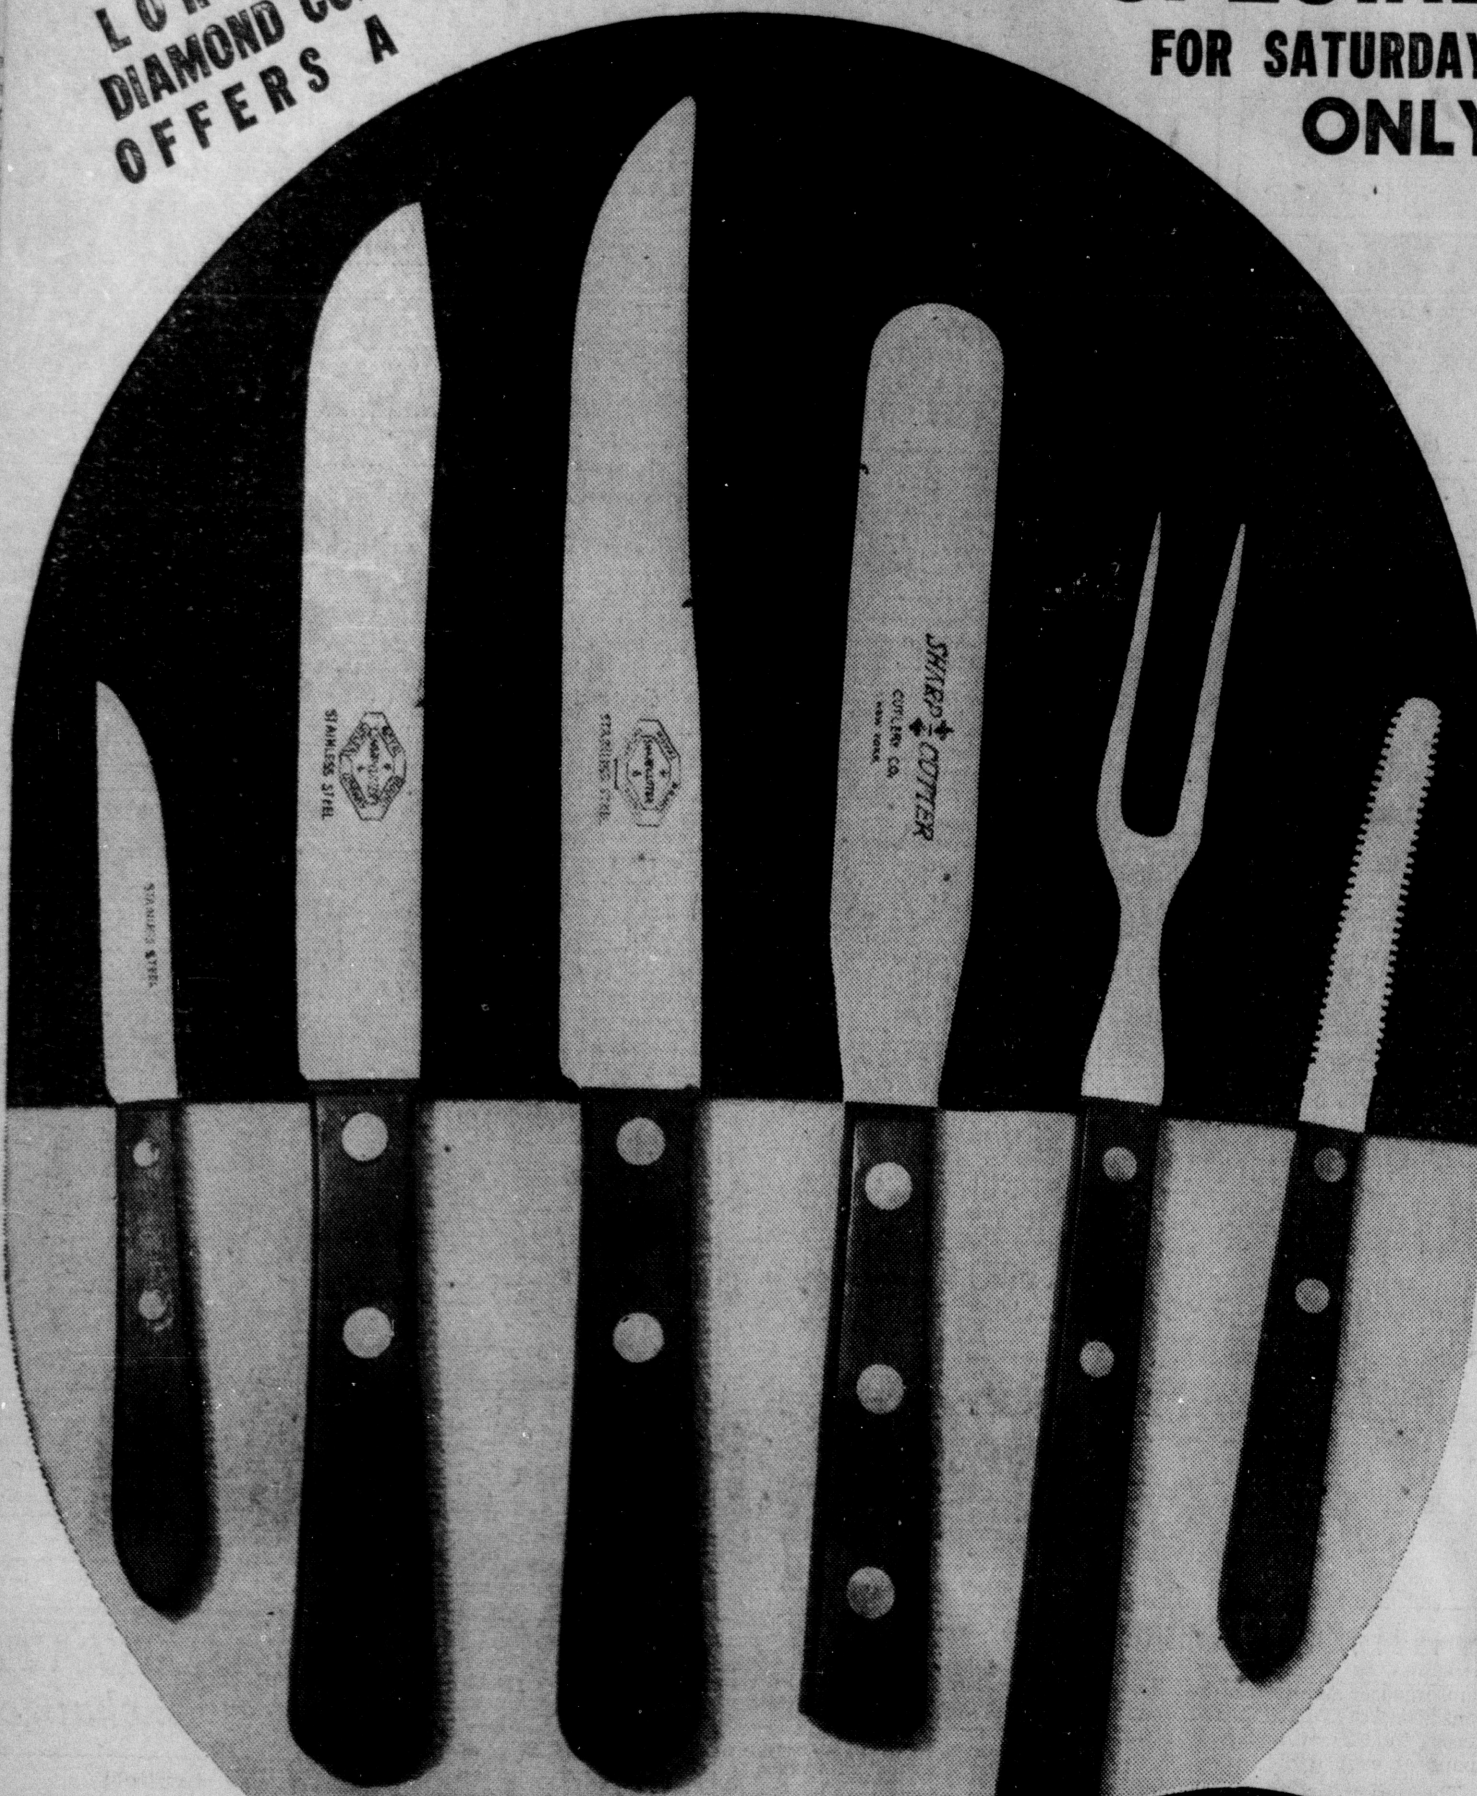

The first round of the mixed doubles tournament was completed recently, with all of the winners recorded on the bulletin boards of both the boys' and girls' P. E. buildings. This tournament has had a very successful turnout, and, naturally, half of the teams have been eliminated," Coach Lund remarked. The winners are Scott-Kenyon over Morris-Brush; Yost-Hillyard over Lloyd-Platt; Bernstein - Kuyzin over Jacobs - Ferrell; Arnold-Boardman over Chase - Mendhall; Dixon-Winkles over Anderson-McFadden and Davis-Luke over Davis-Stocker. Schlegel-Revill over Stienmets-Campbell, Tucker-Coffing over Willingham-Lewis; Jones-Paul over Riagan-Moffett; Latham-Hillyard over Winters-Brown; Marley-Hunter over Wright-Gerrel and Mills-Isler by.

TRANSIENT PERMANENCY FARMERSVILLE, Cal. (UP)—The fact that the Farm Security Administration has begun building steel houses here for migrants is taken as indication that the Administration believes the transient problem will be a permanent one in California. All other transient camps to date have been composed only of tent houses.

Ornithologists have determined that 800 distinct species, with 1200 sub-species, of birds exist today.
